A RADICAL COLLAPSE

Herr Richter's Party Appears to Have Failed to Carry a Single Constituency in Germany.The Social Democrats Increase Their Strength and the Anti-Semites Have Also Made Gains.Result of the Election as to Victory or Defeat for the Government Still Unsettled.

BERLIN, June 17.—Reports from all parts of the empire continue to give evidence of the collapse of Eugene Richter's Radical party. The Social Democrats have secured five seats, one of them won from the National Liberals, and are likely to enter the next reichstag with their delegation increased from 10 to 15. At 6 o'clock this morning, however, not a dispatch had been received to indicate that the Richterites had carried a constituency on the first ballot.

This failure of the Richterites is due partly to the fact that the Radicals who deserted Richter to make a government campaign under the banner of the Radical Union, were the cream of the old party. Excepting Virchow, hardly a conspicuous deputy stood by Richter after the dissolution of the reichstag. Hinz Barth, editor of the National, deserted at once to the government. The Richterites, who constituted two-thirds of the parliamentary party of sixty-seven, will bring probably fewer than twenty-five members into the next reichstag. This state of affairs is distinctly favorable to the government, as the loss of the Radical opposition is expected to more than counterbalance the gains of the Social Democratic opposition.

The anti-Semites are now believed to be in a way to secure twelve seats. Anti-semitism and Bismarck, the most bitter members of the last parliamentary group, have already been returned. The aggregate vote of the anti-Semites has increased amazingly since 1890. The National Liberals, according to the reports received up to 6 o'clock this morning, are likely to return to Berlin with approximately their old constituency of 100. The Opposition Clericals under Dr. Lieber have retained virtually all their old constituencies as far as can be ascertained.

The government Clerical-Agrarian movement under Freiherr von Schollemer-Alst and Freiherr von Hüneke has shown no evidences of success. The Conservatives and Free Conservatives, as was expected, are suffering no losses.

In general the advantages gained by the government are to be found in the prospect that some ten Radical Unionists, who have voted against the army bill and who favor it, have good prospects of sitting in the next reichstag, and the anti-Semitic representation, partially favorable to the government, bids fair to be greatly reduced.

However, the question whether the government won or lost by the dissolution cannot yet be answered positively. The present returns from constituencies show that the Conservatives and Free Conservatives have secured 27 seats; Clericals, 27; Social Democrats, 23; National Liberals, 2.

A CONSERVATIVE VICTORY.

A Seat Gained From the Gladstonians in a By-Election.

LONDON, June 17.—The seat for Lintlogan in the house of commons previously held by Peter McLagan having become vacant, a writ was issued for a new election to be held Thursday. The Conservatives nominated Capt. Thomas Hope, who contested the district at the last election against Mr. McLagan, and who was defeated by a majority of 161 votes.

The Gladstonians nominated Alexander Currie, who was beaten by Sir Donald Currie, Liberal Unionist, in the West division of Perthshire, at the general election in July last. The result of the balloting was a majority of 169 for the Conservative candidate, the voting being: Hope, 224; Currie, 307. The victory of Capt. Hope, of course, reduces the government majority in the house of commons. Mr. McLagan, the previous incumbent of the seat, was an active supporter of Mr. Gladstone.

THE TONAWANDA TROUBLE.

Lumber Shovers On Strike, and Soldiers Preserving Order.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., June 17.—It begins to look as if the two Tonawandas will be upset by the lumber shovers trouble all summer. Today the residents of North Tonawanda are watching the strange sights of soldiers marching through the streets with gleaming muskets and wondering what the knot of sullen strikers and locked out union lumber shovers will do, if anything.

The Twenty-fifth separate company of Tonawanda, and the Forty-second company of Niagara Falls, guarded the island all night and are doing picket duty today. Up to noon today there has been no disturbance and there is not likely to be any until the lumber dealers begin importing new men.

Typhoid at Ishpeming.

ISHPEMING, Mich., June 17.—This village is suffering the worst epidemic of typhoid fever ever known to Michigan. Four hundred cases are reported and the public buildings are turned into hospitals. Thirty to fifty new cases daily and fifty to sixty deaths a week are reported.

The Cowboy Races.

STUART, Neb., June 17.—Doc Middleton and two of the other cowboy racers from Chadron to the World's fair passed here at 8 a. m. It is 221 miles by rail from Chadron to this town.

COLLISION OF FREIGHTS.

A Fireman Killed and Two Men Seriously Injured.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—In a collision of freight trains on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad 38 miles east of Wheeling, W. Va., at an early hour this morning Fireman Fisher, of engine 1208 was killed and Engineer Gebbing badly injured. Brakeman Adlesberger was fatally injured and another brakeman—name unknown—was slightly injured.

The accident was caused by freight train No. 89 overlooking signals at Floyd's station. This train met the first section of No. 92 near Belton. Both engines and several cars were badly wrecked.

IN FAVOR OF OPEN SUNDAYS.

The Court of Appeals Decides Unanimously for the Directory.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The court of appeals has unanimously decided in favor of open Sundays at the World's fair.

The court holds that the local directory is in full control and the government has no standing.

THE JUDGE HAD NERVE.

Robbers Hold up a Northern Pacific Train, But Judge Leach, of Minneapolis, Stopped Them.

FARGO, N. D., June 17.—Robbers got on the Northern Pacific train this morning near Wadena and went partially through one of the sleepers. The porter was quite badly clubbed about the head and told to keep still. Three passengers were awakened and robbed of $10 and three gold watches.

When Judge Leach, of Minneapolis, was reached he was awakened from sound sleep and told to give up his money and watch pretty d—d quick. Only half awake, he replied: "I don't want anything to do with you; get out of here you d—d robber."

The fellow had his gun at the judge's head, but he got up and the fellow backed down the aisle, followed by the judge. Some one pulled the bell rope and the man jumped off. It is thought there were two or three men in the gang. They were partially masked. Judge Leach said if he had been fully awake, he would never have dared to do what he attempted to do, as he was unarmed.

AS MINISTER TO HAWAII.

Proctor Knott Has Been Offered Minister Blount's Place and Will Probably Decide to Accept.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—[Special to The Herald]—Proctor Knott of Kentucky, the man who made Duluth famous by his speech in congress a few years ago, has been tendered an appointment as minister to Hawaii to succeed Mr. Blount. Governor Knott has been in Washington for two or three days and has had several conferences with the president about acceptance of this mission. Kentuckians here think that he will finally decide to accept the place.

RUN DOWN AND KILLED.

A Cowboy Commits One of the Most Startling Crimes Ever Known in North Dakota.

ROLLA, N. D., June 17.—Dunseith, in the western part of Rollete county, was the scene yesterday of one of the most startling crimes ever committed in North Dakota. An unknown cowboy entered the Turtle Mountain bank, held up Cashier Tucker and robbed the bank of $100.

Keeping Tucker under cover of a revolver, he got out of the bank and rode up into the mountains here. He returned soon after, went to the store of Jacob Kuchever and asked a clerk, James McKee, for a watch. McKee turned to the watch and was shot in the back. He is not expected to live. By this time a number of men gathered to capture the villain.

Mayor Mackee shot the fellow's horse and he was then run down and killed by the determined citizens. Coroner Cowen and Sheriff McLean were summoned to the watch to hold an inquest. Great excitement prevails.

UNION AND NON-UNION ROW.

A Lively Scene at Augustin Daly's New Theater in London.

LONDON, June 17.—A rather lively affair occurred today at the theater built in this city for Augustin Daly. The structure is almost completed and it is Mr. Daly's intention to open the theater June 27. The contractor in charge of certain of the decorations employed a number of men who did not belong to a union to decorate the boudoir intended for the use of Miss Ada Kellan. The fact these men were non-unionists excited the ire of the unionists employed about the theater and they decided to strike unless the non-unionists were discharged.

The blacklegs were not discharged and today the unionists refused to work. Furthermore, they attempted to drive the non-unionists from the building, but in this they were unsuccessful and were themselves ejected. The strike will not cause any delay in opening the theater on the day set by Mr. Daly.

A Village Burning.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 17.—Dundas village in Susquehanna county, six miles from Carbondale, is on fire and having no means of fighting the flames, the entire place is threatened with destruction.

The fire broke out in James Stocum's house adjoining the Methodist church. Both of these structures were rapidly destroyed and the wind carried the blazing embers to other buildings. Two stores and a dwelling have also been burned.

A FIRE AT THE FAIR

Excitement Caused by a Piece of Paper and an Empty Sack Catching Fire This Morning.

A Columbian Guard, Instead of Stamping Out the Fire, Summoned the Whole Fire Department.Coney Island Visited by a Bad Fire in Which a Volunteer Fireman Lost His Life.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 17.—A piece of paper and part of an empty sack were ignited probably by a discarded cigar under the railroad in the rear of machinery hall this morning producing a blaze 13 inches square. One of the Columbian guards, without attempting to put his foot on the burning bit, rushed upon the nearest fire alarm box and rang for the assistance of the fire department.

Hose reels, patrol wagons, fire engines, hook and ladder trucks and the chemical engines were soon flying past the scattering visitors to the scene of the supposed conflagration. There was a rush of people in the same direction. The guards at the scene of the fire tried to keep the crowds back but were inefficient and the people came and went at their will.

When the firemen arrived and prepared for business, they discovered that a man who was not a Columbian guard had shown rare presence of mind in getting a can of water and thoroughly wetting the piece of paper and section of the sack. There was great excitement, however, as there always is on an occasion of this kind, and the fire department made a splendid showing, even if the firemen were disgusted.

FIRE AT CONEY ISLAND.

A Volunteer Fireman Burned to Death and Others Scared.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., June 17.—This resort was visited by another disastrous fire at an early hour this morning, resulting in the destruction of a large amount of property, the burning to death of John Madden, a volunteer fireman, and the slight burning of several other brave lads.

Judge Sutherland, who was aiding the firemen in their endeavors to put out the flames, had his head burned. In fact, the fire was so hot that many of the firemen were more or less scorched and were forced to keep a good distance away from the fire.

The flames were discovered at 2:15 o'clock this morning in Frichman's bakery, a three-story frame building, located between Overton Place and Twelfth street. Before the fire was under control, the whole block was swept away. The total loss is about $40,000; insurance light.

THE TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.

Louisville Chosen as the Next Place of Meeting.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The International Typographical union yesterday elected the following delegates to the Federation of Labor: Delegates Miller, of Boston; Dorsey, of Dallas, and Drummond, of Fort Wayne, W. H. Sawyer, of Toledo, was unanimously re-elected as agent of the Childs-Drexel home. The vacancy on the board of trustees of the Childs-Drexel home, caused by the expiration of the term of Delegate Woodward, of Atlanta, was filled by the selection of Delegate Colby, of Colorado Springs, Col. H. W. Bennett, of St. Paul, was elected organizer for the new tenth district, which goes into effect next November.

The next business was to select the place for the next meeting. Washington, Louisville and San Francisco were presented and a vote being taken Louisville was voted by a vote of 64 to San Francisco's 62 and Washington's 55. The struggle between the cities was renewed in the afternoon, and Louisville was finally chosen by a vote of 107 to 48 for San Francisco, Washington having dropped out. Five thousand dollars was voted for the improvement of the Childs-Drexel home.

The Troops Have Reached Leech Lake Reservation.

PARK RAPIDS, Minn., June 17.—Information reaches here that Company D, Third Infantry, United States Army, reached Leech Lake yesterday afternoon and is now in full possession of the agency. Dr. Walker had been in imminent danger for the past twenty-four hours because the Indians were drinking and had threatened to burn the agency overseer's house.

About fifty of the recalcitrants fled to the north and threaten to unite with other Chippewas and make serious trouble for the whites along the edge of the reservation. All is reported quiet at the agency now, but the troops will probably remain several days awaiting developments. A portion of the command may move to the southward to quell another Indian trouble.

Sent a Defamatory Letter.

ELROW LAKE, Minn., June 17.—O. O. Ostroff, of this place, was arrested yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Gardner on the charge of sending a defamatory letter through the mails to a Miss Kuntz. He was taken toergus Falls for a hearing before United States Commissioner Cortis.

Killed Instantly.
NORTHFIELD, Minn., June 17.—Yesterday forenoon, while jumping on a moving train the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad, Eddie Parker, aged 14 years, was thrown between the cars and killed. The wheels passed over his chest, killing him instantly.

WAS STILL IN OFFICE

A Republican Who Still Holds a Position at Washington Under the Democratic Administration.

He is Not Protected by Civil Service Rules and Does Not Want to Be.

Blount Has Not Resigned as Minister to Hawaii But Would Like to Be Relieved.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—[Special to The Herald.]—There is a queer sort of an individual in the Capital City. He is unique at this time for the reason that he is a Republican and is still holding office under this Democratic administration, and moreover is not ashamed to announce to all comers that he is a Republican and does not care a continental who is aware of that fact. This official is no less a person than Mr. Wilson, deputy collector of the internal revenue service of the treasury department. Of West Virginia Representative Alderson, of the other Virginia, called at the internal revenue service rooms in the treasury building and found Commissioner Miller out of town. He inquired who was in charge and was referred to Mr. Wilson who was then acting commissioner. Mr. Alderson inquired of Mr. Wilson who long he had been in office.

"About four years," replied Mr. Wilson.

"What are your politics?" inquired Mr. Alderson.

"I am a Republican," said Mr. Wilson emphatically.

"Shake," said Mr. Alderson warmly, though he is a straight West Virginia Democrat. "You are the first Republican in office I have seen since the election."

After shaking hands Mr. Alderson inquired:

"Are you under the civil service rules, Mr. Wilson?"

"No, sir; I am not, and do not want to be," replied Mr. Wilson.

"Shake again," exclaimed the West Virginia congressman.

They shook again.

"Mr. Wilson," said the gentleman who witnessed the scene, "you are not like the Republican office-holder who, during President Cleveland's first term, was asked by a friend if he was still in the office, and who replied, 'yes, and I—d—d still at that.'"

Whether or not Mr. Blount has resigned his new position as minister instead of commissioner to Hawaii cannot be definitely determined here.

The probabilities seem strongly to favor the assumption that he has not resigned though it is thought quite likely he may have expressed a wish to be relieved at an early day of a position which he did not seek and is understood to be somewhat irksome to him.

The department still carries Mr. Blount's name on the register and refuses to admit that he has resigned.

Mr. Hastings, secretary of the Hawaiian legation, has arrived in Washington direct from San Francisco, having left Honolulu June 1. He immediately reported to the department.

Mr. Hastings where the two gentlemen had a long conference over matters in which they are interested.

Mr. Hastings will shortly be left in charge of the legation for Mr. Thurston will go to Chicago to look after the Hawaiian exhibit at the exposition.

"Another steamer from Japan," said Mr. Hastings today, "was expected to touch at Honolulu on the 10th and will soon be in San Francisco bearing the most recent developments of the annexation sentiment is concerned, I can only say that it is growing daily."

There never has been any intention on the part of Mr. Blount to resign as a resigner or minister to restore the royalists to power. We believe that when Mr. Blount submits his report it will be found to coincide with the views of those who have the welfare of the island at heart. The provisional government has the confidence of the people."

Fine Concert by the Torbett Company at the Norwegian Lutheran Church Last Evening.

Miss Torbett, the Violinist, Won the Audience and the Lutheran Sextet Was Fine.

Fourth Anniversary of the Dedication of the Methodist Church to be Celebrated Tomorrow.

The concert given at the Norwegian Lutheran church last evening by the Torbett company was well attended and proved to be a musical performance of much merit. Miss Ollie Torbett, the young violinist, captured the favor of the audience in her first number, and when she kindly responded with the touching melody of the "Swanee River" with sympathetic execution and faultless style, she met a perfect ovation. The selections given by the Lutheran sextet were rendered with admirable tone and finished cultivation of voice, and met with repeated and hearty applause. As piano soloist and accompanist Mr. Isidore Moquist fully sustained his part in the excellence of the program.

The four hundred anniversary of the dedication of West Duluth Methodist Episcopal church will be observed with fitting exercises next Thursday and Friday evenings and Sunday. Thursday the reports of the different departments will be presented. Friday addresses will be delivered by Revs. Shaanon, Bible and Thompson. Dr. Forbes will preach an appropriate sermon on Sunday.

Mr. Hoyt wishes us to say that he has customers for lots in blocks 4 or 6, Bay View, First division; also for one or two lots in block 49, Second division, so if you desire to sell any of these it would be well to send him a description together with price and terms.

A Successful Industry.
The West Duluth Steam laundry has been nicely refitted, supplied with water and its facilities largely increased by the introduction of the latest improved machinery. The plant is now one of the best of its kind at the head of the lakes and is turning out a class of work which cannot be excelled by any competitor. From fifteen to eighteen hands are now employed and two wagons are required to collect and deliver the washing to the people of West Duluth and vicinity. Under the present management this industry is rapidly forging to the front and is becoming one of the important interests of the town. Home institutions will flourish when they are patronized by the people as seen by the success of this enterprise.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of cholera. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25-cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. For sale by druggists.

Duluth's Prosperity.

There is nothing the matter with Duluth. Certainly not when the condition of its trade and commerce is taken into consideration. There may be depression in other cities, development elsewhere may be retarded and business in rival cities may be suffering, but in Duluth progress, development and growth know no cessation.

Dun's weekly trade review reports that in Chicago building is 50 per cent smaller than last year. Here in Duluth building is very much greater than a year ago, and if the indications are not astray the amount of building here this year will be the greatest in the city's history.

Then look at the bank clearings. Bradstreet's report for the week yesterday shows heavy decreases almost everywhere, while Duluth tops the list with an increase of 36.1 per cent. Denver is the only other city in the West that shows an increase, and it is only 2.5 per cent. Minneapolis shows a decrease of 35.6 per cent; St. Paul, a decrease of 14.8 per cent; Chicago, a decrease of 26.1 per cent. Just look at these figures and comparisons, and you will indeed conclude that Duluth is all right.

Aid Urgently Needed.

Aid, liberal aid, should be forthcoming from the people of Duluth for their Fargo friends who have been made homeless and almost destitute by a terrible fire. This is an occasion when not only sympathy, but practical assistance is required. Sympathy will not feed the hungry nor clothe the naked. Cash must be contributed to purchase food, and there should be no lack of contributions of clothing.

So far Duluth has done comparatively little and as the need of aid is urgent according to dispatches from the mayor of Fargo there should be no more delay in organizing a committee here to solicit subscriptions. St. Paul and Minneapolis are already well advanced in this work and are manifesting great liberality. The Herald would not like to see Duluth suffer by contrast. While the cities generally should make generous contributions, the common council must increase its grant to $1000. The people will approve such action.

The Land Officers.

As announced in The Herald exclusively yesterday, Andrew J. Taylor has been appointed register of the Duluth land office to succeed Monroe Nichols, removed. During his incumbency of the office, Mr. Nichols has discharged his duties well and the land office records and business are now in better shape than they have been for years.

Mr. Taylor, the Democratic nominee, has been a hard worker for his party. Although there are more representative Democrats, any one of whom could have filled this position creditably, Mr. Taylor was fortunate in securing the endorsement of those whose recommendations are potent in the distribution of the offices. There is no reason why he should not prove a capable and popular official.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch draws attention to the fact that Senator Jones, of Nevada, is the latest person to trip himself up in monetary discussion. Speaking of the fact that money has ruled 1 1/2 per cent in London, he says that it is because the contraction of the currency makes it impossible for it to earn more. If that be the case has not the senator successfully demonstrated that the way to make money easy and interest low is to contract the currency to the narrowest possibility?

Judge Flandrau will now experience all the delights and troubles of being a newspaper publisher, and he will probably discover that the troubles are not the least numerous. He has been made receiver of the St. Paul Globe, which has become tangled up by a disagreement among the stockholders.

Canada has a new and very extraordinary problem. Her census returns show 4000 more married men than married women. Surely polyandry has not obtained a foothold among our northern neighbors!

A New York preacher has been assailing the memory of the late Christopher Columbus, calling him a bully and a tyrant. Some men cannot exercise Christian charity even towards the dead.

The Herald's very complete report of the class day exercises at the high school and the graduating exercises at the training school caused a great demand for yesterday's issue.

Eulalie presented Mayor Harrison of Chicago with a gold cigarette case before her departure. As Carter does not smoke cigarettes he might loan it to Hemp Washburne.

Perhaps the Washington correspondent does not know what he is talking about? Well, his predictions are being verified all right. Just watch for others that are to come.

The News Tribune's editorial came too late to save Register Nichols from decapitation. If Grover had only read it, this might not have happened.

Read Gath's letter today. He discusses the financial depression and its cause in an interesting manner. The letter appears on the seventh page.

PROPOSITION TO CRISP.

Cleveland's New York Organ Scores the Speaker of the House.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Crisp may have smooth sailing after all in his canvass for re-election as speaker. The administration may yet decide to oppose him. The New York Times, Cleveland's New York organ, says the "Georgian" is the editorially because he refuses to put himself on record on the repeal of the Sherman law. In speaking of its efforts to secure the views of congressmen on this question recently the Times takes this thing at Crisp:

"Of one of the telegrams we have published it is not easy to speak without use of unpleasant terms, or without leaving the way open to unpleasant inferences. That telegram is Speaker Crisp's. No answer to your telegram." Charles F. Crisp, August 12, 1892.

Crisp was speaker of the last house of representatives and is a candidate for re-election to the honorable post. It is perfectly clear why he declines to express his views upon this very important question of currency. Until he is securely seated in the speaker's chair he will have no views for publication as to the repeal of the Sherman act. Cowardice is doubly contemptible when it is unnecessary, but Crisp must be the judge whether he will gain or lose more by suppressing his principles, supposing him to have any principles, than by making sure of a re-election as speaker."

Crisp is classed among the silver side and has always voted in favor of free coinage. It had been supposed that there had been a deal between Cleveland and Crisp, but the present attack by Cleveland's organ on Crisp leads many statesmen here to think otherwise.

Give the Old Man a Chance.

St. Louis, June 17.—The Burlington Gazette having said that the Republican party should give its child, prohibition, a fair show, the Dubuque Times patriotically pleads: "Isn't it about time that the child should give the old man a show? The former has had all the show for the past ten years."

Free Trade With Canada.

The Mesaba Range: The next reciprocity convention is to be held in Duluth—the city which would be most benefited by free trade with Canada. Let us have free commercial relations with Canada and in a few years that wealthy country will become a part of the great American republic.

Superior Will Aid.

Superior, Minn., is as much source of gratification to Superior as to Duluth that the next reciprocity convention has been secured for the head of the lakes. The questionable wisdom of taking the convention to Toronto, where the reciprocity sentiment is not, perhaps, ripe enough to accord it a worthy welcome, was still recognized. Superior will join with Duluth in making the reciprocity convention in October next a complete success.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Society People Have Devoted the Major Portion of This Week to School Commencements.

Outdoor Pleasures Now Predominate and Minnesota Point Will Soon be a Very Lively Place.

An Interesting Wedding Which is Soon to be Celebrated at the Congregational Church.

Commencement week exercises and matters connected with the closing week of the schools have occupied Duluth society ladies very largely this week for upon these occasions their daughters demand a great deal of attention. The school closings were attended by almost everybody in Duluth, but outside of these there is very little to record in the way of social happenings. The Yarnmasters' convention brought in a number of ladies who have been entertained by friends here and the Stillwater party which arrived yesterday and is still here contains many ladies who have friends and relatives in Duluth and are the objects of their attentions.

Outdoor pleasures predominate now and will for the next few weeks to the exclusion of nearly everything else. The hot weather which just fairly got under way this week has turned people's thoughts to camping. Next week at least a half dozen families will start in on Minnesota point and remain for several weeks. The water attracts old and young alike these days. Every afternoon the bay is dotted with sailing and rowing craft and the young men who cannot sail and unless the softness of his hands too highly to row is not apt to be in the swim, but will linger outside.

The rush to Chicago has just fairly begun and June will take away a great number of Duluthians. It would be safe to say that at least 50 per cent of Duluth's school teachers will visit the fair between now and July 1. Several parties leave today and the Hardy school faculty, or a considerable number of the instructors left on Thursday.

June is generally conceded to be the month to marry and Duluthians have evidently heard of this for the number of weddings this month will run pretty high. Besides those which have already been announced to take place within the month, there are a number of others which are not far distant and the curls may be expected most any day. Several prominent prospective marriages are the talk of society people now, and great interest is taken in the probable date.

AT HARDY SCHOOL.

The Commencement Exercises on Wednesday a Distinct Social Feature.

The Hardy School commencement on Wednesday evening was a social event in every sense of the word. The largest number of people ever gathered in Hardy School was present, and it was a well-attended affair. The exercises were their best making up the audience. The lecture by Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer and the conferring of diplomas occupied about an hour after which the social part of the evening was given. The guests were received by Miss Hardy, Miss Hall, Mrs. Palmer and the graduates, Miss Ella Fitzgerald, Miss Sibley, Marion Crosby and Lynda Woodbridge. The parlors were beautifully decorated with flowers and potted plants.

MUNGER-SILVEY WEDDING.

An Interesting Marriage Which is Soon to be Celebrated.

On Wednesday evening, June 28, the marriage of Miss Alice Gray Munger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger S. Munger, and William Barst Silvey will take place at the Pilgrim Congregational church. Rev. Dr. Salter will perform the ceremony. The bridesmaids will be Misses Fannie Upham, Gertrude Markell and Maren Miller, of Duluth; Miss Young of Brunswick, Me.; Miss Gilman of Chicago, and Miss Silvey, of Washington, the latter a sister of the groom. The groom will be attended by E. C. Jones as best man and the ushers will be C. J. Kershaw, W. C. Farrington, A. L. Therman, A. G. Crosby, Walter Turle and J. T. Merriman. Immediately following the wedding there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 405 Piedmont terrace. The bridal couple will leave on the night train for a wedding trip. They will be at home during the summer at 105 Piedmont terrace.

Quite a number of people will attend from abroad, the contracting parties having an unusually large circle of friends outside, as well as in the city. St. Paul was formerly the home of Mr. and Mrs. Munger and a number will come up from there.

Brief Social Notes.

On Monday next will be celebrated the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Fraser, daughter of Alex. Fraser, to Charles Peterson. Among the guests who will attend will be Governor Knute Nelson, who is an uncle of the groom. Both of the young people are well known in Duluth, the groom being a prosperous real estate man.

Walter N. Ingalls left on Monday for Great Barrington, Mass., where he will be married on June 21 to Miss Bernice Morse, a niece of Mrs. J. D. Ray, of this city. A wedding trip through to Niagara, Detroit and the World's fair will follow the wedding and Mr. and Mrs.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

According to Annual Custom the Duluth Lodges Held Them Last Evening.

According to custom and in obedience to a proclamation of the grand lodge Duluth Odd Fellows gathered last night in the hall on Lake avenue to hold services in memory of the honored dead.

The hall was comfortably filled although the attendance from Rice's Point and West Duluth was not up to expectations.

In the number of deaths the Duluth Odd Fellows have a remarkable record. During the year there was but one name dropped from the rolls of the four large lodges in this city—John Freeland. In Duluth lodge No. 28, there have been but six deaths since the institution in 1874, and over 300 members have been initiated. This is a record probably unsurpassed in the country.

The ceremonies last evening were simple and unostentatious. As usual at Odd Fellows' gatherings the meeting was begun by singing the opening ode. After an invocation by Rev. F. C. Southworth T. W. Hugo made a short address.

He read the proclamation from the grand lodge calling the meeting and Minnesota's death roll for the year—twenty-six names. In a few words he explained the origin of the custom and its benefits to living Odd Fellows.

The Arion quart sang with excellent effect two selections, the latter in response to a hearty recall. Judge James A. Hanks read a poem appropriate to the time and place and Miss Clark sang a pretty soprano solo, accompanied on the piano by Miss McKenzie. Master Tommy Chalmers made the hit of the evening with his recitations. He first gave "Our Folks," and when recalled recited "An Oversight of Make-up," a humorous little piece.

The address of the evening was by Rev. F. C. Southworth. It was scholarly and entertaining and was listened to with full interest by the Odd Fellows and their guests. The meeting closed with another selection by the Arion quartet.

SMITH FOUND GUILTY

West Duluth Pickpocket Must Serve a Sentence for Grand Larceny in the Third Degree.

Several Criminals Who Had Entered Pleas of Not Guilty Upon Reflection Changed Their Minds.

Amanda Boringesser Proved Her Husband to be a Drunkard and Got a Divorce.

About 6 o'clock last evening the jury returned into court and rendered a verdict of guilty of grand larceny in the second degree against William Smith, but recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the court. The verdict was not a surprise to those who heard the testimony. Smith's only defense was an unsuccessful attempt to prove an alibi.

A strong attempt was made in Smith's behalf on the trial. There are those unkind enough to attribute this interest in the criminal to selfish motives. It is whispered that Smith is a professional dog trainer and was busy preparing a ferocious canine for a bloody fight for $400 a side. His enforced confinement may operate to prevent the sport.

John Kelly and James Gleason charged with grand larceny in the second degree, withdrew their pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty to one indictment, the other being quashed on motion of the county attorney.

Martin Svava, who caressed his wife with a baseball bat, also changed his plea to guilty of the charge of assault in the second degree.

The case against Frank Parish, grand larceny in the second degree, was called but before the jury was secured the regular term was adjourned over to Monday morning.

The Special Term.
Before Judge Ensign, sitting in special term, the case of Amanda Boringesser against John Boringesser came up for final hearing and Mrs. Boringesser asked for a divorce on the ground of habitual drunkenness and adultery. It had been proven that defendant was an habitual drunkard up to a certain day, but Judge Ensign wished testimony to bring the fact down to a more recent period. That testimony was produced this morning and the decree of divorce granted on the charge of drunkenness only.

Other matters were disposed of by Judge Ensign as follows: Leroy Coons against John Lemica et al., injunction ordered against certain defendants and bail fixed at $1,500. Mary Jane Graham against Susan McLowen et al., continued; Dwight G. Cutler et al., against W. C. Doherty et al., continued; Standard Ore company against the Cincinnati Iron company, continued; J. J. and R. A. Costello against W. C. Doherty, settled; in the matter of the application of the Minnesota Canal company to acquire certain lands, continued; in the matter of the assignment of A. H. Thompson, continued; in the matter of the assignment of Brenton & Black, final report approved and assignee discharged.

Judgment for plaintiffs in eight cases against Andre & Duine, each less than $100. In the matter of extending Eighth avenue east, Harriet W. Haynes, appellant, continued.

Before Judge Lewis in the case of August Mylonak against John M. Rustine, brought from Lake county, the motion to set aside judgment was granted. In the divorce suit of John Erik Kjelund against Erika Sina Kjelund was submitted to the court. Henry K. Gilson against the Central Vermilion Iron company was continued one week.

MARY BRESLAND AGAIN.
Brought into Police Court on a Charge of Assaults.

In police court this morning three drunks were fined and sentences in the cases of one drunk and two vagrants issued. William Carlson charged with keeping an unlicensed dog, pleaded not guilty whereupon the trial was set for June 19, at 2 p. m. John W. Mike, charged with striking William B. Blake was found guilty of assault in the third degree and assessed $1 and costs. Pat Sheehan for carrying concealed weapons was required to drop the same sum on the spot.

Yesterday afternoon the notorious Mary Bresland appeared before the court of justice and denied that she was guilty of assault in the third degree. The complaint was sworn out by Marion Crawford, who charges Mary calling his wife, Belle Shaw, a common prostitute and other vile epithets.

His Ship Still Firm.
All is quiet at the United States land office today. All in those precincts are busy, however, as the result of yesterday's findings. During the day twenty-seven declaratory statements, ten timber and stone applications and five home-stated filings were received. Register Nichols was at his desk this morning, busily engaged signing his name to documents and, for a man who had been decapitated and scalped, presented a very creditable appearance. He says that his pulse is as firm, his sleep as unbroken and his appetite as good as usual.

THE WORLD OF LABOR

The One Central Body Plan is Now Engaging the Attention of Local Organized Labor.

The Trades and Labor Assembly and Representatives of the Building Trades to Meet Thursday.

Emil Applehagen Was Elected Vice President of the State Federation at the St. Paul Meeting.

The all-absorbing topic in organized labor circles this week has been the basis of amalgamation, and the probable outcome of the exertions of the committee appointed last week to visit the various unions not affiliated with the Trades and Labor assembly. That the efforts now being put forth by these gentlemen will be crowned with success is the ardent wish of those having the great problem of labor at heart, and the consensus of opinion of those "in the know" seems to favor the one "central body" plan.

There are many and various reasons why such a course would be beneficial to organized labor, and chief among those is the fact that the expense of running the central or amalgamated body would be cut in two, and the opportunity for immediate action in case of emergencies would be sufficient reason for its adoption. As at present, a course of "red tape" has to be gone through and much valuable time lost which otherwise might be utilized to good advantage.

The two bodies—the Trades and Labor and the Building Trades assembly—have heretofore always acted in conjunction whenever occasion required, and have even united on several occasions—recently the mass meeting in aid of the Homestead strikers and the great Labor day demonstration of last September. Since that time negotiations have been going on to heal the breach that took place about three years ago. It seems well for the success of the undertaking when both sides are willing to make concessions. While there may have been some objectionable members on each side, it should be borne in mind that these men have been removed and their places filled with energetic and enthusiastic men. The organized labor—men whose time and money have been freely used in building up both bodies to their present status, and without any hope of reward or success in the undertaking when both sides are willing to make concessions.

A number of weighty matters await the immediate attention of both bodies, and legislation is laid aside for the moment to await the result of the committee's efforts. Several unions are claiming for admission into the ranks of the federation, and many more, who are now "sitting on the fence," are waiting to see the outcome of the negotiations. Besides this, an effort will be made to make the waters, the laundry workers, the barbers, etc., and when this is accomplished, Duluth may be said to be the best organized town in the States.

Next Thursday's meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly, with the representatives from the Building Trades assembly, will be a very important one. A little interest, and it behooves every union man to be present. The committee will then make their final report, and the great advantages which will accrue from amalgamation leaves little doubt that their efforts towards a reconciliation will be successful.

THE STATE FEDERATION.

Emil Applehagen Elected Vice President at the St. Paul Meeting.

Last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the delegates to the State Federation of Labor began to gather at Labor hall, 70 East Seventh street, St. Paul. President Morrow was on hand promptly and welcomed the delegates from various parts of the state. There was a good representation from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. The president announced the following committees:

Committee on rules of order—George W. Morey, E. R. Kenny and E. Applehagen.
Committee on resolutions—H. B. Martin, H. S. Wigle and E. P. Stevens.
Committee on organization—J. E. Holmes, M. Johnson and John Siegler.
Committee on constitution—O. R. Clark, A. C. Newberg and Charles Segsteg.

Committee on officers' report—B. Ness, John Stewart and John Hansen. At the afternoon meeting the several committees reported, and the president read his report. The committee on rules reported a code which seemed quite satisfactory. It was adopted without discussion. It had one novel feature—that of limiting the discussions to five minutes each.

President Morrow made a brief report, in which he reviewed the progress made by organized labor in the past year. He thought the Northwest could be fairly considered the real center of organization. Their action in sending W. W. Erwin to Homestead had been most famous. The organizations of Minnesota have had an unprecedented growth in the past year. He thought the following lines of work should be followed in the next year.

First—Agitation for the patronage of union labels.

Second—That the meetings of the state federation be held occasionally in other parts of the state.

Other practical suggestions were made to local unions.

A special committee was appointed to memorialize congress in regard to trusts and combines. The committee: A. G. Newberg, John Stewart and E. Holmes. A resolution was also adopted scathingly denouncing trusts and combines, and suggesting free silver and other fanatical ideas.

The committee on organization urged that steps should be taken to organize the carpenters in all cities in Minnesota. The federation secretary was instructed to send a circular letter to each union in the state asking its active affiliation with the state federation. Also that an organizer be sent to the smaller towns and cities to organize them in whatever form of organization they desire, as found to be raised for that purpose. The report was unanimously adopted.

The platform adopted at previous meetings was reaffirmed and the following new resolutions adopted:

Favoring the organization of retail clerks and early closing.
Saturday half holiday.
Free employment bureaus.
Agitation for the initiative and referendum.

The eight hour day.
Thanks to W. W. Erwin for services at Homestead.

The reports of the different unions consumed a greater portion of the time, but proved of great interest to the delegates. Each union reported its condition and advised the others as to what might be done to aid them.

The following officers were elected: President, James Morrow; first vice president, B. Ness; secretary, George W. Morey; treasurer, C. S. Sweeney. The executive committee are: J. E. Holmes, John Stewart, O. R. Clark, M. B. Martin, A. G. Newberg and H. S. Wigle. The next meeting of the State Federation will be held in Minneapolis in December.

IN THE LABOR FIELD.

Local Labor Notes and Other Items of Interest to Unionism.

The Typographical meeting occurs tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock, in the O'Brien & Knott block. The election of officers will take place at the meeting in July. There will also be a delegate appointed to attend the convention of the Allied Printing Crafts to be held in Minneapolis on July 11.

J. W. Jackson is representing No. 135, of Duluth, at the convention of the International Typographical union at Chicago, which has been in session all week. He will visit his old home in Illinois before returning, and expects to be gone about two weeks.

The North (Scandinavian) Typographical union will give a concert and ball tomorrow at 8 o'clock. Arrangements have been made to have a similar meeting in Superior on June 21. A large number of members from other unions in town have signified their intention of being present, and the success of the first ball held by this union in it is assured. The union as a whole is a committee of arrangements and the proceeds will go to help pay the expense of the delegates sent to attend the Scandinavian Federation held in July at Chicago. The Typographical Glee club will be in attendance and render some choice selections under the conductorship of Mr. Jensen.

The first "aristocratic" printer to put in an appearance in Duluth from the burned up Fargo, showed up Wednesday. He reports that the business is all the same, and that he follows the faithful performance of his duties.

A number of weighty matters await the immediate attention of both bodies, and legislation is laid aside for the moment to await the result of the committee's efforts. Several unions are claiming for admission into the ranks of the federation, and many more, who are now "sitting on the fence," are waiting to see the outcome of the negotiations.

Besides this, an effort will be made to make the waters, the laundry workers, the barbers, etc., and when this is accomplished, Duluth may be said to be the best organized town in the States.

Next Thursday's meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly, with the representatives from the Building Trades assembly, will be a very important one. A little interest, and it behooves every union man to be present. The committee will then make their final report, and the great advantages which will accrue from amalgamation leaves little doubt that their efforts towards a reconciliation will be successful.

The Labor Bulletin, of Duluth, a new monthly magazine devoted to the interests of labor, will be issued early next week.

The retail clerks hold their national convention at Memphis, Tenn., July 11. By holding it in the South they hope to interest clerks in that section of the country.

Coal miners in the employ of the Brazil Block Coal Company, at Coxville, Ind., have struck on the refusal of the company to sign the scale and agreement for the coming year.

The State Typographical union of Pennsylvania has adopted resolutions in favor of union labels and of observing the Sunday law as far as the publication of newspapers is concerned.

On June 20 the new order, the American Railway Union, will hold a mass meeting in Chicago. Eugene V. Debs, S. Kelliburn, W. H. Schirring, L. W. Rogers, G. W. Howard and others will speak.

The international congress of miners was opened in the city of Brussels a week ago. Among the delegates are six members of the British parliament. An eight hour work day is the principal question before the congress.

The weavers in Hargrave's mill, Fall River, Mass., about 250 in all, are on a strike because the members of a committee which they sent to the managers to remonstrate against a reduction of wages were instantly discharged.

A general strike of coal miners in the Western states will probably take place soon, the difficulty being largely to get to Kansas and Missouri. Public opinion appears to be strongly with the men in the coming struggle.

The secretary of the International Bricklayers' union will issue a circular letter to all local unions, instructing them to demand the eight hour work day, if it has not already been conceded. There is a postoffice regulation (whether it is a part of the Comstock or some other law I do not know) which prohibits the use of postal cards to "dun" debtors, and it is probable that the high toned secretary of the Bricklayers' union is in the spirit of brotherhood. If it were better that any reformer should stay away rather than to go among the poor vagrants with a spirit of patronage. The university settlement movement in London is not to restrain the poor, but to help them.

London has been called the hell of cities. If that is so, then the east end is its bottomless pit. Over 70,000 people there are out of employment. Over 100,000 children never see the inside of a school. The death rate among the children of the poor, as compared with that among the children of the west end, is something terrible. The misery and suffering cannot be described. After I had seen the condition there, extending I said to myself, "I'll never rest until I have done something to remove this foul blot and disgrace from the face of England."

It is my aim to show that it is the duty of the church to remove this disgrace from the face of our nation, and that the university settlement is to supplement the work of the church. In the past the practical, objective work of rescuing and lifting up men and women still in the body. I want the church to take up this objective work. Ninety per cent of the working classes in London never enter a place of worship. This we deplore, but while we deplore we should also find a remedy.

Many a man of brilliant university education are spending their lives in the east end of London doing missionary work among the workmen. I met with a dockworker, who together with his wife and child, was taken care of by a fellow laborer during a sickness of three years, the average wages of a dockworker being only $3 a week. Practicing the Blue Label. Persons who select what they suppose to be fragrant Henry Clay cigars and discover when too late that they are "blue" may set themselves down as victims of the little counterfeit blue label. The officers of the Cigarmakers' International union are making a strong effort just now to suppress the nuisance, and the conviction on Thursday in the court of special sessions of Leo Lederer, a printer, who printed the counterfeit labels, has greatly encouraged them.

Lederer was caught at 181 East Broadway, with electrolytes of the blue label, and the judges fined him $50. It was the first criminal conviction under the law prohibiting the printing and circulation of the counterfeit label. Speaking of the case yesterday to a reporter, Mr. Antonio Knaulth, attorney for the International union, said:

"We wish to break up the business of counterfeiting the union cigar label. These labels are printed by the International union and are distributed among cigar manufacturers who employ union men. They cost us considerable money, and are circulated without charge. 'Foul' shops, we found, were using labels which were counterfeited. We determined to ferret out the counterfeiters and prosecute them criminally. We got out injunctions against the 'foul' manufacturers, prohibiting them from using the labels, but the injunctions were not heeded. We finally secured evidence against Lederer and convicted him."

"We shall not stop here. We have arrested Henry Hill and Edmund Finkel, both employed in Sladkiss' cigar factory at 428 East Tenth street. Hill sent out circulars offering the counterfeit labels for sale, and Finkel sold a quantity. Finkel is the counterfeit bookkeeper. We shall also prosecute one of the Sladkiss brothers, but I cannot say which one, for his connection with the scheme. Freight and Passenger Rates. The great wrong that needs to be righted is the daily imposition practiced on the people by the railroads in charging one rate for carrying freight and another rate for carrying passengers.

This outrageous railroad practice of distinguishing between cattle and citizens and charging 40 or 50 times as much for carrying 300 pounds weight of humanity as for carrying 200 pounds weight of baggage makes it impossible for the average citizen to travel. The average citizen annually out of the pockets of the American people.

It is not the tariff nor the pension list nor the tremendous civil service salary list that has made the people of this country poor and is keeping them poor. The reason why nine men out of ten are impoverished is the exorbitant railroad rates they have to pay.

Just think of the monstrous injustice of carrying a carload of merchandise weighing 40 tons from New York to Boston for $10 and then charging the man who owns it $42 for carrying his family of seven persons, weighing all put together less than half a ton, over the same distance. Yet this is being done on all the railroad lines in the country.—Crunkiana's Column in New York Recorder.

THE TIME DRAWS NEAR

The July Meeting of the Duluth Driving Park Association Opens in About Three Weeks.

The Prospects for an Event Successful in Every Way Are More Than Ordinarily Bright.

A Gun Club Tournament Planned for July 4 and 5 by the Central Gun Club.

Just three weeks from next Tuesday the July meeting of the Duluth Driving Park association will open and the head of the lakes—not Duluth alone—will have an opportunity to witness trials of speed, the superior of which have been rarely seen in the Northwest. The excellent entries already made and the correspondence, which is constantly increasing, assure this. R. F. Jones, secretary, was up from Minneapolis this week and is feeling greatly encouraged at the outlook for the meeting.

"It's going to be a hummer—put that down, boys," says the genial "Fish" as the boys have passed it in their hands and are buying their season tickets. The association, and it comprises not a great number of men, is taking great financial risk in preparing for the meeting and deserve the support of the public. Mr. Jones, in his paper the Minnesota Horseman, says:

"A visit to the city of Duluth during the past week found everything in the best of shape at the driving park and the interest in the coming meeting is already warming up. The course is in the best of shape and John Hawkins has some fifteen head of more preparing for the meeting. Mainbrace Sparkle, the queen of long drawn contests, is now in Mr. Hawkins' string. Sparkle does not show age in appearance, near unto her years and she is still a game, fine looking mare. Sparkle's filly by Hartford is the image of her famous dam and it early in the season she is expected to show her mettle in a three-mile contest like the Derby.

"The Duluth course has shaped up grandly during the past month; about 6 inches of fine loam has been added to the surface and it is now well ordered for a fast mile. In the care of this track the management has left nothing out from a Griffin machine to a first class sprinkler, everything to make a track good has been provided. Fine trees are planted and abundant near the track and the water is the purest. The grounds being situated back from the lake no cold winds affect the audience and the track is running direct to the gates make the place easy of access to all. The outlook for the coming meeting is most promising and the attendance will surely be large, for the horsemen of Superior as well as Duluth are anticipating a feast of fast sport and will swell the gate receipts daily.

With the warmer weather of the past week or two there has been an awakening of interest at the boat house and several of the shells are out every day while working boats are in great demand. A four-oared crew takes a run quite frequently and the number of people on the water is increasing. However, there is not more interest taken in this most healthful and elevating sport. If Duluth were not situated so close to the water this would be easy to understand but with the boat houses but a few minutes walk from the business center it is somewhat difficult to explain. If it be his reasoning, it is false, for a short time each day spent in healthful exercise and forgetfulness of cares and duties only enables a man to better carry out his duties and labors.

The Central Gun club is entitled to the credit of getting a grand tournament to be held on July 4 and 5 at Spirit Lake on the club grounds. A fine list of prizes will be hung up and each shot from all the northern states will be invited to participate. The members of the club have already raised prizes to the amount of $200 and the end is not yet reached. Duluth has many car sports and the tournament is certain to be a success in every way of the word.

The Duluth Football club held its annual meeting in the city hall and elected officers as follows: Honorary president, A. M. Macfarlane; president, Ronald Hunter; vice-president, Mr. Northward; captain, George Wilson; vice-captain, N. C. Murphy; secretary, George Gibson; treasurer, William McLean. The club is in good condition and the players are getting down to good work. Several games with Superior have already been played. The grounds at the Glen Avon rink are to be graded up and a football ground made. When the club has grounds of its own there will be a great incentive given to its members to practice and bring themselves up to a high standard. Duluth ought to carry off the Northwestern cup this year and it is not improbable that her club will.

The West End Athletics and Metropolitan of Duluth, two ball clubs are playing at the Twenty-eighth avenue west grounds, this afternoon. The batteries will be Carrigan and Pollock for the Athletics and Chapman and Paddock for the Metropolitans. Jimmy Purcell, the "Sagaw Kid," who has been spending the past few weeks at the head of the lake, has been matched against "Dutch" Neil, of Hurley, to play ball at the Hurley grounds. The light will take place at a Hurley theatre July 7. Purcell is a trainee, Superior and getting into excellent shape. He expects to make the contest one of the events of his career. A party of his friends and admirers from Duluth and Superior will go to Hurley to witness the match.

George Curtis, who surprised his friends by securing a prize in the "Yellow" Maber ten rounds at the Gem theatre last Saturday night, is anxious to have another go on the same terms, as he is not satisfied with the convenience decision calling the contest a draw.

Strictly under the rules it was a draw, but according to the intent of the articles Curtis won by standing up the ten rounds.

RACING'S BIG REWARDS.
How a Thoroughbred Has Often Won a Big Fortune.

Few people other than those directly concerned are today aware of the enormous capital invested in breeding, training and running the thoroughbred. Occasionally the public sees little newspapers the mention of some large prize for a thoroughbred and wonders where the purchaser will get his money back. Mabel Hampton of the District of Columbia, who has won several prizes, says that "prize of breeders," Major B. G. Thomas, to J. B. Haggin for $10,000, brought her new owner in from the sales of her just $60,000 in four years. This is an example of what a good nation will do. The sale of the Nursery stud of the late August Belmont attracted more than 100,000 people and the horses in training were sold under very disadvantageous circumstances.

ISOLANUS.

Racing today all over the world is in the most flourishing of conditions. The first step toward the purity of racing has been taken in the formation of a board of control, every thoroughbred track being represented. This board of control has licensed trainers as well as jockeys and made an effort to do away with that bugbear of the race, the "fix." The true fan of the horse is not a fan of the horse without the fee to pay for such entries. The credit system has placed scores of nominators into debt, and the stipulations for the race show the winners the true fan of the horse. All the owners of the winners of big stakes can tell what difference there is in the value of the purses reported in the papers and the amount they really received.

Another move of this board is to limit racing with betting to 30 days in each state on one track in a calendar year. This is what all reputable breeders pray for. Contenders racing on one track in all kinds of weather defeats the very best of the breeding thoroughbreds—the improvement of the horse—and it also by demoralizes any community by bringing into it a permanent camp of idlers and loafers.

The tracks that are today used for racing have been laid out and built inconsiderate and safety to the horse and the rider. America is far ahead of any of the European countries in its accommodations for the public at the race tracks. The grand stand is filled with pleasant shade so arranged that the entire course is at all times in view of the spectator. The stand is roofed over as well to shut out the sun as the rain, and there are reading rooms, wide promenades, large private boxes and a huge betting ring open to any one who wishes to bet. The average cost of a seat in the grand stand is $1.50. It is roughly estimated that for the same privileges furnished by American tracks for $1.50 one would be compelled to pay in Europe about $2.50. The most luxurious clubhouses at all of the tracks, where members of the jockey club may have the very best of the race, as well as enjoy a view of the course with out mingling with the crowd. The tracks proper—or that part fenced in for the running of the horses—are clean, brushed and given just the proper softness for the horses' feet and legs. From the stables to the grand stand nothing is today omitted that will in any way add to the comfort of the horse or pleasure of the spectators.

GIARADE.

Racing was and always has been furthered by those who love the horse and wished him brought to the highest point of perfection. It is today a question with many casual thinkers whether the dash racing of the present day has not caused a loss of stamina in our thoroughbred horses. In the old days horses were compelled to run heats of three or four miles, while the longest races of today seldom exceed a mile and a quarter. Those who study the performances of the thoroughbred know that the horses of today could distance any of the horses of even the last century.

The 2-year-old is today the all important factor on the race course, and for him the greatest purses of added money are given. To obtain these purses it is necessary to buy yearlings or horses that have as yet been untied. The yearling may be perfect in conformation, royal in breeding and magnificent in price but turn out a selling player in running. Witness King Thomas, that as a yearling brought $30,000, and yet is one of the bitterest disappointments of the lottery of racing.

On the other hand, Byron McClelland gambled on Sallie McClelland for $2,500. She turned out a prize to the tune of $36,000. "The Morris stable" paid $25 for Russell as a yearling and won $50,125 with him the next year. His Highness, that as a 2-year-old carrying 100 pounds won the Futurity, cost $2,400 as a yearling and made Dave Gideon, his owner, richer by $107,335 in one year.

Facing today with nearly all owners of thoroughbreds is a business, and running the thoroughbred is fast becoming a science. The recent achievements of Chambe, winner of the $85,000 Metropolitan Handicap and Isinglass, winner of the $30,000 English Derby, show that the business pays well when it does pay.

GUNTHER LOST BY A MISTAKE.
He Had the Pullman in His Grasp, but Made a Fatal Pass.

There are hundreds of thousands of bicyclists in America, but J. F. Gunther of the Lincoln Cycling club, Chicago, is probably the saddest man in all the vast army. The reason such thick, dark gloom enshrouds him is because he had the Pullman road race—the greatest event of the kind of the year—practically won and then lost it because he mistook a railroad track for the finish line and although leading the 500 starters by many rods stopped 400 feet from the tape. M. Nelson then overtook him and won the race before Gunther's friends apprised him of his mistake. Gunther, who is 33 years of age, had an 8-minute handicap, and was a rider of unknown ability, and few people imagined that he could come within 400 feet of winning the Pullman.

The stars of the Irvington-Milburn road race were Carl von Lengerke, the first man to finish, and C. M. Murphy, the time prize winner. Von Lengerke was not considered a probable victor, and yet he covered the 5 miles in the very first time of 1 hour 13 minutes 31 seconds, which is only about 4½ minutes slower than the American record of 1 hour 13 minutes 55 seconds held by E. A. McEliffe. C. M. Murphy won the time prize by negotiating the distance in 1 hour 15 minutes and 10 seconds and reducing the course record 2 minutes 1 second. Of the 50 men who finished the race 73 cov-

NEWS OF THE HORSES.

A St. Louis paper claims that that city's pawnbrokers furnish $30,000 daily to poor people who pawn even their clothing to raise money for betting purposes.

The system of handicapping the trotters is carried to such a point in England that horsemen from this state claim a $1000 pony that can trot in 3 minutes can win as much money as a $250 horse that has cost from $2,000 to $3,000.

Long Stride, a famous Irish hunter, the property of the Monmouth County Hunt, has just immortalized himself by making the second greatest leap on record—a 34-foot leap from bank to bank across a jump at Hollywood, N. J. Hinderlater once jumped 35 feet.

Among the swift trotters Naugy Hanks, 2:54; Belle Van, 2:58½; Alia, 2:56; Direct, 2:56½; and Jay-Eye-See, 2:56½, are all of small size, while Krenlin, 2:57½; Martha Wilkes, 2:58; and 2:58½; Alton, 2:57½, and Nelson, 2:59, are large, several of them being over 16 hands high.

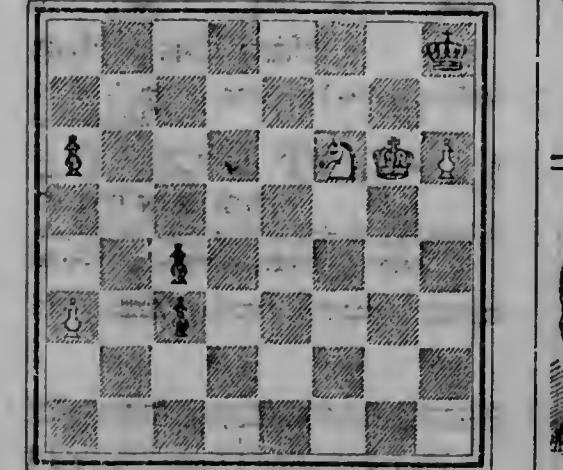

The most diminutive trotter is probably the gelding Billy Pie, that took a record in Iowa last fall of 2:20. He weighs but 60 pounds and is sired by a pony stallion of unknown breeding and out of a Shetland pony mare. He was bred in South Dakota.

HAVE A SPECIALTY.

The Field of Medicine Has Become Too Broad for a Man to Hope to Cover it All.

In a recent leading article, entitled, "Have a Specialty," which has attracted the attention and admiration of vigorous thinkers, the Scientific American, a journal recognized as a leader wherever the English language is spoken, closes with these accepted truths:

"It does not take the world very long to discover who is the best man for this or that purpose, and when it finds out that man who has made a specialty of one operation, and unquestionably does it better than anyone else, the world must avail itself of his labor.

"We do not mean to argue that a man should be like a horse, capable of performing but one idea at a time, for that would be to advocate narrow-mindedness; but we do mean to say that no man should be without one essential and prevailing object, in the prosecution of which he is determined to excel, and it does not make any difference whether it is, whether cleaning a gutter or saving lives.

"All this adds weight to our first advice; to have a specialty and to push it. Be sure you are right before you select it. The above excellent advice is quoted here to emphasize the Copeland physicians claim that the true specialist, one that selects a certain line of diseases and makes their study and practice his life work, cannot help but become more proficient in their treatment than the general bedside practitioner. The field of medicine has become too extended for a man to hope to master it in all its details. Drs. Copeland, Hunt & Drenning's great success in the treatment of all diseases of the mucous membrane, and their kindred affections is the result of years of special training and special application. The only objection that can be urged against them is that they advertise, but if they did not do so they could not hope to secure enough patients to justify their treating these diseases for the small fee they require. The public is benefited by their advertising and realizes it.

WEST DULUTH EVIDENCE.

Commending the Copeland System of Treating Catarrh.

Among the numerous residents of West Duluth who have received beneficial treatment at the Copeland Medical Institute is Mr. John Gittings, who is employed in the car shops of the West Duluth Manufacturing Co. He suffered for many years with an aggravated catarrh of the head and stomach. When questioned about his case he said: "Yes, I had taken a great deal of medicine; for the last two years my stomach has been a veritable drug shop, but nothing I took seemed to give me more than temporary relief. My stomach was in a very bad condition indeed, it was so sore and tender that it would hardly retain any food at all. I was often compelled to throw up what little food I had eaten. After a meal my stomach would bloat up and there was a continual belching of gas and sour matter. I had no desire for food at all and would have to force myself to eat because I knew that food was necessary in order to keep body and soul together. I was consequently ner-

Upon arising in the morning I was just as tired as I had been the night before, it didn't seem as though I had been to bed at all. My stomach trouble was aggravated by terrible distress in the head. Upon taking the least cold my nose would stop up, causing pain over the eyes and across the bridge of the nose; noises were incessant in my ears. I had to hawk and spit continually to clear my throat of mucus. There was

A PROSPEROUS FIRM

Among the Hardware Dealers of the West End La Londe & Leonard are at the Front.

Starting in a Humble Way a Short Time ago They Have Been Forced to Enlarge.

Their Success is Gratifying to all and is an Indication of the West End's Prosperity.

At the head of the procession of hardware dealers at the "West End" stands the firm of La Londe & Leonard. This business house was founded in 1885 by Wm. Hall. Six years ago William Leonard came to Duluth from Nova Scotia and entered Mr. Hall's employ. In 1891 Mr. Leonard and C. R. Normandy formed a partnership and bought out Hall. Last April J. E. La Londe came to this city from Ipswich, Mich., and so well pleased was he with everything that he purchased Mr. Normandy's interest. Since that time the business of the firm has been conducted under the name of La Londe & Leonard.

The place of business was originally at 1615 West Superior street, but on May 1 a change to 1001-1001 1/2 was made. The new location is a double store room 50 by 120 feet, with a commodious basement. The present firm has had the pleasure of seeing the business grow to proportions never before attained, and with the increased advantages in space and location the future will see a further increase most gratifying to everyone.

A complete assortment of stoves, heaters, ranges, bousholders' supplies and shell hardware, bousholders' furnishings, etc., is carried. In connection is a well-equipped workshop, where everything in the line of sheet metal work is executed. All kinds of repairs for stoves, ranges, furnaces, etc., are done either on the premises or carried in stock. A specialty is made of roofing, spouting, guttering and builders' work. In addition to the full line of hardware the firm carries a splendid assortment of wall paper, window shades, etc.

Mr. La Londe is a native of Nova Scotia as well as Mr. Leonard. The former is a leading member of the Knights of Pythias while the latter is prominent in Masonic and O. O. F. circles. He also enjoys the distinction of being a member of the school board. La Londe & Leonard, both as individuals, as private citizens, in public life and as a business firm are energetic, industrious, honorable and enterprising. They know their business and are blessed with the possession of the esteem and confidence of all having dealings with them. The "West End" is fortunate in their possession.

BATH OF THE FUTURE

The Idea, Shape and Home in Which the Turkish Bath has Now Been Presented.

The Modern Bath of Europe and America not the Turkish Bath of the Orientals.

The Bath's Ability to Help the Body, the Cleared Mind and the Emancipated Soul.

As the "Turkish bath in every home" will soon be practically exhibited in the anthropological building, given through reporters to the winds and the waves of public current opinion, and in July be described in the woman's congress, by its exhibitor, its inception already struggling into life, will soon show by form, word or thought, the world's deception, or a necessary correction, for good, whether it be, as I imagine it, it should be, the form of the next fifty years' bath, or a more wonderful strength of that god of all nations, the future ought to be. Any one could show the bathroom of the present. As the benefits of the bath, the powers of the mind have long been our pursuit; the disabilities of the body we have striven to relieve; but the powers of heat, light and air for body, mind and soul we have guessed at dimly, and reached after faintly. No one, physician, moralist, teacher or preacher has, on these factors of life, sent so far reaching an eye, so probing a moral thought, so helping a physical analysis as Mr. Urquhart. It is now more than thirty years since, while the duke of Wellington presided, and such men as the deep thinking Erasmus Wilson, stood sponsor-physician, Mr. Urquhart opened up his mature reason's conception of the abilities of the Turkish bath to help establish the race of mankind who shall deserve the millennium or the second advent; to help, first the body, then the cleared mind, then the emancipated soul. We are all imprisoned in flesh, and often the flesh is weak, while the spirit is strong; often the soul wears out its scabbard; often the body confuses or obscures the reasoning of its natural master. We build a house to house our lives—the red, white and blue of our nation's ensign. We light it, air it, heat it; but our life in it is often close up in it, as in a casket where neither light, nor air are considered as necessities; but must be in abundance to make "right living, high thinking" and healthy bodies.

This all-the-world's exposition calls for beauty, strength, help from all nations, all men, all minds. Having accepted this chairmanship, I was disappointed when told, that a state circular must be printed. I had been a particular private person for several years. There are years in a woman's life when she must set her stamp, if possible, on home, husband, children, servants. It is a womanly work. Each one of each home sends out constantly widening, never ending influences; those influences that direct the hand that struggle in the air around us, for power over us; as the mites we cannot see by the naked eye, in the air we breathe and the water we drink.

We can all understand, today, Galileo's assertion "the earth moves," although he was tortured for it, and even yet no man has seen the earth move. The earth, not seen, nor heard, the glories that God has prepared for his people. This century is opening out to the reverent mind, glimmers of omnipotence that we can hardly grasp; but as Solomon long ago averred: "There is nothing new under the sun." We are turning over the accumulations of ages to get back to the primal forces and thoughts of creation as they came from their Creator. Three centuries have never been observed from our sight or been declared from constant use. They are light, heat and air. But the old Turks have kept alive, when nations and developments dropped the constant, more than daily, application to bodily needs of heat, light and air in what is yet called the Turkish bath. No other bathhouse subjects you to such high degree and prolonged use of heat, in health or sickness or mere beauty, as does the bathroom of ancient Turkey. No other sends you out to extremes of cold, from extremes of heat; no other cools you by the breath from the cave where Zeus commands his winds to send you out to conquer the strength of that god of all nations, the Ra of the Egyptians, the sun of the English speaking nations.

We are beginning to inquire into the powers of the soul; the powers of the mind have long been our pursuit; the disabilities of the body we have striven to relieve; but the powers of heat, light and air for body, mind and soul we have guessed at dimly, and reached after faintly. No one, physician, moralist, teacher or preacher has, on these factors of life, sent so far reaching an eye, so probing a moral thought, so helping a physical analysis as Mr. Urquhart. over a blunder which threatened to destroy the desired effect, but a woman's wits will sharpen away a man's dullness. The decorator and I have met amicably, but not satisfactorily on the matter of colors. It is difficult to put into paint effect on common, cheap wood, the look of the natural or stained handsome woods, and where I expected a cherry color of natural shade or mahogany stain, I was startled to find a burnt orange. But the Minnesota plumbers are stepping into the bathhouse without the Minnesota plumbers' business to exhibit, but there are no manufacturers in Minnesota. In vain, I represent to them that their articles are not portable, nor of fading color, and as there is no heat nor water in the building, I cannot use them, so I shall not touch them. I ask them not to force me to exhibit in a Minnesota bathroom the plumbers' toilet articles including one sponge at $2.00, from Philadelphia. I am a Philadelphian as well as Duluthian, the rug, the furniture, the linens.

In vain I ask them to join, and so be little experts to them; in vain I suggest their renting, if they do not want to buy, the various articles I want to show. In vain I ask what their form of architecture is; they find their way to a Minnesota bathroom the plumbers' toilet articles including one sponge at $2.00, from Philadelphia. I am a Philadelphian as well as Duluthian, the rug, the furniture, the linens.

But the Household Economic space in the Evening Herald to which it owes its strongest life is filled to its limit. Another portion must describe its home. E. R. MENDENHALL.

Some of the Camping Grounds That Can be Found Within a Short Distance of Duluth.

Deerwood, Knife River, Spirit Lake, Pike Lake and Lake Vermilion are All Inviting Spots.

The Story of a Member of the Trustful Fisherman's Association and His Little Deception.

With the warm summer days comes the thought of camps in the cool and shady woods by the blue waters of the lovely lake or the rushing river. Where to camp is the question. Within a short distance of Duluth may be found camping grounds that cannot fail to suit tastes. Isle Royale is of course, the grandest place of all and its attractions greater than many nearer points, but its distance from the city prevents many from visiting this romantic spot.

Deerwood is the family camping ground, easily reached and affording one of the most delightful spots, where the long summer days may be passed in the enjoyment of an outdoor life, to be found in all the great Northwest. Knife river is a convenient place to camp and enjoy the pleasures of the woods, lake and stream fishing and hunting for Lake Superior agates. It is near to town, several trains a day both ways and affords a charming spot where family parties may pitch their tents or make their home at Capt. Anderson's little hotel at a most reasonable outlay.

and say that the fish stories sent out from the lakes up the road are true and do not fully express the number and size of the game fish that may be found in these waters.

Messrs. Al. Pearsons, Wilson and Knauft went up Knife river the first of the week and got 220 trout.

Messrs. Trumble and Bywater came in from Deerwood Monday. They report a great time and among their catch were 52 black bass and croppies.

A prominent member of the Trustful Fisherman's association was around the other day displaying a 2 1/2 pound rainbow trout which he claimed to have caught at the mouth of Tischer's creek. He told so many different stories about it that Detective Hayden was engaged by the association to run it down and the result was that the fish was traced back to the Boob Packing company's office where the trustful fisherman had bought it for 25 cents per pound. It was from Isle Royale, where nearly all of the large trout come from. The Boob fishermen do not make any effort to net them, but frequently find large ones in their lake trout and white-fish toils. The marks left by the nets cannot be obliterated and the trustful angler who tries to pass one off as caught by himself gets caught every time.

Alex. M. Hay, of West Superior, announces that his hotel on Isle Royale will be open in a few days. He has named it the Sportsman's Inn, and its location is near the copper mines at Washington Harbor.

Prof. Drummond will spend his vacation in Canada, a fishing trip up the Nipigon, whose fame as a trout stream is world-wide, being his chief object.

A large number of Duluthians spent Saturday and Sunday up the St. Louis river, but the strings of fish they brought back were composed entirely of perch, rock bass and sun fish. Where once the wall-eyed pike and grass picker fairly swarmed and the black bass was found in fair number, they now seem to have disappeared. Sawdust and illegal netting has caused the change.

The restaurants were well supplied with brook trout this week and for 40c a person could have a meal fit for a king's feast. Most of the trout came from the little streams down the Omaha road, near Balsam and other little white stations, which are favorite resorts for rail-road men when they can take a day off.

It is stated that nearly the entire debt of the company is included in the judgment. This is secured by the property of the company. The failure is caused by general depression in business.

THE LITERARY ARENA

Professor Lanciani Discusses Brightly and Concisely Many New Facts in Regard to the Pantheon.

The First Issue of McClure's Magazine Has Appeared and is a Surprise in Many Ways.

William Winter Completing a Biography of Booth on Which He Has Been Long Working.

Rodolfo Lanciani's new paper, called "New Facts Concerning the Pantheon," which opens the June number of the Atlantic Monthly, is another instance of this writer's power in presenting in a living and entertaining way a subject which has great possibilities of dryness. Most people who should endeavor to give facts, however new, about the Pantheon, would inevitably lapse into dullness and prosiness; but Professor Lanciani tells so brightly and concisely what he has to tell, that one wishes discoveries in Rome were more frequent if they could be reported by so clever a writer. A paper which should be read in connection with this is J. Irving Mann's "Reminiscences of Dr. Schlegelmann."

One of the papers which will be looked at with more than ordinary interest is "The Picture of Local Libraries," a thoughtful article on "The Educational Trend of the Northwest," by D. L. Kiehl, notes the progressive steps which have lately been taken in respect of education in this part of the country. Professor C. O. Whitman, of Chicago university has well-considered paper, "A Maine Observatory: The Prime Need of American Biology," and makes, as might be supposed, a strong plea for its establishment.

"The Pygmies of Africa" is an interesting paper by George Catcott, and "The Hayes Administration," by General Jacob Denson Cox, is an article of unusual value. "A National Vice," by H. C. Marvin, and "Kamul," by Agnes Repplier, may fully be spoken of together. There are several other excellent articles by well-known authors—Houghton, Milne & Co., Boston.

The first issue of McClure's Magazine is a surprise in many ways. The cover is designed by the famous artist, Will H. Low, and, unlike the covers of most new magazines, easily ranks in beauty and effectiveness with the best magazines. Another surprise in the magazine is its price, it is just half that of its older rivals. Then, it is very fully illustrated. This first issue contains ninety-five pictures and fourteen feature articles. In its typography the magazine is extremely fortunate, it has clearly printed, readable page.

Perhaps the greatest novelty, however, in the magazine, aside from its extraordinary price, is a real dialogue between William Dean Howells and Professor H. H. Boyesen. This is really the interview carried to perfection, and is, besides, an extraordinarily interesting article, in which Mr. Howells in a frank manner tells more of his early struggles and literary career. Professor Henry Drummond contributes a paper on "Where Man Got His Ears," that is a perfect study in evolution.

The veteran journalist, De Biewitz has written an article which will provoke thought and discussion on Europe at the present moment, in which he characterizes the men and measures of the nations of Europe. The personal interest in the magazine is marked. Besides the "Real Conversation," which is really an autobiographical interview with Mr. Howells, there are twenty-three portraits of four famous people at different ages of their lives. Mr. Howells being honored with nine. The articles describing "A Day in Gladstone's Life" and "Cordell Leisep's at the Present Moment," are full of great personal interest. The new department, "The Edge of the Future," contains some very interesting matter, gained by interviews with Thomas A. Edison and Alexander Graham Bell.

The contributors for the next two or three issues by Stevenson, Kipling, Thomas Hardy, George Thackeray, Conan Doyle, W. D. Howells, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward, Henry M. Stanley, Archibald Forbes, and a series of interviews with Jules Verne, Archibald Forbes, Alphonse Daudet, Emile Zola, Camille Flammarion; in short, the contributors to the magazine embrace nearly all of the greatest names in literature. This magazine, with the clearness of illustration, the timeliness and interest of the articles and its extraordinary price, which is only $1.50 a year, and is not a copy, make the advent of McClure's Magazine noteworthy. Published by S. S. McClure, limited, 715-717 Broadway, New York City.

There is not a dull or uninteresting line in G. W. Taub's "A Medius in Love," published by W. D. Rowland, New York. It is a story of student life in Vienna and among the characters are numbered several Russians, one American, two Englishmen, half a dozen Hungarians and Poles, a considerable number of Italians and a Dalmatian who claimed to be a direct descendant from the Romans accompanying Diocletian in his Dalmatian retirement. The author gives one a very entertaining view of student life, twined around a plot of rare merit and well told. A vein of romance adds zest to the tale.

The current number of the Engineering Magazine (New York) is a notable paper for the practical character of its articles, and for the ability of its contributors, who are fairly representative of the various departments in the field covered by this extremely practical publication. "Great Britain at the World's Fair" is treated by one of the British royal commissioners, the great General Sir John Lubbock, who is a Dalmatian, who claimed to be a direct descendant from the Romans accompanying Diocletian in his Dalmatian retirement. The author gives one a very entertaining view of student life, twined around a plot of rare merit and well told. A vein of romance adds zest to the tale.

fully described by an engineer who has constructed some of the largest elevators in the world, including those in the Eiffel tower, and the contrast of English and American railways is continued by an eminent English authority on this subject. The Trans-Siberian railway is described from material furnished by Russian engineers engaged on the work. "What Will the Democrats Do?" is a forecast of tariff legislation in the United States by a prominent member of congress. The editorial departments devoted to electricity, mechanics, architecture, industrial chemistry, and mining and metallurgy are conducted with the usual ability by eminent experts in each branch of work. Finally, "Current Technical Literature" is a guide to the contents of the leading journals of the month at home and abroad. Published from the World building, New York City.

"La Patrona's Plot," by J. H. A. "Dexter," is one of the best of those very interesting stories of life in the cut-throat way corners of Mexico which the Argonaut has been printing lately. It appears in the issue of June 12, and tells how an American, traveling with a party of mountaineers, is made to play a part in the plot by which a strangely beautiful Mexican girl is sacrificed to a rival who has come to marry her lover.

William Winter, with Mr. Booth's knowledge and approval, has been for some time past engaged in the preparation of a biography of Edwin Booth. In addition to a sketch of his life there will be descriptions of the various characters in which he has appeared, including among others, Hamlet, Macbeth, King Lear, Richard III, Brutus, Voltaire, Richelieu, Don Caesar and Claude Melnotte. The work will be published under the title of "The Life and Art of Edwin Booth," in two editions, one uniform with the two volumes of "Shadows of the Stage," already published, the other a large paper limited edition with illustrations taken from portraits of Mr. Booth in his principal characters.

Those who enjoyed Dr. W. D. Eastlake's delightful account of "Japanese House Life" in the Popular Science Monthly for May will welcome a sketch of the "Moral Life of the Japanese" from the same pen. The article sets forth the actual attitude of this people toward various matters of right and wrong, and is fully illustrated with pictures of temples, priests and sacred places.

Outline for June opens with a seasonable and most interesting sketch of "Black Bass Fishing." The author, Francis J. Haggen, knows the many peculiarities of this hard fighting game fish, and writes so pleasantly of his experiences, that one longs to hie away to rushing stream and sparkling lake in quest of bass. Many other attractive features of text and illustration complete a delightful number.

The second paper on the "Kings and Queens of the Turf" in Outline for June, completes one of the most valuable works on the light harness horse that has yet been printed carefully following the breeding, development and notable performances of every record breaker from the first appearance of Hambletonian's famous brown son, Dexter, to the closing triumphs of the phenomenal Kremlin and Stamboul in 1892. The article is illustrated from specially painted portraits of the "Kings" and is unique in being an accurate history of all champion trotting stallions, presents many new and most interesting anecdotes of turf matters of interest to all horsemen. It will be followed in July by a history of "Famous Racers."

Blue and Gray, the June number of which is just at hand, fills the expectations raised by previous numbers, and the present issue, in point of contents and illustrations, is without doubt the best that has yet been published.

The fiction includes "Larnac's Bangs," a really good Southern war story, the strong points dramatically brought out, and the interest finely kept to the end. "The Deserter" is a strongly-written sketch of an incident of war as seen by, without imposing any restrictions whatever with respect to occupation, residence, travel, habits of life or manner of death. Its

THE AUDITORIUM AT CHICAGO.

The Spectacle, "America" is Drawing Large Audiences.

As anticipated and predicted, the great historic spectacle, "America," produced at the Auditorium by Abbey, Schofield & Grau under the direction of Irme Kiralfy, has taken and will hold the lead in the amusements of Chicago during the World's fair. From the opening night it has been a deserved success, nothing to equal it ever having been seen or attempted. The ballets, scenery, costumes, scenic effect—all is on such elaborate and magnificent scale that description can only serve as crude outline of the reality.

One attractive feature of "America" is that the performance is given in the Auditorium, the most perfect theater in the country. It is known as the largest, best equipped, most magnificent and safest theater in existence, and is absolutely fire proof. Notwithstanding the magnitude of the production and the popularity already attained by "America," there is no advance in prices, and the popular prices will be maintained through the season. Manager Adams of the Auditorium announces performances every night except Sunday, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

It is easy to steal or ring watches from the pocket. The thief gets the watch in one hand, the chain in the other and gives a short, quick jerk—the ring slips off the watch stem, and away goes the watch, leaving the victim only the chain.

that little game:

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and its interior grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

LIFE INSURANCE

POLICY

Been Waiting For.

In the early days of Life Insurance it was thought necessary to enumber the policy contract with numerous conditions and restrictions, and not a few of these have been continued until the present time. These limitations have necessarily made the contract more burdensome and less valuable than it would have otherwise been, and caused much annoyance and no little loss to policy-holders. Progress in knowledge, in morals, and in business methods has, indeed, brought some improvements, the most notable being the non-forfeiture provisions first introduced by THE NEW YORK LIFE in 1860.

This company believes the time has now come for another radical departure from old methods, with respect to limitations on the conduct of the insured.

Life Insurance is made or possible only on the supposition that, to the mass of mankind, life is more precious than money. Yet its history shows a certain timidity, or reluctance on the part of the companies to accept this principle to the fullest extent.

The result has been that life policies have never furnished immediate, complete, and unquestionable protection.

RAISING HORSES AND CHILDREN.

State Superintendent Wells, of Wisconsin, saw nothing surprising in the fact that farmers take more apparent interest in their colts and calves than in their children. Stock well cared for weighs more and brings more per pound than stock neglected. But how a fairly educated boy or girl may become more productive and valuable it is not so easy for the average farmer to see. Without intending any harm either to themselves or their children, is it not a fact that many parents give more attention to their "marketables" than to the perfection of the man or the woman in their children? Even if you are preparing your children only for "market," so to speak, THAT IS, to bring the most money for their efforts in life, will you not increase their chances by giving daily attention to the habits of their minds? For after all it is the different qualities of thought that makes the vast difference in men's fortunes. Manual labor alone never made any man wealthy. But would you not like for your CHILDREN as well as your Horses and Cattle to appear well? Then you must encourage them in habits of mental industry. They must learn something every day, and that leads to culture and education. Does not the cultured mind beam forth in the eyes and countenance of a man or woman? These the whole world call beautiful, no matter what shape the face. It should be the ambition of each father and mother to bequeath to the world such boys and girls as will be (1) self-supporting men and women, (2) one step in advance of their parents in the perfection and beauty of the mind. The Minneapolis Tribune's great ambition is to contribute to such advance, and to the end that your children may have every modern advantage, it offers to secure for you that great reference library, THE ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA.

FOR ONLY TEN CENTS A DAY. Without this great treasury of human thought your children will be handicapped in their race for success in this advanced age.

The Minneapolis Tribune's Unparalleled Offer

Was made a short time ago, and it was the intention to continue this special offer only a few weeks, but the prompt and concerted action of our esteemed patrons has put the TRIBUNE management to so little trouble in the distribution that we have concluded to extend this unprecedented opportunity to secure the King of Encyclopedias

A SHORT TIME LONGER.

Some people would not take the wisdom of King Solomon as a gracious gift. But most people are ambitious to learn and to know. Some people will not get in on this wonderful chance to get the Britannica, which is the Repository of the wisdom of all the Kings of Knowledge the world has ever known. It is the Ultimatum of Master Genius. It is a Library you will be proud of if you own it, and not to own it is about as unpopular as not to own the Bible. Do not put off a good thing. Come or send at once and have your name placed on this long Roll of Honor. IN A SHORT TIME the offer will be closed and not another order will be accepted. Now is the time to make sure of this indispensable Set of Books at Wholesale Club Rates. If you put it off you will have to pay the publisher's price. If you secure it now the TRIBUNE volunteers to give you the benefit of the wholesale reduction.

Read Carefully Our Proposition and Bear in Mind That This Special Offer Will Remain Open for a Very Short Time Longer.

On receipt of FIVE DOLLARS we will forward to any subscriber the complete set of 25 volumes of our New Wide-margin Edition of the ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA, the balance to be paid at the rate of $5 monthly, or we will send one-half the set at once on receipt of THREE DOLLARS, and the balance to be paid at the rate of 10 cents per day, payable monthly. The remainder of the set will be sent promptly as soon as the first half of the set is paid for.

This edition is printed on a fine quality of paper and is elegantly and substantially bound in heavy silk cloth. The lids of the back are of stout oakum board, which will hold and is more strongly bound than the edition which is sold for $8 per volume. We will guarantee a work to be precisely as represented in every way. Readers who desire to examine before ordering the entire set can have a volume sent for examination. A beautiful Dime Savings Bank will be sent to each subscriber for the books, wherein you can deposit the dime a day.

The price of the Edition to those who take advantage of this special offer is only $1.98 per volume for the Twenty-five Volumes.

This Elegant Library Can be Seen At

ARE WIPED OUT OF EXISTENCE.

The Town on the Mesaba Range Suffered Terrible Destruction by the Fierce Forest Fires that Bore Down Upon Them Yesterday and Swept Almost Everything in Their Path.

Virginia Was All Burned Down With the Exception of Six Small Houses, Including the Depot, and Two Thousand People Were Forced to Flee from Their Rapidly-Burning Homes.

Several Hundred Women and Children Were Brought in Box and Ore Cars to Duluth, and Provisions and Tents Were Sent from Here to the Men Who Remained at Virginia.

Merritt Was Also Wiped Out, and Mountain Iron and Biwabik Suffered From the Flames, but Their Loss is Not as Great as Virginia's—Fears that Several People Lost Their Lives.

Yesterday afternoon telegrams were received in Duluth at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern office, by O. D. Kinney and others announcing the total destruction of the flourishing and enterprising town of Virginia and that Mountain Iron was threatened and liable to go at any moment. Later telegrams indicated that the latter town was destroyed and Merritt and Biwabik probably. Shortly afterward all telegraphic communication was shut off and the extent of the fire's fearful work could only be conjectured.

The whole range seems to have broken out in a mass of fire. The forest fires have been raging for weeks, and on a number of occasions the inhabitants of the towns have been obliged to turn out and fight their homes. The real danger has not been appreciated here in Duluth from the fact that the exact condition of affairs has never been reported; indeed the town residents did not appreciate their own danger. At Virginia a brush fire, accompanied by a constantly shifting wind, took in the southern edge of the town's clearing Wednesday afternoon. The firemen kept a steady stream on for several hours, and no imminent danger of its getting beyond control was apparent at any time. On Saturday afternoon activities were received here which brought the first indications of anything serious. General Manager Philbin again telegraphed to Northern road, immediately went up to look after the road's interests and render such assistance as he could.

General Manager Philbin telegraphed. The first news came from Mr. Philbin about 2 o'clock yesterday by President Alfred Merritt and it was startling "to say the least." The dispatch read: "Men, women and children loaded on ore cars ready to leave. For God's sake send us aid."

Later on other telegrams and word was sent in that several hundred women and children had been loaded on ore and freight cars at Mountain Iron and Virginia and had been taken down to Oll Junction. Great confusion was reported and the necessity for sending supplies was urged. At 6:15 o'clock General Manager Philbin again telegraphed: "The whole town of Virginia, including freight house, is burned. We are bringing women and children here and have two engines trying to get cars out. To Mr. Fisher of the Duluth & Winnipeg to be prepared to let us send women and children to Duluth by special."

Immediately upon the receipt of the first telegram calling for supplies arrangements were made to send up a special train. The whole town of Virginia was thrown open and provisions loaded on cars for shipment. Restaurants were given large orders for sandwiches, all the tents that could be picked up were sent and every measure taken that was possible.

The Iron Range Hears. Early in the afternoon President Greatsinger, of the Iron Range railroad, was advised that the fire had reached Biwabik and was threatening the place and Merritt as well. The news from here was rather uncertain and later advice indicated that Merritt was destroyed and Biwabik was severely threatened. President Greatsinger immediately made preparations to send relief. A box car was run down to the Stone-Ordean company's wharf at Duluth and was loaded with crackers, flour, meat, coffee and other necessities of life. The Mesaba road's advice was to show that its special would be obstructed by fires near Iron Junction and the supplies first gathered were loaded on the Iron Range special. It left about 9 o'clock and accompanying it were President Greatsinger, O. D. Kinney, J. D. Boyd, F. C. and W. O. Winston, of Minneapolis, John B. Wetmore, H. S. Moody, whose wife is visiting at Virginia, and a number of newspaper men. The intention was to run to Biwabik and then over the Mesaba & Northern tracks to Virginia, if possible, or if not to run over the Iron Range tracks through McKinley to Virginia. From that point the supplies can easily be carried across unless fire should interfere.

Another Special Goes Out. During the night Mesaba road officials were advised that trains could get through all right. At 1:30 o'clock the train bearing the women and children arrived at the depot here. At 3 o'clock a special started over the road and was prepared to make the run in quick time. This like the other was loaded down with provisions and supplies of every description, tents, bedding, clothes, shoes, etc.

Citizens to the Relief. The news had no sooner become general in Duluth than the citizens were aroused to the necessities of the situation and measures for relief were at once taken. President Spencer of the council notified those actively at work that the city could do for them on June 20, and a meeting of the council was called for this morning to take such measures as would seem expedient. A call for a meeting to be held at the chamber of commerce this afternoon at 2 o'clock to take steps toward affording relief was at once circulated and was generally signed. There is little to be feared upon the score of starvation for all appeals for aid have been readily and quickly responded to. The cost or expense has become an entirely secondary consideration.

THE VIRGINIA LOSSES. No definite information can be obtained but they are large. The losses are hard to determine so indefinite is the information at hand. But three or four buildings remain standing in Virginia, the population of which was about 2000. It was a flourishing town, but like all new mining places, was thrown together in a hurry and the buildings were nearly all of a cheap class and burned like straw. The destruction of the electric lighting plant is probably the heaviest loss. O. D. Kinney will suffer from this as well as from many other sources. Upon one end of the lake is situated the Payson saw mill and on the other John Owen's mill. Both are believed to be destroyed.

The Bank of Virginia was provided with a waterproof vault and Mr. Kinney was of but little avail against the rush of the flames and the plant was destroyed early in the afternoon.

Virginia contained about forty saloons, the Virginia and McGarry hotels and a large number of stores. Among the heavy losers are: E. W. Coons & Co., furniture; Alex. Nelson & Co., bakers; S. Johnson & Co., grocers; Soren & Solberg, druggists; H. E. Hiel, boots and shoes; W. Tikander, boots and shoes; F. N. Maas & Co., hardware; I. Summerfield, clothing; J. Roman, clothing; W. B. Pratt, general store; A. C. Gilman, lumber and fuel; E. H. Chittenden, jeweler; Virginia Lumber company; W. B. Mitchell, drug store; J. F. Michan, tailor; Prescott & Mars Co., hardware; A. Swanson & Co., furniture; M. Schenckel, clothing; Madill & Moriarty, bakers; J. J. Eddy, dry goods. Among the real estate agents whose places of business are gone are: Kennedy & Gleason, Lochman & Boyle, George E. Oster, John W. Weber, Virginia Improvement company, Costin & Connell. A number of lawyers and doctors also sustained losses.

There was considerable insurance carried in Virginia but this was the only town on the range that carried much of it, being the only one that had a water works system. Other towns carried some but the companies cut down the risks when the spring and dry weather came. The loss to Virginia will probably run up as high as $500,000.

AT MOUNTAIN IRON. J. Adam Bede is Not Alarmed as to the Fate of the Town.

J. Adam Bede came down from Mountain Iron Saturday evening. When asked this morning as to the town's fate he was taking a hopeful view of it and said that he did not believe that it was burned. The town is built in the center of a clearing to the northeast and in the edge of the woods are situated the Mountain Iron laboratory, mess house and office building, and the dwellings of Roscoe Merritt, James Cook, manager of the Lawrence mine, H. N. Robinson and Uno Sobieski. On the west side, and in the woods is the Mesaba road depot, A. J. Byrnes' lumber yard, and the homes of Ed. Beach and William Sharp. Mr. Bede thinks that some of these buildings on the edge of the woods may have been destroyed.

He also says that there is but little insurance carried at Mountain Iron owing to the excessively high rates. Laut & McNaughton, general merchants, carry a stock of about $10,000 and have $2,000 insurance. Murphy Bros. have a stock of about $8,000. The population of Mountain Iron is about 600.

J. Adam says if he was there he would have saved his printing outfit but he is uncertain now whether it is a mass of molten metal or not. He would have dug a hole and buried it he says had he been there.

MERRITT WIPED OUT. The Town Has Been Wholly Destroyed by the Fire.

Two HARBORS, Minn., June 19.—[Special to The Herald.]—President Greatsinger of the Duluth & Iron Range has just received a telegram from Summit that the town of Merritt is wholly wiped out. Summit is three miles from Biwabik.

SCENES AT THE DEPOT. Anxious Watchers For Trains From the Range.

At 10 o'clock this morning a large crowd collected at the Union depot to meet a train from the destroyed homes, expected at that hour. In the crowd on the steps near the gates were several Scandinavian women and their faces were a study in anxiety, awaiting in mute patience the sight of arrival or the news of disaster to friends or relatives.

At the same hour in the emigrants waiting room were thirty children by actual count, all under five years of age. The cries of the babies made the place noisy to the extreme. It was a touching sight to see many of the little ones sleeping among the cries of the smaller infants and the "sh sh sh" of worried mothers.

Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Barber, of the Ladies Relief society, were still busy giving the unfortunate all possible aid. A. R. Scott, a guest at Mr. Vance's, kept a record of the supplies furnished since 9 o'clock and it is as follows: One hundred pieces of clothing, 20 pairs of shoes, 20 hats and 2 bolts of cloth.

One child, two months' old, was taken at 9:30 to St. Mary's hospital and is not expected to live. Several of the women are in a delicate condition. The men of this party which arrived here at 9 o'clock remained but a short time at the station and then went in the city on various errands.

Mrs. Westling, aged about 30, well dressed in black, her hair worn up, was the station, having arrived on one of the early morning relief trains. Her husband was at Virginia, their home, where he was a watchmaker, and his loss, she says will be $500. Mrs. Westling said: "The fire came from Mountain Iron between 11 and 12 o'clock. Inside of fifteen minutes the town was destroyed. I heard of no deaths, but there was one man burned about the body, and face was taken to the ice house and attended by Dr. Bertoldi. The freight train was burned."

In an interview at the station Dr. Sailer, of old Swedish origin, said: "We offer our gymnasium and other rooms, but it has been decided to use the Howard block. This is the worst calamity which ever visited our vicinity and I am sure that all possible charity will be extended to the sufferers by the people of Duluth."

J. A. Boggs at 11 o'clock, with G. S. Mattison, who is acquainted with six languages, was at the station awaiting the arrival of a train from the range and with them were Mrs. Kenny, Miss Kenny, W. B. Wells, Mrs. Butchart, Miss Butchart, Mr. Leland and E. J. Butchart. When the train arrives the sufferers will be taken to the Howard block on Michigan street.

THEY LOST HEAVILY. Prescott, Mars & Co., Hardware Men. Suffered a Loss of $15,000.

W. R. Mars, of the firm of Prescott, Mars & Co., came down to West Duluth from Virginia last night and reports a total loss of their hardware stock, buildings, etc. Their loss is estimated at $15,000 with $7,000 insurance. Besides the stock in the store the company had just received several car loads of nails, pumps and other material which were also consumed. A full car load of the Prescott steam mining pumps, manufactured at the Marinette works and valued at about $500 each, were among the losses. The firm is not discouraged, however, but tomorrow erect a tent, ship the necessary provisions and commence rebuilding at once.

RELIEF MEASURES. Several Thousand Dollars Already in the Committee's Hands.

Early this morning the following circular was distributed: Range Sufferers! Citizens of Duluth! Cook food and gather old clothing and bedding and deliver at relief headquarters, 208 West Superior street. Several thousand suffering. Be prompt.

COMMITTEE. The above committee consists of: W. W. Butchart, appointed by the county commissioners; Alderman Cox, appointed by the present of council; James T. Hale, S. R. Payne, appointed by the Duluth, Missabe and Northern railroad Co. This committee appointed Jesse Norton secretary and headquarters were established in the Buchanan block, No 208 West Superior street.

Already the contributions amount to $3000, the council the county commissioners and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company each $1000. The committee secured the Howard block, 11 East Michigan street where the sufferers will be fed and clothed. The committee expect many contributions from citizens, beside donations for those on the range.

MORE DEFINITE NEWS. The Mesaba Road Officials Receive Several Telegrams.

About 10 o'clock this morning several dispatches were received at the Mesaba road's office giving more definite information than any previously received. At Virginia there are not over ten houses standing. The Mesaba road's passenger depot and water tank are all right but the freight depot is destroyed. At Mountain Iron, the little Methodist church and two or three dwellings on the south side, on the edge of the woods, are burned.

At Biwabik the Iron Range road's depot and several cars are destroyed but the balance of the town is all right although severely threatened.

Merritt and Mesaba stations are cleaned out. The Mesaba Lumber company had heard nothing from its mill at Mesaba station up to 10 o'clock and William McKinley thinks it is safe.

THE FIRE AT MERRITT. The Town is Completely Wiped Out as Near as Can Be Learned.

The town of Merritt is thoroughly cleaned out according to the most reliable reports. Fires have been raging around there for several days. The exact number of the Mesaba Range published on Thursday said: "Nearly all the wood on the Cincinnati forty belonging to the Standard Ore company has been burned during the past three days. That portion of the sidewalk across the forty which was laid by the citizens of Merritt was also nearly destroyed. The fire department turned out every day, but the fire always reached the sidewalk first. The loss to the Standard Ore company is considerable."

"The people of Biwabik also have been compelled to fight fire every day this week, and at one time it was believed that the town would go up in smoke. The citizens fought bravely, however, and conquered in the end. Just before the Range went to press about 200 citizens went out to fight a forest fire which was running in the direction of the Hecla Powder company's magazine near the Cincinnati mine."

When the high wind came up yesterday the fire swept right through carrying everything before it. Merritt was closely built, the buildings being frame and cheaply built.

It has not been learned whether the powder magazine blew up or not. Alex. Bates, agent for the Hecla company telegraphed yesterday to have it covered with mud and if then danger was still imminent to remove the explosives and lower them into the shaft in the mine.

A HEROIC RESCUE. A Sick Man Saves a Woman and Will Probably Die Himself.

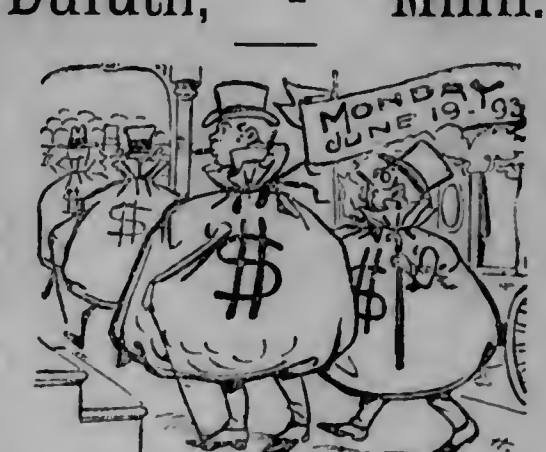

Shortly after 11 o'clock three cars of refugees arrived at the Union depot, but many of them left immediately, being able to take care of themselves. Ed Kelly, a variety actor, said that there were not ten buildings left in Virginia. Bradley Taylor was taken off the train suffering from burns on his body, arms and face. He was stripped to the waist and his wounds were covered with cotton. He had some medical attendance at Virginia. Here he was received by Dr. Magic and taken to St. Mary's hospital. He received his injuries in rescuing a woman from a burning building and his conduct was remarkable and heroic in the extreme. He was confined in a house with fever and when the fire broke

IRON RIVER BURNED.

For the Second Time Has the Little Wisconsin Lumbering Town Been Destroyed by Fire.

The Town Had a Population of About Two Thousand and All Are Now Homeless.

Forest Fires Raging Throughout All of Northern Wisconsin and Other Towns in Great Danger.

ASHLAND, Wis., June 19.—Iron River, the thriving lumbering town about twenty miles from here on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road, has again been wiped out by a fire, which started yesterday morning. The fire caught on the outskirts of the village from forest fires, destroying the new school house, the Congregational and Catholic churches and Hesse & Hutton's big warehouse. The fire department fought the flames steadily but the fire gained on them and soon the residence portion of the town was blazing and then the business section followed. Help was sent for to Ashland, and a special train sent out with a detachment of the fire department from here. At Moquah the special jumped the track and caused several hours delay, but no one was injured. It was only a year ago that Iron River was entirely destroyed by fire. The town had just completed a system of water works. Several people were brought to Ashland last night who had been badly burned, narrowly escaping the flames. A population of 2,000 all of whom have been rendered homeless. It is believed the whole town is gone, as the telegraph wires are all down owing to the poles being swept away by the fires, and as the last reports indicated that nothing could be saved from the onward rush of the flames.

Forest fires have been raging all through Northern Wisconsin, causing hoar to sweep over this section like hot winds on a desert. Washburn had a close shave and the fire will be a heavy sweep in and about White River. It is likely to sweep on south and burn millions of feet of standing pine. A bad fire is reported coming at North York. Ten cars on a siding were burned. A special was sent out last evening to help fight flames and save trestles and bridges along the railroad line.

A SHORT LIVED STRIKE.

The Men on the Twin City Electric Systems Went Out.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19.—For ten hours yesterday the street railway systems of Minneapolis and St. Paul were without power. Some few days ago the company issued an order requiring the employees to sign a contract or else quit their employment. In this contract was a clause rendering the drivers and conductors personally liable for all damages to persons or property. This was objected to by the men and they were given the alternative of signing or quitting. Not one of the 1,600 men employed in Minneapolis signed the document. At a meeting Saturday evening the men decided to quit and accordingly no attempts were made to run cars.

Mayor Fustis took a hand in the matter and after considerable discussion obtained a withdrawal of the obnoxious contract and at 3 o'clock regular traffic was resumed. The action of the mayor is warmly commended for had not some decision been arrived at there would have been serious trouble. There was no violence. The men simply quit and went home and did not attempt to prevent the company from running cars if they could secure men. This the company did not attempt to do.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Various forces are produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to secure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the tracing of the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, the branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability, over-exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organs themselves instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., L. L. M., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified by thousands. In every part of the Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, fainting, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold in a perfectly guaranteed by all druggists, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of one $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

OUR ORES ON EXHIBIT.

Mineral Experts at Chicago Pronounce Minnesota Iron the Best.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUND, CHICAGO, June 19.—Minnesota's mineral exhibit at the fair has received a high compliment. Mineral experts from New South Wales and California, while on a visit to the exhibit the other day, requested that Capt. Morcom, who is in charge of the North Star state's pavilion, give them samples of iron ore. They declared that the Minnesota iron ore was the best that they had seen anywhere in the mining building and they wanted some to take home with them.

Minnesota's mineral exhibit is chiefly of iron; there are few other minerals in the state. It occupies a space of 50 by 40 feet in the northeastern corner of the building, and is free from that overcrowding which seems to be the fault of the other exhibits in the building. Both the Vermilion and the Mesaba ranges are comprehensively represented. The most conspicuous feature of the Vermilion range's display is a model of the Chandler mine at Ely, together with a working plan of the mine which hangs suspended on a wall near by. A pyramid of hard iron from the same mine stands near by. The Minnesota mine at Soudan on the same range is represented by an oil painting showing its interior workings in perspective. It also contributes a pyramid of hard iron. The Mesaba and the Zenith mines also have exhibits.

The soft ores of the now famous Mesaba range are shown in a very tasteful and conspicuous manner in glass cases that have been placed around the sides of the pavilion. Eighteen mines are represented.

In addition to their iron display, Minnesota shows in the same space slate from Cloquet and brick and clay from many counties of the state. There is also building stone from every section of the state that is noted for its quality. A handsome arch of various samples of building stone has been erected over the entrance to the pavilion in which are blocks of stone from Winona, Frontenac, Kettle River, Maikato, Minneapolis, St. Cloud, Ortonville, Duluth, Rockville, Ispar, Kasson, Monticello, and Red Wing. In another portion of the exhibit are placed beautiful samples of hard and natural polished Jasper and a case containing an amethyst rock weighing 300 pounds, the latter mineral having been found near Duluth. Still another case contains a collection of iron and copper specimens from Dr. Fred Barrett, of Tower. Professor Winchell's geological and natural history survey of Minnesota in the form of maps adorn the walls, over which are the suspended photographs of all the mines and quarries of the state. Professor Winchell's maps are supplemented by 10 geological specimens of the state in the form of various rocks and ore.

Minnesota's mineral superintendent is Capt. E. Morcom, of Tower, the veteran mining expert of the state. Capt. Morcom went overland 100 miles in 1881 with a force of 130 men (16 families) to open up the iron mines at Tower. He and his men mined and shipped out car loads of iron ore ever since. The hardships they endured for six months can best be imagined. That year 62,000 tons of ore were shipped, all in two months' time. Today if the railroads and docks were in complete working order at the head of the lake there could be shipped 3,000, 000 tons.

The large temporary screen that was erected for the purpose of shielding the artists at work on the main north side map has been removed, and the throngs which have been passing in and out of the Minnesota building are now given an opportunity to inspect this fine reproduction of Minnesota's great lake port city. This map is the most extensive of any of its character displayed at the fair, and is pronounced an exceptionally fine piece of work from an artistic standpoint.

FORGERY BY WHOLESALE.

A Young Man Who Carried It On on a Large Scale.

RICHMOND CENTER, Wis., June 19.—W. E. McKinney, a well-known young man living in the town of Richmond, is in jail here on a charge of forgery. The forgeries have been going on for years, and were only brought to light by the maturing of certain notes which supposed signers were called upon to pay. It is alleged by the authorities that he forged his parent's name to a deed to a valuable farm owned by Elder McKinney and then mortgaged the place for $750 to McIntyre & Elston, of Muskego. The Richmond County bank holds a note for $621, purporting to bear the name of J. S. McKinney, the young man's father, and W. R. Coombs as signers.

The State bank of Roscobel had a note for $300 purporting to be signed by W. E. McKinney and endorsed by J. S. McKinney, which was a forgery like the rest, but was settled, as was a note for $350 on the State bank of this city. Other smaller notes are coming to light, and the total amount of the forgeries now foots up to nearly $2500. McKinney's trial will take place at the September term of the circuit court.

HE STABBED HIS FATHER.

A Sixteen-Year-Old Boy Charged With a Murder in Ohio.

TOLEDO, O., June 19.—Early yesterday morning Miller F. Long, a well-to-do farmer near Napoleon, O., died from the effects of a stab wound received at the hands of his 16-year-old son Emanuel. The father and son had been having some words. The boy wanted to play and the father directed him to drop some whittling he was doing with a jackknife and go to work. The lad persisted and the father took hold of him to make him obey. The boy dropped the stick he was whittling, and a scuffle ensued. A few minutes later the father staggered into the kitchen before his wife and fell dead on the floor, blood rushing from a small wound in his breast. No one saw the encounter between father and son. The boy says he did not mean to do it; in fact, did not know that he did. The lad will be arrested today after the funeral.

In view of what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for other cases, it is not reasonable to believe that it will also be of benefit to you?

A CHANGE IN POLICY.

Why the New Ruling Was Made in Regard to Terms of Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Congressman Baldwin Will Now Probably be Able to Secure More Offices for the Democracy.

Boss Doran, However, Is Not Very Anxious to Hurry the Republicans Out of Office.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—[Special to The Herald.]—Democrats in Minnesota who want office and who are not quite as ambitious as some of their brothers are probably very much pleased over the fact that Postmaster General Bissell has decided that there is an end to the terms of Republican fourth class postmasters. It will be remembered that a few weeks ago President Cleveland, through Postmaster General Bissell, announced to the faithful throughout the country that there was no expiration to the terms of fourth class postmasters. This meant that the only way in which the present Republican incumbents of fourth class post offices throughout the country could be displaced was by filing charges against them and proving that they were either horse thieves, murderers, bunco steers or criminals of this ilk.

The majority of Democratic congressmen who had any feeling of manhood in them refused to make charges against men whom they knew were honest, faithful, and competent to fill the offices which they had charge of. Matters went along for quite a period, and the postmaster general, through Mr. Maxwell, the fourth assistant, learned that the Democratic congressmen had taken no action whatever even towards making recommendations for vacancies in fourth class post offices. They were so angry over the ruling of the present administration in this matter that they decided in future to not even make recommendations for vacancies in fourth class post offices.

When this came to the ears of the present administration, of course, that it would be necessary to make another ruling and not long since Postmaster General Bissell gave to the public an interview stating that the terms of fourth class postmasters would expire four years from the time they were inducted into office. There is no longer any reason to doubt that the ruling will be rapid changes in this part of the government service and the Sixth District Democrats of Minnesota, who have hungered for such places, will no doubt find Major Baldwin ready and willing to forward their applications to Washington, to the man who is facetiously termed Headman Maxwell.

Up to this time, Congressman Baldwin, as is well known in the Sixth district and throughout the state of Minnesota, as well as not been able to secure the appointment of very many of his constituents to any offices whatever and especially to fourth class post offices. Places that have been looked upon as perquisites for congressmen who secure an election and who desire to be re-elected at the close of their terms. Without doubt, the ruling of Postmaster General Bissell will now get his working clothes on and within a few weeks the majority of the Republican incumbents in fourth class post offices in Minnesota will be classed among the "outs" and those faithful Democrats who worked for the election of Congressman Baldwin last year, will be classed as among the "ins."

In speaking of appointments, it brings to mind the fact that outside of Minnesota, there have been filled in Minnesota to very few Democrats in that state have as yet secured anything from this administration. The outlook at this time and of a change except in the fourth class post office appointments. It is becoming an established fact that Michael Doran, boss of the Minnesota Democrats, will be classed among the "outs" and those faithful Democrats and there is a likelihood that he will be some time yet before any change whatever is made in the important offices in Minnesota.

RAILROAD MEN ORGANIZE.

Pennsylvania Railroaders Will Take a Hand in It.

NEW YORK, June 19.—A Sun special from Scranton, Pa., says: An enthusiastic meeting of the railroad men of Pennsylvania was held in Hurlburt's hall in this city yesterday to organize a legislative body to represent the interests of the state. One hundred and eighty-six local lodges of the different brotherhoods were represented by delegates. G. M. Wallace, of this city, presided and the session was under the auspices of the Steam Railroad Men's union, which was organized to secure favorable legislation to employees. It now numbers 125,000 employees and has accomplished a great deal of work. Executive boards have already been organized in five states to investigate the history of the candidates for the legislature and ascertain their views on questions pertaining to railroad employees. Supreme President H. E. Chapin, of Newark, and Grand Secretary and Treasurer C. A. Keller, of Brooklyn, were present and delivered short addresses. General Master Workman Powderly also spoke. The following were elected members of the general executive board: Chairman, G. M. Wallace, Scranton; D. J. Pugh, Mauch Chunk; A. K. Halstead, Scranton; Theodore Young, Ashley; J. N. Veiter, Mauch Chunk.

The following was adopted: Resolved, that we, the railroad men of Pennsylvania in convention assembled, do hereby pledge to oppose every aspirant for office whose past record and expressed sentiments are not in favor of equal laws for all and just and proper legislation for our railroad employees.

THE QUESTION IS SETTLED.

The Sunday Fair Decision Accepted by All as Final.

CHICAGO, June 19.—The decision of the court of appeals on Saturday, that the local directory has power to open the World's fair on Sunday, settles the question finally. There will not likely be an appeal.

Chief Justice Fuller, who read the opinion, first devoted his attention to the contention of counsel for the government that the court of appeals had no jurisdiction in the premises, and after reviewing the arguments at some length, declared the motion to dismiss the appeal overruled. Coming down to the main question, the court took the ground that the appropriation of $2,500,000 in souvenir coins by the United States government could not possibly be construed as a charity, or as a charitable bequest. It was simply an appropriation for the assistance and benefit of the local corporation for the purpose of completing a work that affected the honor of the United States.

As to the right of the United States to the possession and control of the grounds, the court held that the local corporation was in actual and lawful possession and that this fact had been recognized by acts of the national legislature. The court repudiated the idea that the United States had any exclusive rights of authority in the premises and concluded that the declaration that no taxable grounds had been shown for exempting the case under hearing from the ordinary rules governing a court of chancery.

"Therefore," concluded the chief justice, "the order of the circuit court is reversed and the case is remanded for any further proceedings not inconsistent with this ruling."

Not for a score of years has there been a case in the federal court the outcome of which has been awaited with such anxiety and interest as a decision which has created so much of a general stir. The advocates of Sunday closing were considerably cast down over the ruling, but admitted that, inasmuch as the ruling was a unanimous one, there was no alternative but to meekly bow to the supreme authority of the United States judiciary.

Citizens Saved the Town.

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., June 19.—The large saloon building of John Booth burned to the ground last night. It is estimated that the loss was $300,000. The total destruction of the town was prevented by the citizens forming themselves into a bucket brigade and thus fighting the fire.

"Royal Ruby" Port Wine.

If you are racked by vitality or strength by illness or any other cause, we recommend the use of this grand old port wine, the very blood of the grape. A grand tonic for mothers nursing infants, for the aged, for the debilitated, for those reduced by wasting disease. It creates strength; improves the appetite. Saturday afternoon a laborer by the name of A. Boulanger met with a fatal accident on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road a short distance back of the town. He was brought to town and medical assistance obtained, but died a short time after. He was about thirty years old and unmarried. The remains were taken to Hanson & Carlson's undertaking rooms and prepared to be taken to Minneapolis for interment at the home of the deceased.

A Successful Industry.

The West Duluth Steam laundry has been nicely re-fitted, supplied with city water and its facilities largely increased by the introduction of the latest improved machinery. The plant is now one of the best of its kind at the head of the lakes and is turning out a class of work which cannot be excelled by any competitor. From fifteen to eighteen hands are now employed and two wagons are required to collect and deliver the washing to the people of West Duluth and vicinity. Under the present management this industry is rapidly forging to the front and is becoming one of the important interests of the town. Home institutions will flourish when they are patronized by the people as seen by the success of this enterprise.

WHEAT DULL AND LOWER.

Trading Was Very Light and Prices Suffered a Decline.

The wheat market was dull and lower today, July starting below Saturday and September 2c below, while the figures for cash were unchanged. The market ruled dull with declining tendencies. There was a fair demand for cash wheat, the mill being in the market for their usual quantity. The visible wheat supply shows a decrease of 2,257,000 bush for the week, an increase of 200,000 bush, and an increase of 167,000 bush. The clearances at the four Atlantic ports equalled 23,000 bush of wheat. It was reported that cash contracts for wheat had been sent out for shipment July which is an enormous carrying charge. The difference in carrying July to September was witnessed here from 2c to 2 1/2c. The close was dull but firm for the preferred futures as below Saturday for cash and July and unchanged for September. Following were the closing prices:

Worked In Vain.

The earthquake a few years ago in Charleston destroyed much property and some lives. But such a wild display, horror and confusion there were many humorous incidents, of which the following is a fair specimen: One evening when one of the first shocks took place an engaged couple were sitting in the parlor of one of the houses on the battery. The young gentleman, who was of a scientific turn of mind, as soon thoughts of the possibility of a tidal wave. He stepped to the window, opened it, thrust out his hand and instantly knew that his voice from was raised, for his hand went into water just outside the window.

He closed the window, returned to his fiancée and told her of the dreadful truth. As by one impulse they clung their arms around each other and stood in the middle of the room calmly awaiting their doom. They stood long, expecting the rush of the engulfing water, but it did not come. The day was disappointing for they had gazed up their minds to a little drama. At last the delay and suspense became intolerable. The gentleman again went to the window. A little less hurried examination of the condition of things showed him that he had put his hand into an aquarium which stood just outside. —Harper's Bazar.

He Was.

In making pleasant advances toward strangers one should always be prepared for a surprise. It often happens that apparent friends betray one into a wrong position. A story is told of a foreigner, the presence of Lady Elizabeth Stuart Worley in Goulbourn.

This English lady was driving along a country road, when a gale was sprung for her by a small country lad. She stopped, and a small coin and a pleasant smile and said:

"I'm sure you are not a Hertfordshire boy, because you are so polite."
"Thee's a lie, 'cause I be," was the convincing reply. —Youth's Companion.

IRON RIVER WAS SAVED.

Latest Reports Indicate a Loss of Only $50,000—Sanborn Wiped Out—Two Children Perished.

ASHLAND, Wis., June 19.—All the morning the heat from the surrounding forest fires seemed to fan the fire heat in this section. Reports from Iron River at noon report the losses much lighter than at first reported. The town is surrounded by a wall of flames, but a large force of men, including help from the Ashland fire department, are still fighting the flames. They have plenty of hose and water and will likely save the town. Hessey & Hutton's large warehouse, the new school house, a church and four residences are burned. One man named Dietrich had his leg broken. John Meagher was suffocated and died while fighting fire at his home near Mosquit. He was a prominent G. A. R. man and lumberman. The bridge on the Wisconsin Central, at Minersville, near Highbridge is burned and all trains are running around by way of Ironwood, on the Mellen branch and the Lake Shore.

Sanborn, a small lumbering town on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic is entirely wiped out. Two children of a homesteader near there perished. One bridge nearly 100 feet long was burned. Ewen, Mich., was also swept by fire and another bridge burned so that trains have to be transferred.

Wires on the Omaha and the Central are all down, the telegraph poles burned like timber. At White River over 1000 acres of standing pine are ablaze, making a regular sea of flames.

The special returned from Iron River this morning and reported the fire entirely under control there and that the loss there will not exceed $50,000. The fire near Washburn is approaching rapidly and they have sent for help. The great mass of green Norway timber seems to burn like straw and the total losses will run well up into the millions. A flood of flames was seen all night sweeping south from Ashland and the greatest apprehension is felt for homesteaders living in the Marquette district.

Samples of V.H.

Shortly after the death of the illustrious philanthropist, Sir Moses Montefiore, the Saturday Review ended an eulogistic notice of his life with, "Such a career cannot be crystallized into an epitaph nor summed up in a homely saying." On this statement Punch indignantly commented, "Yes, it can—'Don't Mō (Good Moses).'"

"This," says The Nineteenth Century, "is to be the last of the 'fisher of Punch's happy puns.' What Lord Rothschild took his oath as a peer, with his head reverently covered in accordance with Jewish usage, that journal suggested that he should assume the style and title of Lord Hutton."

Jews, like Falstaff, have not only been "the cause that wit is in other men," but they have flashed their humor at the expense of their Gentile neighbors.

A dialogue overheard at the Stock Exchange on a frosty winter's day:
"Ah, Moses, what would you advise me to buy today?"
"Thermometers, of course. They are very low at present and are sure to rise."
—Youth's Companion.

glance that if this wastage can be saved

it means a vast cheapening in the cost of everything which is manufactured by electric or steam power.

Professor Bell expresses the opinion that the question of aerial navigation will be solved within the next ten years. In the solving of this problem he thinks that electricity will play an important part. Another view of the situation is that of arranging things so as to see by electricity. In this he hopes to be able to communicate the vibrations of light, as in which case he thinks one might be able to see things miles away.

He is also interested in schemes of transmitting thought by electricity, as well as making the deaf hear by the action of the same fluid.

These may appear to be wild and impracticable schemes, but in view of the wonderful discoveries in recent years, who shall dare to pronounce them impossible? What could our ancestors have said if anyone had predicted the invention of electric lighting, the transmission of electrical power, the telephone, the phonograph and many others of the great inventions of the age?

The Hours of Labor.

It has been the claim of advocates of the eight-hour work day that the general adoption of their idea would not reduce the scale of wages, but that the shorter day may be safely urged with the certainty that the wages will take care of themselves. Their idea is that wages will gradually increase until the workmen will receive the same wages for eight hours' work that they formerly received for nine or ten hours' work. In recent strikes, however, it has been noticed that the strikers wanted eight hours' work with nine or ten hours' pay, and the conclusion is that employers are not inclined to increase wages for shorter hours of work, as the supporters of the eight hour idea have asserted.

Last year the Massachusetts legislature made a law prohibiting women and minors under 18 from working more than fifty-eight hours per week in mills and factories. The present legislature is considering a bill to reduce the working hours to fifty-six. There is beginning to be a protest among laboring people against such interference with their employment. A working-girl writes to the Boston Herald that the wages of the girls in factories were reduced 3 1/2 per cent by last year's law. She says for the benefit of the members of the legislature who allow themselves to be influenced by trade union demagogues:

"If that august body would give a little time to the solution of the problem

how to make low wages meet the present high cost of living, or would remove some of the causes which tend to low wages and consequently long hours, the hours of labor would regulate themselves. Working-girls do not make long hours from avarice or love of work, but from necessity."

This shows that it is unwise on the part of legislatures to regulate the number of hours which people shall work.

This is a matter to be settled between employer and employee. When the state frames laws protecting the workmen from undue exposure to injury and providing for the sanitary regulation of the factory or workshop where he labors, it has done its full duty. When it goes beyond that point it treads upon dangerous ground.

The Latest Reformer.

The Chicago Mail directs attention to the fact that the reformer is a man who must always be riding some hobby. He tries of one only to bestirre another.

Sometimes right, sometimes wrong, he can always find a Pegasus to mount upon with hopes of a successful flight over all obstacles and pitfalls that may be strewn along the pathway of human progress.

Lieutenant Governor Percy Daniels, of the reformatory state of Kansas comes to the front with a proposition to simplify the matter of raising a revenue for national expenses. He proposes that millionaires shoulder the entire burden.

A tax of 1 per cent on all estates valued at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 of 3 per cent on estates of from $2,000,000 to $5,

$000,000, of 8 per cent on estates of from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and of 10 per cent on estates over $10,000,000 in value will raise, Mr. Daniels estimates, a reve-nuue of $2,000,000 a year, or double the present public expenses. Why he wants double the necessary revenue is not stated, except that it may be that $1,000,

000 revenue from a tax on millionaires is not sufficient to appease his sense of public justice.

This new hobby is said to have received enthusiastic approval in populist circles and may succeed the government loan idea as a party shibboleth. Such a method of taxation, the Mail concludes, would make so many people content not to be millionaires that it adoption might be immeasurably to the sum total of human happiness.

The St. Paul News speaks in eulo-gistic terms of the oration delivered by Rev. Dr. Huntley, of Duluth, at the Epworth League convention in the Saulty city on Sunday. The News says: "He is a fluent, rhetorical speaker and has a wide spread reputation as an orator.

He did not disappoint the expectations of his hearers, who sat spell-bound by his eloquence for over an hour and a half. The oration was a masterly argument for enthusiasm in religious work."

The Chicago Mail has a notice at the head of its editorial columns saying:

"The World's fair will be open on Sunday." A few days ago it read: "The World's fair was open on Sunday." Previously to that notice read: "The World's fair must be open on Sunday." These sentences give a brief statement of the progress of the movement that ended in a triumph for the Sunday openers.

From all accounts Col. Ainsworth was a perfect mariner in the enforcement of discipline, but that is no reason why he should be blamed for the collapse of Ford's theater.

The politicians are engaged in the pleasant occupation of nominating

Cleveland for a third term and Harrison for a second, but it seems a clear case of wasted effort.

The St. Paul News says there is a man in that city who is thankful for the existence of Mrs. Lease. He must regard her as "a horrible example."

Illinois is happy once more. The state legislature has adjourned.

Judge Decides the Leslie A. Belding vs. J. A. Willard et al. Case for the Defendants.

Damages Equally Divided in the Case of L. S. Sullivan et al. vs. the Lake Superior Elevator Company.

The cases of Albert and Camille Poirier against the city, which are being tried together, were resumed before Judge Ensign this morning. Before Judge Lewis the jury in the case against Frank Parrish, grand larceny in the second degree, was completed. The case went to the jury at noon and the trial of Peter Carlo for carnally knowing a female child under the age of 16 years, was taken up.

NO CASE AGAINST HIM.

Dr. Laird Was Fully Acquitted in the Municipal Court Today.

In municipal court this morning the case against Dr. H. C. Laird, charged with practicing dentistry without a diploma, was dismissed, the state having no case.

"I will continue business at the old stand—Fourth avenue west and First street—the rest of this week," said the doctor to a Herald reporter as he walked out of the court room surrounded by a crowd of admiring friends and patrons who had come to see him through with the suit. "Yes, I have pulled teeth."

"I will continue business at the old stand—Fourth avenue west and First street—the rest of this week," said the doctor to a Herald reporter as he walked out of the court room surrounded by a crowd of admiring friends and patrons who had come to see him through with the suit. "Yes, I have pulled teeth."

Dr. Laird is certainly wonderful in his work. He extracts teeth with an astonishing ease and grace. It has been Dr. Laird's intention to make his extractions free, but the crowds have been so enormous that it has been necessary to charge a nominal price to keep the people within bounds. Tonight no admission will be charged. Come out and hear the lecture and see the work.

The doctor says all he wants is a hearing and a "square shake" and his business in Duluth will be what has been elsewhere—a growing success.

FOUND FOR THE STEAMER.

Judge Nelson Holds the Elevator Company Liable for Damages.

In the case of L. S. Sullivan et al. against the Lake Superior Elevator company, Judge Nelson, of the United States district court, has handed down a decision holding the elevator company liable for damages sustained by the steamer D. W. Rust by the falling of the conveyor trestle between elevators B and C in this city on May 10, of last year.

It will be remembered that this vessel was lying alongside the elevator dock waiting to be loaded, when the trestle gave way, falling on the steamer, doing considerable damage.

The owners of the vessel, through their attorney, H. R. Spencer, brought an action against the elevator company in United States district court, alleging negligence in the construction of the trestle. The court finds in favor of the steamer and against the elevator company.

A decision has been handed down by Judge Nelson in the case of Leslie A. Belding vs. John A. Willard and George F. Piper. This case has been pending for some time. Belding brought an action in ejectment to set the defendants in possession of an undivided two-sevenths of the 3/4 of section 20, 30 1/4. The decision is in favor of the defendant.

Electric Cooking. An interesting exhibition of cooking by electricity was given to a few people Saturday afternoon at the Hartman General Electric company's office. It was an entire success and astonished those who witnessed it. A public exhibition will be given in two or three weeks.

Another Ore Crusher. It will crush the Product Mined at the Minnesota Last Winter.

The second of the Minnesota's new ore crushers has arrived and will be in operation within two or three days, says the Vermilion Iron Foundry. It is almost a counterpart of the first and was built by S. E. Cleaves & Son, of Hancock, Mich. It is a little heavier in appearance, but weighs the same—sixty-two tons. It has been set up between No. 7 and 3 stockpiles and will crush the product mined last winter.

These two stockpiles contain 170,000 tons and are twice as large as ever before," said Assistant Manager Wallace. "It would be utterly impossible to get them out of the way and shipped this season as we are now working, as we cannot get men enough at work on them. When the crusher starts not a sledge will be used. The ore will be sorted, of course, and only the larger blocks go through the crusher."

Work at No. 1 crusher, which will handle the product as it comes up the shafts, is at a standstill owing to a delay in the shipment of the new Allis Corliss engine. It has been shipped from Milwaukee, however, and will soon arrive.

Rowing Regatta. The Date for the Minnesota and Winnipeg Regatta is Fixed.

A meeting of the officers of the Minnesota and Winnipeg Rowing association was held at the West hotel, Minneapolis, Saturday evening, with Col. Weston in the chair. The date of the annual regatta was fixed at that suggested by the Lulline Boat club—July 28 and 29—and will take place over the Lafayette course. The date of the annual meeting, at which the election of officers is to be held, was fixed for July 27, at the Hotel Lafayette. Committees were appointed on the judge's boat, prizes and the various other things pertaining to the annual regatta in order that every detail might be perfect.

H. W. Commons, of the Lulline Boat club, offered a prize for singles—dash of one-half mile. The prize will be one of the year by any member of the Minnesota & Winnipeg association and to go to the winner one who wins it three times in succession. The meeting was called to order by C. W. Renard, of the Duluth Posten, who was chosen moderator of the meeting. A committee consisting of Messrs. Nels Hall, L. Rietz and C. W. Renard, was appointed to represent the meeting at the general mass meeting this afternoon. Another committee consisting of Messrs. C. W. Renard, F. G. Valen, Gustafson and Sam Jernheim was appointed to receive and distribute goods and money for the relief of the sufferers.

The Relief Meeting. A Large Sum of Money Subscribed in a Very Few Moments.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chamber of commerce a public meeting was held to consider the situation of affairs on the range. It was an enthusiastic meeting but right down to business, $500 being subscribed and committees appointed in a very short time.

The meeting was called to order by Maj. M. R. Baldwin who briefly stated the cause of the gathering. Maj. A. Hayes was appointed secretary. M. W. Payne was elected treasurer. On motion of Mr. Gridley a committee of five was appointed to investigate the situation of affairs on the range. The names were not selected at hour of going to press.

How It Happened. Mr. Shanahan writes to The Herald of a recent statement that one of the men injured by a wagon falling over it. He says that at 10:45 a. m. on the 15th inst., while he was working on the repairs of Superior street in front of the city hall, street car No. 30, ran over his team, causing the horses to jump to one side and catching his foot, which was badly crushed and the large toe burst open.

The Ovis' Dined. The Ovis' Roost club, composed of jolly young men who know how to enjoy life, gave a swell dinner at O-t-a-ka beach to their lady friends. Dinner was served from 2 to 3 o'clock. An Italian string band furnished sweet music during the afternoon. Following is the roster of the club: R. L. Knebel, president; A. M. Barnes, secretary and treasurer; Chas. Josten, J. H. Fischer, L. out in the town put on his trousers and climbed out. He had not much more than gotten outside when he saw a woman upstairs in a burning building. He secured a ladder as quickly as his weak-kneed condition would allow and climbed upstairs. When he secured the woman and got back to the window the ladder had burned away. The crowd saw him and quickly secured another and down it came bearing the woman. He was fearfully burned and will hardly live. His home is in Coopersville, Mich.

LOSS OF LIFE FEARED.

Many of Today's Arrivals Insist That Several Lives Were Lost.

About two women and children were eating their dinner at the Howard block at 1 o'clock. A score of Duluth ladies and men were in attendance. The bill of fare consisted of bread, coffee, ham, cheese, crackers and prepared meats. At the table were half a dozen men who were more or less sick. Many of the men related to the women at the table an account of the recent fires on the range.

Emile Dean and wife, of Virginia, said they believed that Fred Viger and his family of eight children perished in the flames. "We know they were in the village the morning," said Mr. Dean to a Herald reporter, "but making all the inquiries we could we were unable to find them at the station where we fled."

Fred Graham, one of the refugees at the building told a Herald reporter that no less than a dozen lives were lost. He himself is ill and lost $50 in the fires. He was a musician at Virginia. He and his wife will be furnished free transportation to Brainerd. Mrs. Graham said she knew the woman who was surely burned to death. The victim had packed her trunk and then went to get her baby and both, Mrs. Graham believes, were burned to death.

The Omaha road is giving free tickets to all the sufferers who wish to use its lines.

BORDEN MURDER CASE

A Great Crush This Morning to Hear the Arguments on Both Sides of the Case.

Governor Robinson Opened for the Defense and Ably Assorted the Innocence of the Defendant.

She Had No Voice at the Preliminary Hearing and No Evidence There Should be Considered.

New Bedford, Mass., June 19.—The day of the arguments in the Borden case brought a terrific jam at the court house and ever an hour before the time of opening the doors were besieged by people mostly ladies in holiday attire, all hoping for seats. But there were no few seats for the accommodation of a tenth part of the claimants and there was much grumbling in consequence. When the court was ready for opening there were many ladies ushered in the aisles, but they were quickly ushered to the ante rooms and corridors and obliged to sniff the battle from afar. The bar enclosure was packed with legal lions. The jury took their seats at 8:55 looking quite refreshed after two days rest and a few minutes later Miss Borden came in, a bunch of pinkish hair and a contented smile on her face. Almost immediately Governor Robinson began his argument. He said:

"May I please your honors Mr. Foreman and gentlemen? One of the most dastardly and diabolical crimes ever committed in Massachusetts was perpetrated in August, 1892, in Fall River. The enormity of it startled everybody. Every man feels that the wrong should be righted and the wicked brought to justice. Here was a crime with all its horrors and who could have done such an act, says everybody. In the quiet of a home, in the broad daylight, on the streets of a populous city, who could have done the act? Inspection showed Mrs. Borden had been slain by the use of some sharp instrument, and below stairs was Mr. Borden's mutilated body. The terrors of those scenes no language can portray, and we are challenged at the outset to find who was equal to that enormity: whose whole heart is blackened with the crime. A maniac, not a man of sense and heart; a lunatic, a devil."

"They were well directed blows which caused their deaths. Surely we can say at the outset that this was not the careless, untrained doing of one unfamiliar with such work. Now suspicion begins to fall around here and everywhere. They surround this and that one and follow out clues everywhere. No decent man complains of investigation and everything to be done, but we say everything was not done and the proper methods not taken."

"Tracing the course of all suspected persons from the preliminary hearing to this trial, the speaker said that in all these proceedings the prisoner had no voice; the government said if we cannot prove it against her, she shall go free, but it was one-sided and you are to draw no inference whatever from those proceedings of invariable record. We would not be safe if in these great crimes our lives hung on the words of a single man."

IMMENSE CROWDS ATTEND.
The Eighth Week of the World's Fair Starts Auspiciously.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 19.—A big throng commenced arriving at the fair grounds as early as 8 o'clock this morning. The entrances were choked for nearly three hours, half an hour being consumed in getting through the crowds into the grounds. The eighth week with this splendid impetus to the attendance starts off auspiciously under cloudless skies and a hot sun.

The completion of the work of installing the multifarious exhibits in the old mission building of California was made the occasion for a dedication and ceremonial reception this afternoon. The event took place in the offices and reception rooms of the commission on the second floor of the big quaint building. The members of the state commission were on hand to welcome their guests, show them the magnificent specimens of California fruit, viticulture, horticulture and precious minerals. The product of the vineyards on the Pacific slope were also sampled by several hundred guests to their evident satisfaction, and speeches laudatory of the fair and California's contribution were delivered by a number of officials.

His Head Crushed.
CHICAGO, June 19.—John Thornin, a laborer, overcome by heat fell from the roof of the manufacturing building roof this morning to the floor beneath, a distance of 120 feet. His head was crushed, both legs being broken and one arm mashed into a pulp. Thornin was picked up alive and was taken to the hospital where his case is pronounced hopeless.

Two Convicts Escaped.
JACKSON, Mich., June 19.—James Morrison and William Henson, short term convicts, escaped from the prison early this morning by scaling the walls. They were employed about the engine room of the electric light plant. At the time of their escape no guards were on the wall. They were not missed until three hours after their escape.

MONTREAL, Que., June 19.—Late last night, Lewis Prevost, a well-known young lawyer of this city, and a son of the Hon. Wilfred Prevost, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head in his room in a fashionable boarding house here. No cause can be assigned for the act.

Embassadors Arrested.
LONDON, June 19.—Quite a sensation has been created here by the arrest of Demetrius Moretti, Harver, teller, and Richard D. Wilson, a clerk, employed by the local branch of the Bank of British North America, in charge of defrauding the bank of $2000.

TYRANNY IN HAWAII.
The Sedition Law Passed by the Provisional Government.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Charles Nordhoff, in his special from Honolulu to the Herald, gives the text of the "sedition law" recently passed by the provisional government in order to show the people of the United States, he says, what sort of repressive and tyrannical law this plantation-missionary oligarchy entails. The law is as follows:

An act concerning seditious offenses: Be it enacted by the executive and advisory council of the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands:

Section 1. Everyone commits a misdemeanor who publishes verbally or otherwise any record, or any document with a seditious intention. If the matter so published consists of words spoken, the offense is called the speaking of seditious words. If the matter so published consists of written or printed words, the offense is called the publication of a seditious libel.

Section 2. Everyone commits a misdemeanor who agrees with any other person or persons to do an act for the furtherance of any seditious intention common to both or all of them. Such offense is called a seditious conspiracy.

Section 3. A seditious intention is an intention to bring into hatred or contempt, or to excite dissatisfaction against the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands or the laws thereof, or to excite the people to attempt the alteration by force of any matter established by the laws of the provisional government, or to raise discontent or dissatisfaction against the provisional government, or to promote feelings of ill-will and hostility between different classes or people in the Hawaiian Islands.

Section 4. In determining whether the intention with which the words were spoken, written or printed any document was made was or was not seditious, every person shall be deemed to intend the consequences which would naturally follow from his conduct or the words spoken or published at the time he spoke or conducted himself.

Section 5. Any person adjudged guilty of any misdemeanor under the meaning of this act shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor for not more than two years or by a fine of not more than $1000.

Section 6. District magistrates and circuit judges shall have concurrent original jurisdiction to hear and determine cases under this act.

FUEL FOR FLAME

The Scene of Destruction and Desolation at Virginia Is One That Appals the Visitor.

Thirty Houses Are Still Standing, But Many of Them Are Very Small in Size.

The Loss Is Estimated All the Way From Eight Hundred Thousand to a Million.

Mountain Iron Practically Escaped the Furious Fires, Only a Few Houses Being Burned.

Merritt Was Not So Fortunate and Loss in That Town Will Be Heavy.

The Work of Relieving the Distress Goes On in Duluth and People Responding Liberally.

The Englishman who objected to the United States because it had no great ruins should visit the site of the late town of Virginia. He'd see ruins calculated to satisfy the most exacting connoisseur that ever crossed the briny deep.

The scene is one most appalling and never to be forgotten. With the exception of the few buildings at the end of Maple street near the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway depot and a chance residence here and there to the south and west, all is a bare, blackened waste with occasional piles of smoking debris marking the site of some late business house. The clouds of smoke here and there, the squads of men moving here and there, in a dozen places at once over the blackened and all possessed at times shining dimly and hazily through the smoke laden air, need only the roar of artillery and the crack of musketry, the shouts of men and the clanging charge of cavalry to give it all the appearance of a battle field. Women and children were lodged here and there, some crying with hunger, and all possessed at times less of that dazed, helpless appearance characteristic of times of great disaster. Groups of men sleeping or resting in most unusual places and around piles of bedding, baggage and other goods saved from the flames, aided that appearance not a little.

Late in the forenoon, the citizens noticed that a hot forest fire was raging in the woods to the west and southwest of town. No danger was particularly apprehended. Just at dinner time, between 1 and 2 p. m. as nearly as can be judged from conflicting opinions, a small blaze was discovered on a southwest corner of the townsite, only a few feet from Keaugh's sporting house. Several who were near by set about to extinguish it, but it kept gliding, then, within a few moments was rolling across the town to the north and northwest. A few moments after the first flames were discovered they burst out in another spot on the south side of town and not over twenty rods west of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad depot. The two fires were going with just what they had on their backs. Dr. Alden died at the margin of the small lake and the swampy ground on the north.

Were Taken by Surprise. The people were taken wholly by surprise. Many were at their Sunday dinners. The flames leaped and roared and sent up a column of black smoke most appalling. A general rush was made for points of safety. Many reached the lake front, took boats, rafts, swam, and others fled in various directions. A great many had most narrow escapes. In many cases getting away with just what they had on their backs. Dr. Alden died yesterday because his coat and all else went up in the general conflagration.

On Chestnut street all the leading business houses were located. Today not a single building remains. Even the vaulted heavy masonry erected in O. D. Kinney's bank only last week, was cracked and crumbled by the intense heat. On north farther, in the chief residence portion, not a building was left standing. Two ice houses were burned and the chilly contents glistened in the sun like arctic icebergs. Along and north of Maple street between the railway tracks and the western limits of the city, thirty buildings are standing. Several of these are in process of erection and quite a few more are extremely small and hardly worth the name of buildings.

Buildings Still Standing. The following business houses are standing: Mike Keaugh's large sporting house; Finlayson's saw mill, capacity 15000 feet per day; the water works power house; Coffee House; boarding house; Mary Garrison's boarding house; M. Murray's flour and feed store; John Lindman's boarding house; Jack Hurley's meat shop; ice house and residence; Neil Ryan's boarding house; Nelson & Tolson's saloon; David Fort's saloon and dwelling; Anderson & Burke's saloon and boarding house; J. W. Towell's beer repository; the Methodist depot, water tank and the Methodist church. Out of the forty-two saloons those named are the only ones standing and they are closed today by order of the chief of police.

The following citizens rejoice in the possession of their dwellings: Fred Roberts, John Wilkins, Eric Ostlin, Attorney McNeil, John Chasseau, A. M. Lang, E. J. Eider, Nels Wiggins, Jake Johnson, Andrew Kilpila and Henry Johnson. Sunday night about fifty of the citizens were organized into a police patrol to guard against the pilfering from the ruins and unguarded property. Eight or nine thieves were caught in the act of stealing, lodged in the waterworks engine house and yesterday morning given thirty-day sentences in jail.

Thieves Kindled Fires. One almost incredible thing in connection with the catastrophe was that two of three fellows were caught kindling fires in several of the houses. The object was evidently for purposes of robbery, and in the confusion all escaped. Capture would have been followed with lynching.

Sunday noon Virginia possessed not less than 2000 inhabitants. That evening after the first fully 700 people went out on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern train. Quite a large number of those came back early Monday morning and more followed on the train at 11:30 the same day. All are practically homeless and the visible supply of food early Monday morning was only adequate for a meager meal or two.

The Estimated Losses. Among the heaviest losers at Virginia are Burke Brothers, general store, $18,000; Quinn's general store, $24,000; W. Pratt, general store, $12,000; Prescott, Mars & Co., heavy hardware and mining supplies, $24,000; Virginia hotel, $12,000; Hayes' ideal restaurant, $12,000; Kirby's general store, $10,000; Star theater, $7,000; Johnson's grocery, $3,000; Costen's real estate, $1000; Iedie & Sibbald, contractors, $1000; F. N. Mans, light hardware, $10,000; postoffice, mails and stamps (registered mail in safe); J. E. Drouillard, dwelling and contents, $2000; Ike Summerfield, goods furnishing goods and notions, $5000; Rogers' hotel, $6000; Riddle & Gray's saloon, $2500; school house, $2000; Towell's saloon, $3000; Davis' saloon, $2500; confectionery store, $1500; Roman's notions, etc., $3000; Yang Wop, laundry, $500; Young's restaurant, $2000; Sullivan's saloon, $2000; Clarke & Vandye, saloon and restaurant, $3500; Anderson's saloon and fixtures, $2000; Charley Sam, laundry, $500; Machin, tailor shop, $500; McGarry's photo, $2000; bank of Virginia, $2000; Mitchell, drug store, $2000; Chittenden's jewelry store, $500; Virginia Enterprise office, $1600; Dr. Barrett's new office, $2000; Combs' furniture store, $500; Gus Leibeig's saloon, $3000; Kentucky liquor store, $6000; Saxe's saloon, $3000; Durkee's saloon, $3000; Standart theater, $9000; Kennedy & Gleason's insurance, $1000; Lawyer McNeil, law library, $3000; Backus' saloon, $2500; grocery store, $2000; Lockman's boys' real estate, etc., $500; Charles Lindstrom, incomplete building, $3500; Anderson's boarding house, $3200; Shipley's boarding house, $6000; large commercial building, $2000; White Front restaurant, $2500; John Byrnes, saloon and boarding house, $3000; W. D. Green's barber shop, etc., $2000; East's photograph gallery, $2000; Saltness & Gimpel, saloon, $2000; Folk's saloon, $3000; incomplete new building, $3000; Adams' confectionery, $1500; Gray's saloon, $2000; Hill, boots and shoes, $3000; Duluth, Missabe & Northern, on freight depot, etc., $4000; Crow's ice house and bottling works, $4000.

Some buildings were not insured at all, either because of neglect, the high rates asked for the risks or because the insurance companies declined to accept the risks. The total loss is estimated by the most conservative to be not less than $800,000, while others are very confident that $1,200,000 will not cover it. In round numbers, the insurance is put at $300,000. Twenty hundred and eighty thousand dollars is the figure set by those who have made the closest estimates. The firm of Kennedy & Gleason was the first to lose its insurance books in the flames and so great was the confusion they were not obtainable. The business blocks burned were nearly all on Chestnut street, reaching from the railroad tracks on the east to the lake and Finlayson's mill on the west.

SPRANG UP AGAIN. The Fire Freshened up Yesterday Afternoon and Caused Quicker Scare.

What is left of the unfortunate town barely escaped a second visitation yesterday afternoon between 12 and 2 o'clock. Late in the forenoon the fire freshened up and fanned into life smoldering embers in the woods south of the townsite. Heavy volumes of smoke arose and the flames were seen to be making for a body of timber at the northeast corner of the town and running up to the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway tracks and the town limits. The wind kept rising and at 1 o'clock was blowing a perfect gale. Cinders and ashes commenced to fly and the afflicted people again commenced to load up their property and make for the lake front. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern depot, water tank, tracks and a long line of ice cars were thought to be doomed. A large company of the victims of Sunday's fire were at the depot and they were compelled to move with all their stuff.

The depot building was kept wet down and wet carpets and blankets were hung out on the south side of all the dwellings and business houses standing at the east end of town. The water works, which are the best of their size in any town in the country, were turned on. Long lines of hose were coupled on and heavy streams kept playing on the ground between the buildings and the woods. The fire jumped the track burned a lot of woods on the other side and crept northward parallel to the line of ice cars. The water from the hose, the shifting of the wind, however, three times and finally a lull in its force, saved further loss.

The regular passenger train on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway came in a few minutes before 2 o'clock and was compelled to dash into the depot between two lines of fire on each side of the track and an impenetrable cloud of smoke. This fire completed the circuit of the town and no more timber fires will have power to work any damage.

INCIDENTS WERE MANY. The Pathetic, Peculiar, Humorous and Heroic Were All to Be Found.

A volume would not contain the many incidents—amusing, pathetic, peculiar and heroic—of the great disaster. The best people, the business men all and that class, showed through the brief duration of the conflagration, a wonderful presence of mind, and afterwards wonderful fortitude. It was a hard experience and a severe test for women and children, but those who lost souls could were the men to be found in the floating population. Many of them are toughs and petty criminals who will hang around as long as there is no work and free food.

Yesterday O. D. Kinney was handing out cheese sandwiches. "Give me a sandwich, damn yer," said a big, hulking fellow. "Take that," was the reply of Mr. Kinney, as his brawny arm delivered a blow on the fellow's mouth that brought the chert. That aroused the hog's ire and in a moment fighting, he had to be further disciplined by the muscular brawler.

A Plucky Woman. Mrs. Mary Garrison, who conducts the Virginia house, was in Duluth at the time of the fire. She was sure that her property and her ten-year-old daughter had perished. She boarded President Greaser's relief train, rode all night without closing her eyes, walked the long path from the end of the track to Virginia—a tramp that called out the endurance of strong men, and then was nearly prostrated with joy to find her husband and daughter safe. The question bothering Mrs. Garrison when the writer of these lines saw her last was how and where to get eatables for her regular boarders.

Mike Keaugh's Magnanimity. Mike Keaugh conducts a dance house of unusual proportions and splendid facilities indulging in vice. As soon as the fire was over, he commenced to call in the hungry and needy and ever since has kept open house. Sunday evening alone, he fed 300 people and gave away over $50 in small change to those who were without money. Ninety women and children were given sleeping accommodations Sunday night. When he commenced to send in the crowd to supper, the cook objected, Keaugh punched the fellow's head, kicked him into the back yard and impressed three of the female inmates into the kitchen service to assist Mrs. Keaugh. Yesterday morning one frail woman in black stockings, a dress that was sleeveless, cut decollete and came only to her knees was sweeping, another was washing dishes and so on. Keaugh is among the most popular heroes of the fire.

No Fatalities Known. So far as known there were no fatalities. Several reports of such have been found to be without foundation. The thing most needed yesterday was food. After that, shelter and clothing. Then tools and lumber. Rebuilding will commence at once. Yesterday a gang of workmen commenced clearing away the ruins of Burke Bros' general store, which will be rebuilt at once. The Bank of Virginia will be doing business tomorrow. On the 11 o'clock train that came in yesterday over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway. Enrolling, the Duluth grocer, brought in a carload of groceries, which he commenced at once to sell at Duluth prices, not even adding freight.

The village board of aldermen met at noon yesterday to take action on the receipt of money, provisions and supplies. A committee of seven was given sole charge. O. D. Kinney was made chairman and Samuel Collins, Otto Pfeiffer, Reddy, E. J. M. Leary, C. E. Bailey and Mr. Lord will act with him.

Before reaching Two Harbors, a telegram was received at a way station stating that Merritt had been wiped out and take out a relief train. A box car was loaded with a large amount of food supplies and linens at Stone-Ordian's wholesale house. Baskets of bread and sandwiches, tents, blankets and anything else that could be secured were loaded up. From 1

lessness, and in the dry summer weather when everything is as dry as tinder they quickly gain very large proportions.

Anything that can be done to put a stop to this criminal carelessness should be done.

And yet it is also well to remember that forest fires are frequently due to other causes. The intensely hot rays of the summer sun concentrated on a piece of a broken glass bottle has been known to kindle a fire that burned millions of feet of valuable pine. But these cases are rare compared with those where fires are due to carelessness. If the latter can be prevented, much of the danger will have been removed.

The Silver Purchase Law.

According to Secretary Lamont, congress will be convened in extra session on September 4 and 11. It is to be regretted that President Cleveland has found it necessary to fix the date so far ahead, because there is no doubt that the financial and business world would be greatly benefited if congress were convened early in July. Of course the improvement in financial matters would be largely contingent upon the action that congress would take upon the Sherman silver purchase law.

The reports from Washington as to the attitude that congress will probably assume on this question are conflicting, and the Herald's correspondent reports today that no one knows what congress will do, which is probably the correct statement of the situation. The last number of Bradstreet's contains a striking article on this menace to the country's prosperity. The measure, it points out, was in its inception, a compromise and a makeshift. It has been almost from the first a conspicuous failure in practice as an influence in holding up the price of silver. It now constitutes the most serious single menace to the country, but even to its financial security.

All students of finance have been aware that it has been steadily displacing the treasury holdings of gold with unsalable silver. This week, however, the secretary of the treasury gives statistics which render the process plain to the most limited capacity. He shows that May out of a little less than $50,000, of coin certificates issued for the purchase of silver bullion all but a little over $2,000,000—that is, more than 95 per cent—were paid in gold. In other words, the silver purchase law constitutes the most serious drain on the treasury gold. Under the operation of this absurd law the reserve has been gradually shrinking, in spite of efforts to keep it at the normal figure, and judging from the treasury statistics just referred to, we are within a measurable distance of the entire disappearance of the reserve unless the act is repealed.

Indeed, if the act be kept in force long enough, says Bradstreet's, we may witness the spectacle of the administration being forced to resort to an increase of the national debt in order to procure gold to pay for a commodity which, as Secretary Carlisle says, can neither be sold nor used for the payment of any obligations. The operation of the law has resulted in a sapping of public confidence, of which some of the results have already been seen, though perhaps the full harvest of the evils shown by the law has not yet been gathered. The most imperative duty of the time is the repeal of the silver-purchase law of 1890.

Its existence on the statute book is a continuing menace to the prosperity of

Cultivation of Flax.

James D. Reid, commercial agent at Dunfermline, Scotland, has furnished

the state department with some very excellent information in reference to the successful cultivation of flax. Mr. Reid goes into details relative to the growing of flax in Europe, Asia, Egypt and other countries. To a region like Scotland, he says, in which the leading industry is the weaving of linen, the cultivation of flax is of the highest importance. Yet

Great Britain, he says, largely dependent on other countries for her raw material. The explanations that Mr. Reid makes in reference to the cultivation of flax will be of peculiar interest to Minnesota and other states where this industry is just being introduced, so to speak.

In speaking of the fact that Great Britain is largely dependent upon other countries for her raw material, Mr. Reid says that Ireland owes does not raise flax

this fact and the United States will do well to follow her example.

Flax brings in the market from $500 to $1,000 per ton. The sale of a single crop of flax will sometimes secure a higher price than would the land on which it is grown. So fine has been the product that a Belgian pound of the raw material has been spun into a thread

4000 miles long. Irish flax, because of superior quality, commands twice the price of the Russian article. A quantity of dressed flax grown last year in the conular district of Fife brought $450 per ton. No other product of the farmer in these days can show a better return.

The average cost of producing an acre of flax in Ireland is between $40 and $50, which includes the cost of retting and scutching. Of course, in Ireland labor of this kind is cheap, the farmer and his family working the land. The return of an English farmer gives the total expenses connected with growing an acre of flax as $40 which realized, as taken off the field, $60. Scotland shows a similar result.

Of course, an American reading this will at once ask, "Is the United States a country where flax can be grown to advantage?" The answer to this is, that there is scarcely another plant which so readily becomes acclimated under different conditions and in so many countries.

Simply speaking it will thrive in the greatest variety of soils. It is true with flax as with almost any other crop, that the better the land the better the crop of flax. It thrives best in a good, deep, loamy soil; yet it may be raised to advantage on any land not too sandy or peaty or of a cold, stiff, clay nature.

There is no reason why Minnesota should not raise it extensively.

The charge has been made against a

North Carolina postmaster that he

"wears neither coat, vest, socks nor shoes at this season." If the weather in North Carolina is similar to that which visited this section during the past few days, this charge should fall to the ground. Perhaps the salary of the office is not sufficient to buy more clothing.

The Peary expedition will soon start for Greenland, enroute to the neighborhood of the North Pole. Just what is the use of this expedition no one has yet explained. But as the men who are so foolhardy to go on such expeditions will be themselves the sufferers, other people probably have no right to find fault.

The Herald presents today the first readable account of the scene of desol-

ROYAL CLAN MEETING.

Fifteenth Annual Session Opened in Duluth at the Hunter Block Hall This Morning.

Mayor d'Auremont Welcomed the Delegates and They Then Elected Him an Honorary Member.

Various Committees Appointed and the Officers Reported Heard and Referred—Adjourned Until Tomorrow.

The fifteenth annual convention of the Royal Scottish clan opened in Duluth this morning with about seventy-five delegates in attendance. About 9 o'clock, Clan Stewart went down to the Esmond hotel and escorted the delegates to Hunter block hall. About 200 were in line. The procession was headed by Royal Chief Simon Clark and Chief Dinwoodie of Clan Stewart, also the piper of Clan Stewart, William McLean. The royal officers followed these, then the royal clansmen, the officers of Clan Stewart, of Duluth and Clan Cameron of Superior and the clansmen of each.

Arriving at the hall the convention was opened at about 10:30 o'clock. Royal Chief Simon Clark presided. The other royal officers present were: Past Royal Chief James Duncan of Chicago; Royal Tanist Walter Scott, Jr., of Brooklyn; Royal Counselor R. R. Scott, of St. Louis, Mo.; Royal Secretary Peter Kerr, of Boston; Assistant Royal Secretary John Christie, of Duluth; Royal Treasurer A. McLaren, of Cleveland; Royal Chaplain W. H. Gibson, of Sacramento, Cal.; Royal Hunchuan John B. Smith, of Chelsea, Mass.; Royal Warden James Dingwall, of Duluth; Royal Sentinel John G. Gillis, of Duluth.

Royal Secretary Peter Kerr, Robert Fleming, of Detroit, and Duncan McInnes, of Brooklyn, were appointed a committee on credentials and made a report of those entitled to sit as delegates. About 11:30 o'clock a committee consisting of R. R. Scott, of St. Louis; Dr. Dinwoodie, of St. Paul; A. G. Hodge, of Chicago, and John Christie, of Duluth, brought Mayor d'Auremont into the hall and introduced him.

The mayor delivered a fine welcome address. He spoke in high terms of the standing of the local Scotchmen and also of many achievements of Scotchmen in the world's history. He tendered to the delegates the freedom of the city and expressed a wish that their stay might be pleasant.

Royal Counselor R. R. Scott responded and an informal reception was held to give the delegates an opportunity to meet his honor. So tickled were they with Duluth's genial mayor that upon re-assembling he was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Royal Clan, an unusual custom. Then followed more speech-making.

The reports of the officers were distributed in printed form and were referred to committees. The following committees were named: Finance—Press and printing—A. G. Hodge, Chicago; George Dinwoodie, Duluth; George D. Bone, New Haven, Conn. E. L. Brown, of the order—Alex. Fullerton, Somerville, Mass.; Dr. Robert Disbrow, Boston; George F. Walker, Minneapolis.

Constitution and proposed laws—R. R. Scott, St. Louis; Duncan McInnes, Brooklyn; John Christie, Duluth. Bequeathment—Walter Scott, Jr., Brooklyn; A. G. MacKenzie, Boston; Harry Laurie, Omaha.

Finance—John Hill, St. Louis; J. P. Robertson, Winnipeg; John Findlay, Sioux City, Ia.

Appeals and grievances—John Black, Woburn, Mass.; J. A. Colquhoun, Oakland, Cal.; W. D. McIntosh, Bay City, Mich.

Dispensations and charters—A. A. Parker, Cleveland, O.; Alex. Bird, Barrie, Vt.; James Kelley, Montreal.

Chief Dinwoodie, of Clan Stewart, then explained the entertainment provided for the clansmen during their stay and an adjournment was taken. This afternoon they are being driven over the boulevard and tonight they will go out on the bay.

A Former Pastor Here.

Rev. Ben Mitchell, who was pastor of the first church of this city of this city three years ago, arrived yesterday, and is staying with Dr. Maxwell. This evening an informal reception will be held at the church to give his many friends here an opportunity of meeting him before his departure for India where he will resume his missionary work. He will leave on Thursday afternoon.

Must Muzzle the Dogs.

Some weeks ago Alderman Hugo introduced an ordinance which provided that all dogs in Duluth shall be muzzled from June 15 to Sept. 15 of each year. That ordinance was duly passed and is now a law with a big L. Chief of Police Horgan says that the time is now at hand when each and every dog must be provided with a muzzle. All not found wearing one will be promptly sent to the happy hunting grounds supposed to especially exist for dogs. Dealers in such ware will do well to lay in a good supply of dog muzzles.

It doesn't take long for a new Messaba Range town to get on its feet and manifest its existence in a business and social way. The town of Hibbing was only born a fortnight ago but over $50,000 worth of lots have been already sold and a number of buildings have been completed and others are going up as fast as possible. The saw mill on the ground furnishing an ample supply of lumber at low rates. Several stocks of merchandise are on the ground. Some of them being temporarily housed in tents. Mr. Ed. The Rush is Subsiding.

Township 67-21 was opened for the filing of applications today. While the rush was not so great as last Thursday, the number of filings was greater, forty-seven declaratory statements and nearly thirty stone and timber claims being among the business done. Tomorrow township 67-21 will be opened. It is thought that the demand and desire for lands in the townships to be opened the rest of this week will be greatly decreased. Register Monroe Nichols is confined to his room today with illness and is not able to attend to his duties in person.

FOUR ARE DEAD.

Four People are Known to Have Perished in the Bunnell Block Fire at Midnight.

Several Others Missing and it is Feared They Also Have Been Burned to Death.

The Bodies of Two Women and a Little Girl Have Been Found in the Ruins.

The Fire Started in the Michigan Street Floor and is Thought to Have Been Incendiary.

THE DEAD.

MRS. MARY FOARD, aged 33 years.
ROBERT FOARD, aged 6 years.
MRS. ELIZABETH MEAGHER, aged 35 years.
CELIA MEAGHER, aged 3 years.
Probably one or two others.

Last night the fire fiend again visited Duluth. Today the Bunnell block is a mass of charred ruins. Several lives are known to have been lost, but how many probably cannot be positively known until the debris has been cleared away. The Bunnell block, one of the largest frame buildings in the city, was located at No. 101 to 109 Lake avenue. The Lake avenue frontage was about 120 feet, while that on the south side was about 50 feet. The flames are supposed to have started in the rear of the building, back of Cheeser's meat market. The fire evidently burned ten minutes before the alarm was turned in to Engine house No. 1. Fire Commissioner Heinke said that in his rooms in the Beaz block at the time. He heard the shouting and thought it was some drunken man.

The alarm reached headquarters at 10:57. The department responded instantly and in four minutes had a stream playing and a ladder upon the Lake avenue viaduct front. Chief Smith from Second street while making the run, saw the flames leaping high into the air. As soon as he reached the scene, he turned in a general fire alarm. Every company turned out with wonderful promptness and inside of eight minutes ten streams were playing on the building. The fire tugs Buffalo, Effie L. and Joe Dudley at once made their way into the St. Paul & Duluth railway slip. The hose fell short. Citizens with civility lent a hand, rushed forward with extra hose. The couplings were made and in an instant the little tugs were throwing streams with a force that threatened to burst the hose.

The engine at work. About 11:45 the big engine was set in motion with great force. By 2:30 a. m. the fire was completely under control and departments No. 2 and 4 were sent back to their quarters. Too much praise cannot be given the whole department for its prompt response and the effective service of the fire tugs. The pressure from the water mains was all that could be asked for once, say, way, the Duluth Gas and Water company is wholly beyond criticism or censure. The heavy rain near midnight also assisted materially. The showers earlier in the evening had wet down the roofs and walls of surrounding buildings so that cinders and embers that were thrown in every direction were rendered in a measure powerless to do harm.

The work was unusually dangerous for the firemen. One wall fell on Michigan street, covered a line of hose and narrowly missed some of the firemen. A barrel of gasoline exploded at one time, nearly catching Assistant Chief Jackson. As it was, he was caught in the rear and nearly turned around and thrown down. One stream came in contact with a live electric wire which had been torn loose. Several firemen holding the hose nozzle were knocked down by the shock. All the window glass in the rear of La-Vaque's paint and wall paper store were broken and at one time it was feared that the building would go. This morning several barrels of inflammable oils which had been deposited by the side of La-Vaque's building along the sidewalk, were found to have their heads all charred. Had they exploded the results can only be imagined.

A Mass of Ruins.
Today the ruins present a woful sight. A mass of tangled, broken, splintered and charred timbers are all that remain. On the Michigan street front the walls have fallen outward and the ruins are nearly on a level with the street. At the southeast corner the timbers are piled up as high as the viaduct railing. On the south side the walls and a portion of the roof have fallen outward and over against a couple of one-story frame structures. Immense crowds are standing around, and despite the ropes a large detail of policemen with difficulty holds them back. A multitude of questions are constantly asked, and every now and then the frightened, anxious face is presented by some one looking after the fate of some friend or relative.

RAN FOR THEIR LIVES.

Claude Medley and his Mother Barely Got Out With Their Lives.
It was thought that Claude Medley and his mother, Mrs. Eliza Medley, had perished in the flames. Young Medley works in the shoe department of Pantou & Watson's and was known to have roomed in the ill-fated block. When he did not appear at the store this morning there was good reason to fear that he had been caught by the greedy flames. While a Herald reporter was in Pantou & Watson's Mr. Medley walked in, dressed in a brand new suit of clothes, from hat down, which told the tale as well as could words.

"We got out with our lives but nothing else," he said. "Mother and I had adjoining rooms in the south-east corner of the building. She came into my room and said 'Claude, the building is on fire.' I looked into the hall and could see no smoke or fire. I then turned to mother and said, 'Go back to bed and I will see what the matter is. There is no danger, I guess.' This took only an instant but when I opened the door again the hall was full of fire and smoke. There was no time to be lost. An instant's delay would have been fatal. We ran for it and got out, but with nothing on except our night clothes. Oh, yes, I believe mother did save a pair of shoes."

EDITOR HARQUELL'S STORY.

He Left the Building Less Than an Hour Before the Fire.
"I left the block about 10:15 p. m.," said Editor Harquell, of La Sentinelle. "At that time there was not a sign of fire. I walked home and took a lunch had just got into bed when I heard the alarm of fire. When I reached Lake avenue the building was a mass of flames. The office of La Sentinelle had recently been refitted and in addition to the newspaper plant I had a good library, including a law library. The whole was worth about $3000 and I have not one cent of insurance. But I will at once start to work to get a new office and I hope to issue La Sentinelle again next month. I lost many valuable papers, including several unrecorded deeds to land in Florida. But the loss I feel greatest is the burning of bound files of my newspapers during the past sixteen years. They can never be replaced and I valued them highly. I am satisfied that at least half a dozen people perished in the flames." Mr. Harquell had one of the most complete weekly newspaper offices in the state.

THREE BODIES DISCOVERED.

The Corpses of Two Women and a Child Taken From the Ruins.

The building was filled with roomers and it was morally certain from the beginning of the fire that more than one life would be lost. Early this morning the ruins were overhauled and between 6 and 7 o'clock three bodies were taken from the debris. Two were women and one was a child. One of the women was found hanging by her head between two timbers and these had to be wedged apart. The body was not very badly burned except the hands, which were done to a crisp. The hair was nearly all burned off her head but the features could be distinguished fairly well. She was identified after being taken to Dr. Morgan's morgue as Mrs. Mary Foard, aged 33 years. For the past three years she has been a cook at A. D. Babcock's restaurant near the Lake avenue viaduct. She roomed in the west part of the building with her son Robert age 6 years. He, too, is almost certainly burned, but up to 11 o'clock his body had not been recovered. The woman was seen to come to a window and then with a fearful scream fall back into the flames.

Mrs. Meagher's Body Found.

The body of Mrs. Meagher, one of the victims, was found in plain view on top of the ruins. The location was on that of the southeast corner room on the top floor. The body of little Cecilia, aged 3, was found lying across that of her mother. A. C. Kennedy, who resides at 16, East Second street, is a brother of the deceased. To his home have been taken the four surviving children. Thomas aged 14; Julia aged 12, John aged 10 and Joe aged 6. Tom tells the following story of the disaster: "We were awakened by a knock at the door. We had just gone to bed. (The family occupied rooms 4 and 5 upstairs.) We hurried out and tried to use the stairs on Michigan street. There was too much fire, so we made for the other stairs. Mother told us to go that way. She was in the hall. She then went back to get something out of the bureau drawer. She told me to hurry up with the children. A trunk had been thrown down the stairs and landed below, so as to close the front door. People outside tried to shove the door open. A couple of policemen opened the door." When the children were rescued they were more or less overcome by the smoke.

Mrs. Meagher came here from Brainerd about three weeks ago, and had lived there to years. She was 35 years of age. Her husband kept a large dry-goods store in Brainerd at one time but about four years ago was killed on the railroad, near Brainerd. The son, Thomas, has been employed by A. D. Thomson & Co. for some time.

Clearing Away the Debris.

This afternoon several teams and a gang of about twenty men are busily employed in clearing away enough of the debris so that tomorrow rapid and effective operations can be commenced. The stuff from the ruins is piled out on to Michigan street and the viaduct and from there is carted away. It was reported after dinner that another body had been found but it proved not to be a fact. It is not likely that any more will be found until considerable more of the timbers and boards are removed.

Some Fire Notes.

W. A. Miller, the bookbinder, had moved down to the Bunnell block from the Pastoret-Stenson block but a few days ago. He carried $500 with Stryker, Manley & Buck's agency. He got it transferred although the firm was reluctant to do it being afraid of the building. This was the only insurance on the building or contents which this firm had.

The "Scandia" of this week will be printed in Minneapolis and issued Friday or Saturday. Editor Lange goes to St. Paul tonight to buy a new outfit and has rented offices in the Wright block, 10 East Superior street.

K. A. Ostergerren was getting out an educational journal containing a new method of instruction for foreign born citizens in the United States and all his sheets were at the bookbindery to be bound. They were destroyed in the fire. Dr. Alden is looking after some sick children who are among the fire sufferers lodged in the Howard block. Last evening he had occasion to go up at the time the fire broke out in the Bunnell block. The mothers were nearly crazy with excitement. Some of them were carrying their infants around by the heels, much the same as a small child will sometimes carry around its doll. Their late visitation of fire was too well impressed on their minds to warrant coolness.

Loss and Insurance.

Following are the losses and insurance as near as can be ascertained:
R. O. Wells, tailor, $2,000 loss, $1,200 ins.
Tom Houston, saloonkeeper, 1,500 loss, 1,500 ins.

LELAND STANFORD DEAD.

The Noted United States Senator From California Died at His Home in Palo Alto.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate is advised by a private dispatch that Senator Leland Stanford, of California, died at his home in San Francisco this morning.

The News Confirmed.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Confirmation of the death of Senator Leland Stanford has been received. He died at his home in Palo Alto.

Biographical.

Leland Stanford was born in Water-viet, Albany county, N. Y., March 9, 1834. His ancestors settled in the valley of the Mohawk, N. Y., about 1720. He was brought up on a farm, and when 20 years old began the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1859, and the same year began to practice at Port Washington, Wis. In 1852 he removed to California and began mining for gold. In 1857 he went to San Francisco and engaged in mercantile pursuits on a large scale, laying the foundation of a fortune that has recently been estimated at more than $500,000. In 1860 he entered public life as a delegate to the convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln. In 1861 he was elected president of the Central Pacific railway, and in the same year was chosen governor of California. In 1883 Mr. Stanford was elected to the United States senate. In memory of his only son he, a few years ago, gave the state of California $200,000 to be used in founding at Palo Alto a university with a curriculum including not only the usual collegiate studies, but instruction in telegraphy, typesetting, typewriting, journalism, bookkeeping, civil engineering and other practical branches of education. Included in the trust fund for the maintenance of the university is Mr. Stanford's estate at Vina, Tehama county, Cal., which is said to be the largest vineyard in the world. It comprises 30,000 acres, 3500 of which are planted with bearing vines. It is divided into 500-acre tracts, and most of the labor is performed by Chinamen.

TO BE SENTENCED TODAY.

Whalen Found Guilty of Spaulding's Murder at Portage.
JANESVILLE, Wis., June 21.—Charles S. Whalen was yesterday found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Gerald Spaulding, of St. Paul, with a coupling pin near Portage, April 1, 1892. He will be sentenced today, the being from fourteen to twenty-five years.

DYNAMITERS AT WORK.

A Dastardly Attempt to Blow Up the Residence of the ex-Prime Minister of Spain.

The Explosion the Cause of One Death, a Fatal Injury and Wounding of Several.

The Son of a Marquis Trampled to Death by a Crowd that Became Panic-Stricken.

MADRID, June 21.—Great excitement prevails throughout the city in consequence of a dastardly attempt last night to blow up with dynamite the residence of Senor Canovas del Castillo, lately prime minister. Though the occupants of the residence of the ex-prime minister escaped unscathed, the explosion was the cause of the death of one person, the fatal injury of another and the wounding of several others.

At the time of the explosion a performance was being given at a circus a short distance from the residence of Senor Canovas del Castillo. The shock was so great it caused part of the ceiling, directly over the stalls that were occupied by a party of nobles, to crash down upon the heads of the occupants of the stalls. Among the occupants of the stalls were a grandson of the marquis of Havana, president of the senate, and a son of Marquis Guadale. The former was struck on the head by a large piece of the falling ceiling and sustained injuries that will cause his death in a few hours. The son of Marquis Guadale attempted to rush from the building, but lost his footing and the panic-stricken crowd trampled him to death. His body was later removed from the building.

Seven other persons were also trampled upon by the crowd and seriously injured, while a large number of those who escaped unscathed from the building sustained painful but not dangerous injuries. It is generally believed the explosion was the work of anarchists whose headquarters are at Barcelona. It is expected that a number of arrests will be made in that city of men who are supposed to have some connection with the plans of the revolutionists in Barcelona, where the opponents of the government have shown much activity of late.

MANY PEOPLE HOMELESS.

A Most Dastardly Fire Was Started by a Boy Playing With a Toy Pistol.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., June 21.—A boy playing with a toy pistol in a barn in Gibson opposite this city started a fire last evening that burned eighty dwellings, two churches, the Canadian Pacific railway station, six general stores and two public halls. One hundred and twenty-five families are homeless.

FIVE INDIANS KILLED.

Fight at the Cheyenne Agency Between Troops and Soldiers.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 20.—There is trouble at the Cheyenne agency. An enlisted Indian at Fort Keogh got permission to visit the agency. He over-stayed his time and a detachment of Indian troops went after him. He refused to return and his Indian friends declared they would not let him be taken.

The commandant at Fort Keogh requested Agent Tully to make the arrest, but Tully declined. Last night, Lieut. Marshall with his Indian cavalry was ordered to make the arrest. Orders were sent to the company at Lame Deer to aid Lieut. Marshall if necessary. The orders were to make the arrest and call for all the troops necessary. The rumor last night is that a fight has occurred and that five Indians were killed at the agency, but the authorities at Fort Keogh refuse to either confirm or deny it. It is certain something has occurred.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

George French, an Old Settler in Becker County, Killed.

DETROIT, Minn., June 21.—George French, an old settler of Detroit, was instantly killed by lightning at his brother's house, three miles north of Detroit yesterday. Four others near him were not hurt, but the house was badly shattered. Mr. French was unmarried and a relative of the Brackett family of Minneapolis.

An Old Settler Dead.

GRANTSBLVD, Wis., June 21.—Ex-County Judge Magnus Nelson died here yesterday morning after a prolonged sickness. He was the first settler in Burnett county, having settled here some forty years ago. He has held several offices of trust and up to a few years ago was prominent in politics in Northwest Wisconsin.

FERRIS WHEEL RUNNING.

One of the Greatest Engineering Triumphs of the Century.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Amid the booming of cannon from gunboats on Lake Michigan, the patriotic music of half a dozen bands, the cheering and waving of flags by twenty thousand spectators the Ferris wheel, the greatest triumph of engineering of the nineteenth century, was formally dedicated today as an adjunct to the World's Columbian exposition. Ten thousand invitations had been issued, the invited guests including President Cleveland and the members of the cabinet, Chief Justice Fuller and the associated justices of the supreme court, the ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary from foreign countries, the senate and house of representatives of the United States, the members of the two branches of the Illinois legislature, the foreign commissioners to the World's fair, the executives of the various states, the members of the national commission and local board, the members of the various societies of civil engineers in the Eastern and Western states, the city council of Chicago and prominent representatives of the press of European countries, Australia and the United States.

Some of those to whom invitations had been sent were compelled by stress of other engagements to send their regrets, but fully two-thirds accepted, and these were reinforced by several thousand of the regular visitors to the fair. No such crowd has yet been seen in Midway plaine, as was gathered around this gigantic structure when the exercises were inaugurated by the rendering of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the Iowa State band.

On behalf of the promoters of the enterprise Capt. R. W. Hunt, president of the Ferris wheel company, called the assembly to order, and in brief but felicitous terms referred to the difficulties that have been encountered and to the final triumph by which the enterprise had been surmounted. He then introduced G. W. G. Ferris of Pittsburg, the inventor of the wheel, who was received with a applause loud and long continued. Mr. Ferris modestly expressed his appreciation of the ovation tendered him, and gave way to Gen. Nelson A. Miles. Another ovation was in store for the bronzed Indian fighter. He responded to the sentiment of the United States government and commented on the great value to the engineering world of the successful completion of the structure.

The band then rendered "America," after which Mayor Carter Harrison responded on behalf of the city of Chicago and President H. N. Higginbotham for the World's Columbian exposition. Mr. M. P. Handy spoke for "The World and World's Fair," and Mr. James W. Scott for the "Press of the World." The concluding speech was made by Hon. Win. A. Vincent, ex-chief justice of the territory of New Mexico, who spoke for the Ferris Wheel company and especially addressed himself to the ladies present, assuring them of absolute strength and safety of the wonder. At the conclusion of this address the band played into "Vance, Doolittle." When the second stanza had been reached, the inventor, Mr. Ferris, blew a signal on a gold whistle. In the meantime the thirty-six cars had been filled with the first contingent of invited guests. At the signal the engineer pulled the lever and, amidst a tempest of cheers, the booming of cannon and the waving of tens of thousands of flags, the vast structure, with its 2020 of souls, commenced slowly to revolve. Twenty minutes were occupied in the first trip, which was made in perfect safety. The rest of the invited guests were then treated to a ride and this afternoon the wheel was thrown open to the public.

STILL SLASHING RATES.

The Great Northern is Cutting Pacific Coast Rates Badly.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The Great Northern has announced rates of $51 first class and $33 second class from St. Paul to San Francisco. Passengers will be taken from Seattle to San Francisco on the steamers of the Pacific Coast Navigation company with no extra charge for berths or meals. Comparative rates by the direct lines from Chicago to San Francisco are $55 first class and $39 tourist rates.

It is the only time direct transcontinental rates have been openly attacked for years, and officials of interested lines are as much at sea as anyone in judging the effect on rates to the Pacific coast.

A KEROSENE EXPLOSION.

A Child Cremated and a Residence Burned Down.

MADISON, Wis., June 21.—The home of A. Van Dusen was destroyed by fire today, one child cremated, another badly burned, but will live, and a domestic, Theresa Rink, so badly burned that she is not expected to live. Mrs. Van Dusen was away with two children, leaving three in care of Miss Rink. About 4:30 an explosion occurred in the kitchen, where the girl was ironing. She was thrown through the rear door, and in a moment the structure was in flames. One child was taken out with her clothing on fire, but a 2-year old baby was burned to a crisp. She says a five gallon can of kerosene exploded, but denies that she used it in building a fire.

Barrel Works Burned.

ST. PAUL, June 21.—The South St. Paul barrel works took fire just at midnight, and in twenty minutes lay in ruins, a total loss. The blaze was so hot that the fire department was driven back, and the distillery and stock yards building were in imminent danger of destruction. At 12:25, however, a heavy rain storm came up, the first in three weeks, and saved the adjoining buildings. The loss to the barrel works is $50,000; insurance, $30,000.

Six Cars Ditched.

FARGO, N. D., June 21.—A freight wreck occurred on the Northern Pacific just this side of Mapleton yesterday. Six cars loaded with merchandise and grain were ditched and smashed and the contents were damaged by the heavy rain. No one was injured.

TO REDUCE THE FORCE

West Duluth Car Works Will Lay Off Many Men While Repairs are Being Made.

Rolling Mill Furnaces Must be Rebuilt, the Blacksmith Shop Moved and Other Changes Made.

The Mill Companies Returned from the Employment Last Evening—Funds Raised for Virginia.

The car works will not be shut down next month as reported about town, but the force of men will be greatly reduced owing to the necessity of making repairs. All the furnaces in the rolling mill will be rebuilt. This is occasioned by the intense heat which has been put on the mill, and the rolling mill will be moved to the new building at the same time, which will delay the work in that department and throw the smiths, or a portion of them out of employment. A complete inventory of the works will also be taken and various other improvements and repairs undergone. The number of men will probably be reduced to about one third of the usual number.

The millmen returned last night from camp Lakewood and report an excellent time having the intense heat. On Saturday the regiment was inspected by Governor Nelson and staff. The only man who qualified as a marksman in either company H. or G. was Mark Kigen. Chas. Gunderson or "Big Charlie" as he is commonly known qualified as corporal in the signal corps. The Third regiment was represented by about 400 men in camp. The Second regiment took possession of the grounds today.

West Duluthians Generous. The committee on relief for the sufferers on the range met with pretty good success yesterday. Over $200 was collected besides a goodly amount of clothes, etc. The latter was collected by the boys of the fire department and shipped to Duluth today. The private subscription taken with the sum appropriated by the council will make a creditable contribution from West Duluth.

West Duluth Bricks. Mrs. Meagher, the woman reported burned in the Bunnell block last night was quite well known in West Duluth, having lived here for some time. She was a sister of A. C. Kennedy, formerly in business here.

Miss Nannie Shook has accepted a position as bookkeeper for Home Bros. H. P. Mars, N. C. Hendricks, L. E. and Fred Prescott all went to Virginia yesterday.

The regular monthly meeting of West Duluth physicians was held yesterday in the office of Dr. Keyes.

Peter Foster, employed at the Mitchell & McClure mill, yesterday sprained his ankle; very seriously.

Dr. E. T. Wilson, of Detroit, Mich., is visiting his friends the Drs. Graham.

According to the report of Assessor Melin, the valuation of new buildings erected in West Duluth since last year's tax list was completed is $77,000. The personal property is assessed this year at $931,227.

Notice to Debt Owners. Notice is hereby given that all persons owning or keeping unlicensed dogs will be liable to arrest and fine or imprisonment from and after this date.

SCROFULOUS SORES

Early Daily Afflicted Three Years. Tried Many Doctors Here and in England Without Benefit. Cured by Cuticura.

My wife having suffered from scrofula sores on her back for three years, and had tried all the doctors I could get, and also went to England to try and cure there, and all of them failed, and told her they could do nothing for her, and having tried all kinds of remedies I at last tried one box of Cuticura (Lecithin) and to-day she is as well as ever, and her back is as clear as a baby's skin, and I for one can recommend Cuticura (Lecithin) as the best cure for scrofula.

FIRE COMMISSION MEETS. Protection for Duluth Heights Discussed—New Fire Hall to be Rushed.

The fire commission met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The time was mostly consumed in discussion. The application for fire protection on Duluth Heights was given attention. Sixty rubber buckets will be ordered, several men stationed up there, through the dry season, anyway, and a bucket maintained. Later on a chemical engine will be provided.

The secretary was also authorized to advertise for plans and specifications for a new fire hall on First street. The improvement will be 75 by 120 feet, two stories high, with foundations capable of supporting a third. It is the intention of the commission to push this matter.

THE RELIEF WORK. Subscriptions and Donations Still Pouring in at a Rapid Rate.

At the relief headquarters today supplies are pouring in. This morning a car load of articles of every kind was sent up over the Missabe road to Virginia. One-third of the car was filled with clothing and there were 100 mattresses, 200 pillows, a lot of shoes and cooking utensils and other articles.

The Helena Milk company today telegraphed the Wells-Stone Mercantile company to send six cases of Highland condensed cream to the sufferers on the account. M. S. Burrows has contributed large numbers of hats and boys' waists and the Kitchen Ganniball club has sent in a large lot of dishes.

Professor Meier's City band has done a very generous act. The members receive $15 per night for playing and last night's amount was sent to the relief committee today. Professor Meier makes a very good suggestion. He says that many people in stores and business houses would be willing to contribute half a day's wages but are a little backward because the amount would be so small. He suggests that if employees could get their name made up to a fund a very respectable amount could be secured in each establishment and the general fund materially swelled.

All day committees have been around soliciting among the business men and the relief is assuming fine proportions. Subscriptions are coming in from outside. James Corrigan, the Cleveland ore dealer sends $500. W. C. Runyan also of Cleveland sends $100 and others are coming in fast.

George Oddie Wedding. At 8 o'clock this evening Miss Lizzie G. Oddie will be married to William M. Oddie. Mr. Oddie has been manager of Pantan & Watson's hardware department for several years and is an energetic and prosperous young man with a host of friends. The bride is a daughter of William E. George, at one time cashier for Pantan & Watson. The ceremony will occur at the home of the bride's parents in Lester Park. Immediately after the ceremony the newly wedded couple will repair to a pretty home provided by Mr. Oddie at Lester Park and will begin housekeeping. Pantan & Watson, as a mark of their esteem for the groom, presented to him and his bride a very handsome clock. The clerks in the same establishment, through Miss Birdie Pray, present it to them a magnificent lamp. The employees of Pantan & Watson will this evening tender Mr. and Mrs. Oddie a serenade at their new home.

DISCRIMINATION IN RATES.

The Canadiana Charged With Not Maintaining Uniform Tolls.

It is charged that the Canadian government is violating the agreement entered into last winter to stop discrimination and charge a uniform toll of 10 cents per ton on grain destined to Montreal whether shipped via Kingston or Ogdensburg, and that the toll on grain going to Kingston is now being rebated as a term.

Whether the entire amount of the toll is rebated in the rebate these making the charge do not say, but it seems altogether likely that at least 50 per cent is being returned, which would constitute a discrimination of 5 cents per ton against the Ogdensburg route. The matter will no doubt be thoroughly investigated by the United States authorities, and if the charge is substantiated retaliatory measures in connection with Canadian vessels passing through the Sault canal may be looked for.

Biweekly Meeting of St. Louis. St. Louis possesses a very swift bicyclist in the person of A. G. Harding, the plucky young rider who recently captured the time prize in the Forest park road race at St. Louis, although he started from scratch against Frank Viles, a local champion.

G. P. Misch, a local champion, was defeated by A. G. Harding. Harding's time was 10 minutes and 10 seconds. Harding's victory over Misch, the swiftest of the Chicago cracks, demonstrates that he is a promising young rider.

The Convict Labor Problem. One of the great problems of penology is to find work for convicts to do which shall not infringe the natural rights of free and law-abiding labor. It is agreed that it is unwise as well as dangerous to allow convicts to remain wholly idle, and yet when an attempt is made to supply them with something to do an outcry arises from the free labor which finds itself forced into a competition which it cannot resist and compelled to see its wages real and or remain idle.

For this state of things the convict labor system is much to blame. The contractor secures convict labor at a price which enables him to underbid free labor, not only because his lease is low, but because he can reduce the subsistence of his convicts, over whom his power is absolute to the very lowest limit. It may not be possible to avoid entirely the competition of convict labor with free labor, but every state might so regulate matters as to maintain the standard of wages, and thus prevent convict labor from making free labor unprofitable if not impossible. Above all, the lease system in vogue in the south should be abolished, for it is more onerous and cruel than negro slavery ever was.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Sims' Lecture.

He Attacks the Roman Catholic Church and Its Teachings.

Walter Sims, of West Bay City, Mich., lectured at the Lyceum last evening on the American Protective association and its methods. He announced that he did intend to ridicule Catholics but it was the church as a political institution. His lecture was mainly devoted to attacking the Roman Catholic belief and teachings, however, and he gave as his reason for this that he was a Catholic and he was not a Catholic to have in public places. He attacked first the idea of purgatory. One of the church's peculiarities is that it gets its living by taxing people who live in a place called purgatory. A man can get out of purgatory by paying $100, according to how much money his heirs have—a high price for high mass and a low price for low mass. He argues that this is used to rob poor people. The theory of transubstantiation was then ridiculed. The confessional was declared to be the key to Rome's power and he said that the priest knowing all the people's secrets can use them for blackmailing purposes to get money for the church. By the confessional the priests have a fast hold on the criminal—the priest knows his secrets. By the confessional they have a leverage on the man in office. When you elect a Roman Catholic you elect the priest. A man cannot vote a good Roman Catholic and a good American citizen. Either he is subject to the priest, or he is a Catholic for what there is in it and will sell out to the highest bidder—that's Rome.

Roman Catholic, he said, believe in killing heretics arguing that thereby they are saving them from committing millions of sins and are doing God's service. He also attacked the rule of celibacy declaring it to be an immoral rule and he asked why Roman Catholics have so many illegitimate asylums. He spoke of the priests as fathers and said "they are fathers indeed." He expected to see the time when laws should be passed protecting the people from torturing money from the people, throwing out the convents, and allowing priests to marry.

He repeated the old allegation about the press associations being controlled by Jesuits. He also warned the audience that "we are on the verge of a revolution" and said that "our intelligence of him is such that we can read him through and through."

Railways and the Fair.

The Chicago Post points out in a timely article that at last people all over the country are beginning to find out that the principal expense of a visit to the World's fair is not the stay in Chicago, but the railway journey to that city.

It is well that this is coming to be known, for when everybody understands it the railways will be forced to do their duty if they would serve their interest and Chicago will be benefited in reputation as well as in pocket.

It is true that a visit to the fair from any part of the country east of Chicago can now be made at small cost, but more than one-half of that cost is exacted by the railway companies. As an example, take this very economical young woman's case. She came from New York, spent seven days in Chicago in sight-seeing, during which brief stay she had, she says, "the very best time in her life," and returned to her Eastern home. This was her expense account:

Excursion ticket with berth in sleeping car, $33.00.

Meals en route, $2.50 each way.

Excursion in Chicago, $1.00.

Admission to fair, $1.00.

Car fare, $1.00.

Total, $39.00.

It would be difficult to be more careful than this one's expenditures. Only $32 was spent in lodging, meals, admission to the fair, car fare and "extras". The other $43 was taken by the railway and its restaurants. Chicago certainly is not practicing extortion on its visitors. Perhaps the railways are not. But even the most prejudiced railway manager cannot fail to see, even though he will not admit it, that the railways are not doing their share. And what is true of rates from the East is also true of rates from points in the West.

It Pleases "De Chilton."

The sensitive nerves of some insufferable prig connected with the News Tribune appear to be badly jarred by the account in which The Herald distanced its sleepy old morning contemporary in the report of the disastrous fires on the Mesaba range. Judging from the classic English employed in calling The Herald hard names, the screed was written by the same callow youth who has been exciting the risibilities of the people by ponderous dramatic criticisms and a eulogy of Edwin Booth that was more weighty than Webster's unabridged.

In this connection, a story recently told by the Mountain Iron Manitowish appropos: An aged colored man whose early education had been confined to the upper branches of a cotton plantation, used the word "hemisphere" meaninglessly in one of his most fervent prayers, and when asked why he did so, replied that it was a good word and he thought it would please "de chilton."

It is a good suggestion that several papers have made that congress should promptly provide by a special act for the maimed and crippled government clerks injured by the falling of the Ford's theatre building in Washington, and the widows and dependents upon the killed should be protected from poverty and suffering. The occupants of that death-trap should not be neglected by the government they were serving.

Some young men of Bordenstown, N. J., have devised a clever plan for visiting the World's fair. They have hired a freight car, fitted it with twelve bunks, a cook stove, and a well-stocked larder, and will go to Chicago at an expense of about $10 apiece. They are forced to this mode of traveling by the high passenger rates demanded by the railroads. Other people may be driven to similar extremes, if the rates are not lowered.

The Pittsburg, Pa., Gazette says that a Susquehanna county girl has taken a novel way of deciding between three lovers. She wrote their names upon a may egg, which a faithful hen is now trying to warm into life, and the young man whose name is on the egg which hatches first will secure the prize heart and hand. But what if all three hatch together?

A Chicago policeman fired at a fleeing pickpocket a few days ago and killed a 14-year-old boy. This shows that the members of Chicago's "finest" are improving in marksmanship, because the last one previous to this incident who tried to hit a burglar shot himself in the toe. Still there is room for improvement.

Nothing is as uncertain as a horse race except a game of baseball. The favorite was beaten in the suburban handicap at Sheepshead Bay yesterday and a ten to one shot carried off the honors.

Contributions to the Mesaba fire relief fund are coming in liberally. A large amount of aid is needed and all the funds that will be raised will not be greater than the amount required.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press understands that Maj. Baldwin will now go gunning for some of the St. Cloud officeholders. They are all pretty good-sized marks.

Grover Cleveland is reported to be gaining flesh so rapidly that he has had to give up walking. The disappointed office seekers are now doing the walking.

THE RECORD OF A YEAR

City Engineer Reed Submits the Report of His Department's Work for the Year.

He Recommends the Adoption of Civil Service Rules in Making Appointments in the Department.

Total Expenditures for the Year, Number of Miles Paved and Graded and Other Information.

City Engineer Reed has submitted to the board of public works his report of the status of the city engineering department for the year ending Feb. 28, 1893, together with those of Assistant City Engineer M. W. Lewis, Bridge Engineer E. J. Duffies, and C. E. Locke, inspector of concrete and drains.

Mr. Reed strongly urges the introduction of civil service rules in regulating and controlling the appointment of the officers and employees of the department. "New men always require double the necessary supervision even when wholly competent," says the report. "In all especially municipal engineering work, where the conditions are peculiar and when public works are inaugurated on a scale that requires great property development and completion, so that only extended study and experience can enable the engineer to work out the details and different branches of the system with intelligence and accuracy. It seems obvious that changes of policy every year, or every few months, can work only to a disadvantage and loss."

A statement of field parties employed and work done is followed by a statement of expenditures, which shows a decrease in all the departments, except that controlling street, road and sewer connections, which came under the care of the department within the last year. The actual cost of the engineering and maintenance department for the year was $85,914.20. During the year 12.01 miles of streets were graded; 7,180 square yards of black pavement and 115,000 square yards of Telford macadam laid; 7.9 miles sanitary sewers constructed; 0.7 miles of storm sewers and 0.7 miles of sidewalk built.

The establishment of a convenient supply yard is considered still pertinent by Mr. Reed, and urged as a matter of pure business economy. The purchase of all brick, cement and sewer pipe by the city, the same to be delivered to contractors at actual cost, is recommended. As a matter of necessity and economy in cleaning, sweeping and sprinkling the streets in the more dense business districts, the recommendation is made that all streets and avenues within the area bounded by Fifth avenue west, Second avenue east, Fourth street and Michigan street inclusive, be paved with cedar blocks on concrete foundation. That will necessitate some repaving. The making of sewer connections with private houses as a matter of economy and convenience is recommended to be left to a sewer foreman and the actual cost charged up to the owner.

Attention is called to the desirability of platting property. A general plan by the city for all unimproved property suggested with the requirement that all else be compelled to conform thereto. The report is quite exhaustive, yet clear, plain, concise and to the point. It is a most merit and good common sense. It does credit to City Engineer Reed.

The report of Assistant Engineer M. W. Lewis, states that plans and specifications were prepared as follows: Street paving, 8; street grading, 3; sanitary sewers, 21; storm sewers, 3; sidewalks, 21; miscellaneous, 10; total 77. The total amount of work done on those contracts was:

Street grading and paving..... $20,373.00

Sanitary sewers..... 9,053.79

Sidewalks..... 14,327.31

Miscellaneous..... 6,160.10

Total..... $49,918.20

REGARDING PRE-EMPTIONS.

Land Officers Have Been Wired to Suspend Publications.

At the United States land office the rush for lands still continues. This morning 67-21 was opened to entry, and there were about fifty applicants in line to enter lands under the homestead and timber and stone laws.

It has been the practice of the officers heretofore to receive pre-emption filings by mail, spread them on the records and advertise them for final proof before the townships were opened to entry at 9 a. m. The effect of this has been to prevent the homestead and timber applicants from the land office for the rule of the land office secretary, spot of the pre-emption claim has once been advertised for final proof no other kind of entry or filing can be allowed over it.

Some of the land attorneys who have largely represented the homestead and timber applicants claim that the officers have been premature in advertising the pre-emption claims for final proof, and one firm which has been in communication with the general land office at Washington upon the subject for the past week, received this morning a dispatch which looks quite favorable for the homestead and timber applicants.

The telegram is from their Washington correspondent and says in effect that the commissioner has wired the local officers to suspend the publication of all pre-emption applications, and it further gives assurance that the rights of all parties will be equally protected.

Many attorneys hold to the opinion that the pre-emption claims were not advertised to advertise their claims until the ninety days have expired which the statute gives all settlers to place their claims before the local and office and it is said Receiver Frayer also entertains this view of the matter. The whole question will likely be settled for all time when the commissioner's letter, which is expected, arrives from Washington.

COMPANY RETURNS.

It Distinguished Itself at the Lake City Encampment.

Company A, Third Regiment, N. G. S. M., Capt. Middel commanding, returned yesterday from the camp at Lake City, where the whole regiment was gathered together. Although few in numbers, the company distinguished itself far beyond the average proportion. In drill, discipline, accoutrements, smartness or snap, the inspecting officer and other judges admitted that it excelled all others. But above all, in rifle shooting did the company distinguish itself. No less than three sharpshooters and eight marksmen qualified. The sharpshooters are Lieuts. Weische and Duade and Corp. Thomson. The weather was good, but extremely hot and several members were indisposed for short periods.

The commissary was Sergt. Engels and his care for the company became well known throughout the regiment. At mess (dinner) on Sunday the following visitors dined with Company A, the tables being presided over by Capt. Biddle: Lieut. Col. Johnson, Maj. Braden and wife, Maj. Price, Capt. Huston, Twelfth United States Infantry, Adj. Van Duize and wife, Lieut. Esterbrook, and Sergt. Maj. Hatch.

ONE PRIEST JEALOUS.

A Young Assistant Became Too Popular to Please Rev. Domagalski, a Priest at Winona.

The People Decided the Old Priest Must Go and Bishop Cotter Agreed He Would.

Shortages Found in the Cash Accounts of the Church and the Treasurer Was Chased.

WINONA, Minn., June 21.—Rev. Domagalski was appointed as priest to St. Stanislaus parish church about a year ago. Since then he has done some acts that have made him very unpopular. In the early part of the spring, Rev. Domagalski, a young theologian just over from Cronow, Prussia, was called to assist Rev. Domagalski. The elder priest was jealous and published several vituperative articles in a Polish paper issued in this city. This did not meet the approval of the people and they decided that the old priest must go.

Beside these facts, shortages were found in the cash accounts of the church, and upon investigation it was shown that the treasurer was also implicated. The treasurer was thus also implicated. The older priest did not seem inclined to go, and when it was announced yesterday that the younger was about to leave, a crowd last evening gathered that extended for blocks to each side of the church.

The younger priest was escorted to the church and Bishop Cotter sent for. Meantime the treasurer was chased some distance and sticks and stones thrown at him. The bishop quieted the crowd by telling them the young priest might remain. The latter will endeavor to secure a release from the bishop of Cincinnati to enable him to accept the position.

SHOCKING STORIES TOLD.
Minnesota Women Talk Scandalously of Each Other.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUND, Chicago, June 21.—The trouble in the Minnesota Woman's board is to be carried before Governor Nelson, and it is now known that all interested parties will be summoned to St. Paul to appear before the Governor and the state World's fair commission in order that the dispute may be settled.

The statement that peace had settled down upon the heads of the angry women proves to be incorrect. Instead the warfare is more spiteful than ever. Mrs. Greenleaf, Mrs. H. F. Brown and Mrs. Crosby are now ranged on the side of Mrs. Hunt. Mrs. Crosby in a telegram from her home in Hastings denying that she has gone over to Mrs. Stebbins camp. Mrs. Greenleaf ever since her arrival from Minneapolis has waged an energetic battle in behalf of Mrs. Hunt; so aggressive, in fact, that the prominent Minneapolis woman and Mrs. Clarke do not recognize each other when they meet. It transpires that the whole trouble is largely based upon strained relations between Minneapolis and St. Paul. It is a plain case of the women fighting the battles of the two cities where the men left off.

Mrs. Clarke of St. Paul is accused of an attempt to freeze out Minneapolis women and Minneapolis exhibits by placing either Mrs. Hazenwinkle of St. Paul, or Mrs. Stebbins of Rochester, or both, in charge of the Minnesota woman's exhibit. She is also said to have a personal grudge against Mrs. Hunt. Of course there are no sides to every question, and in justice to Mrs. Clarke it should be said that she denies this. She is fighting for Mrs. Hazenwinkle as installer and for Mrs. Stebbins as assistant. It is the strength of the Governor's action in the matter that a meeting of all interested will soon be held in St. Paul. No one on the outside has any idea of the extent to which the quarrel has been carried.

The women have gone so far as to indulge in bitter personalities and if they were men fists would have been used long ago instead of tongues. Family skeletons have been resurrected, and if necessary will be exposed ruthlessly to the public—shocking stories of the habits of some of the very lights of Minnesota are handled back and forth by some of these women, whose spite has carried them to the farthest extremity of gossip.

Nor is the outbreak recent, as almost since the very organization of the woman's board these personal scandals have been buried back and forth. It will be lucky for the women and fortunate for the good name of the state if they do not become public property.

DISCOVERED BY A DREAM.
The Body of a Suicide Found in the River at Winona.

WINONA, Minn., June 21.—The body of the riverman Leonard, who suicided by jumping from the steamer Daisy on Sunday, was yesterday recovered a short distance below the city as the result of a peculiar dream.

Nelson Reed, who lives near the steamer, dreamed last night that he stood on the river bank watching a steamer come down stream. When just opposite him he saw the wheel wash up an object which he could plainly see was the body of a man. The dream so greatly impressed Mr. Reed that at daylight yesterday morning he took his skill and rowed up to the steamer, when he sighted a steamer coming down in exactly the same manner as in his dream, and when it approached he saw it was the same boat, the Daisy.

As it rounded the treble Reed rowed out and followed close to the wheel, impelled by a strange curiosity. He had not proceeded ten rods when the wheel washed a dark and heavy object up

DEATHS ON THE RAIL.

A Train Returning from the Sheephead Bay Race Track Was Thrown from the Track.

Seven of the Victims are Now Dead, Another Expected to Die, and Many Injured.

Switchman McGarry Has Been Placed Under Arrest and Charged With Responsibility for the Accident.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Although no other victim of the disastrous accident yesterday afternoon at the race track on the Bay Ridge branch of the Long Island railroad have died, one of them, Andrew J. Bartholomew, is not expected to live throughout the day. Seven died yesterday. The other wounded men, it is said at the hospitals, will recover, although one or two of them are seriously hurt. Bartholomew, whose left leg was cut off in the crash, had the other leg amputated. He was so weak that they could get nothing from him. It is supposed that he and Quinby, who was killed, were together. Both came from the same place.

Switchman McGarry was arraigned before Justice Sutherland at Gravesend at 10 o'clock this morning. He denied being in any way responsible for the accident and in the absence of witnesses and an official report from the Long Island Railroad company, was held for further examination.

The following is a revised list of the dead: Robert Cuddey, New York police man; Fritz Johnson, New York piano maker; E. J. McGonagall, Philadelphia, 38 years old; H. J. Spink, city marshal, New York; unknown man; William B. Hutchinson, Chicago, 212 Wells street; George Murphy, New York.

THE SUBURBAN HANDICAP.
Lowlander, a Ten to One Shot, Was an Easy Winner.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The suburban handicap of 1893, the tenth in the history of the event, was a most grievous disappointment to the turf loving public.

Lowlander was at 10 to 1 against in the betting, and all kinds of fancy prices could be had about the chances of Terrier. The race was worth $18,000 to the winner, $3,000 to the second and $2,000 to the third horse. The winner is owned by Fred Lowe, and beside the rich stake he netted many thousands of dollars by the victory of his horse.

WONDERFUL CROP GROWTH.
Favorable Condition Shown in the Iowa Report.

DES MOINES, June 21.—The Iowa crop bulletin issued yesterday says: The past seven rare June days have pushed all crops rapidly forward. The daily mean temperature was above the normal, and the sunshine was in excess of the average. The amount of rainfall was light except in a few localities, which report excessive moisture.

Corn has made wonderful growth; the soil is generally in good condition and the second cultivation is in progress. If the season continues favorable Iowa will celebrate the Columbian year by exceeding its former high record as a corn-producing state. Oats and other small grain crops have made good progress. In some localities a rank growth is reported.

The season has been exceptionally favorable for pastures and meadows, and the hay crop will be heavy where the grass grows. Not much corn is injured by insects. Small fruits are abundant. The apple crop will be very light.

HIS REVENGE WAS AWFUL.
The Terrible Fate of the Parsonage of a Doctor's Wife.

MILAN, Tenn., June 21.—For some time past Dr. John Hood, of Aden, sixteen miles north of here, has suspected that improper relations existed between his wife and William Piper. Monday night Dr. Hood left his home ostensibly on a visit to a patient but instead hid in an outbuilding near the house.

In less than an hour Piper entered the house. Dr. Hood forced his way to his wife's private room and found his wife and Piper in a compromising situation. Snatching a coal oil lamp burning on a table near by, the enraged husband dashed the missile at Piper's head, and Piper in a compromising situation. Silver Men Hopeful.
WASHINGTON, June 21.—An excellent financial authority says that if congress should repeal the Sherman law and does President Cleveland is reported now to expect them to do, repeal it without passing a substitute any other law recognizing silver as money. France and England would become frightened and would be very glad to make terms and such terms as will avail more to the friends of silver than any silver legislation now possible.

HAVE A SPECIALTY.

The Field of Medicine Has Become Too Broad for a Man to Hope to Cover it All.

In a recent leading article, entitled, "Have a Specialty," which has attracted the attention and admiration of vigorous thinkers, the Scientific American, a journal recognized as a leader wherever the English language is spoken, closes with these accepted truths:

"It does not take the world very long to discover who is the best man for this or that purpose, and when it finds out that man who has made a specialty of one operation, and unquestionably does it better than anyone else, the world must avail itself of his labor."

"We do not mean to argue that a man should be like a horse, capable of entertaining but one idea at a time, for that would be to advocate narrow-mindedness; but we do mean to say that no man should be without one essential and prevailing object, in the prosecution of which he is determined to excel, and it does not make any difference what that is, whether cleaning a gutter or saving lives."

All this adds weight to our first advice: to have a specialty and to push it. Be sure you are right before you select it.

The above excellent advice is quoted here to emphasize the Copeland physicians' claim that the true specialist, one that selects a certain line of diseases and makes their study and practice his life work, cannot help but become more proficient in their treatment than the general bedside practitioner. The field of medicine has become too extended for a man to hope to master it in all its details. Drs. Copeland, Hunt & Drenning's great success in the treatment of all diseases of the human membrane and their kindred affections is the result of years of special training and special application. The only objection that can be urged against them is that they advertise, but if they did not do so they could not hope to secure enough patients to justify them in treating these diseases for the small fee they require, so the public is benefited by their advertising and realizes it.

WEST DULUTH EVIDENCE.
Commending the Copeland System of Treating Catarrh.

Among the numerous residents of West Duluth who have received beneficial treatment at the Copeland Medical Institute is Mr. John Gettings, who is employed in the car shops of the West Duluth Manufacturing Co. He suffered here to emphasize the Copeland physicians' claim that the true specialist, one that selects a certain line of diseases and makes their study and practice his life work, cannot help but become more proficient in their treatment than the general bedside practitioner. The field of medicine has become too extended for a man to hope to master it in all its details. Drs. Copeland, Hunt & Drenning's great success in the treatment of all diseases of the human membrane and their kindred affections is the result of years of special training and special application. The only objection that can be urged against them is that they advertise, but if they did not do so they could not hope to secure enough patients to justify them in treating these diseases for the small fee they require, so the public is benefited by their advertising and realizes it.

The trial of Tony Di Mara, the Italian who stabbed Pascal Langer, is in progress before Judge Lewis and will not likely be finished before tomorrow noon.

This morning Detective Hayden related the circumstances of the arrest and a conversation he had with his prisoner. When asked what caused the rumpus Tony said: "We were playing cards for the beer and I laid two dollars down on the corner of the table. When I looked for them the dollars were gone. Then we got to fighting." Lardner & Middlecott are defending Di Mara, assisted by John Jenswold, Jr., as counsel.

Before Judge Ensign the case of Susan McGowan against Paul Sharpy as sheriff is still on trial. It will probably be concluded tomorrow.

Boycotting the Fair.

Several Methodist bishops and preachers have been indulging in some rather peculiar talk since the decision of the court of appeals was given that the local directory has full power to open the World's fair on Sunday. They propose to issue proclamations and issue a boycott against the order, presuming that the power of the clerical heads of the church will be sufficient to compel the laity to obey their mandates.

By thus using the organized influence of the church to intimidate its members, these bishops and ministers have laid themselves open to criticism. As long as they confined themselves to guiding their own actions in this matter and mere expressing their conscientious scruples against visiting on a week day an institution that is open on Sunday, they were clearly within bounds and exercising the right of every citizen. But when they assume to use their positions as the spiritual guides of a large section of the people of this country by employing the power of the church to damage a public institution, it is time that the press should take up with no uncertain meaning in condemnation of their action.

That men who profess to be Christians, to be teachers of the people in right living and correct moral ideas, should boldly advocate the employment of that vicious thing, the boycott, is really astonishing; that they should seek to intimidate the members of their church into employing it against the World's fair, a national enterprise of surpassing educational and moral value to the whole people, merits the condemnation of all right-thinking persons. That the boycott will be effective is very doubtful. The American people as a rule resent intimidation, and they will not tolerate it at the hands of their ecclesiastical superiors. The Methodists of America are not to be judged by the excited talk of these misguided clerics. There are undoubtedly many of them—certainly they can be found in Duluth—who agree with the low preacher that "no man who can spare the time and money should fail to improve the educational advantages offered by this great exposition, and any preacher who proposes to boycott it for even so grave an offense as Sunday opening is entirely illogical."

Sunday opening being a fact, no boycotting of the fair by the churches can change it. It should likewise be remembered that even if the boycott could make the fair a financial failure it could not make Sabbatarianism more popular. As the Milwaukee Sentinel well states it, "A forced restraint from the profit and pleasure of a thing that is not bad in itself and that does not interfere with the Sabbatarian's peaceful enjoyment of his own ways of spending Sunday, is of no benefit to the churches; it does not promote the spirit of Sabbatarianism, but does extend the revolt against the dictation of ecclesiastical authorities." These bishops and ministers who order the boycotting of the fair are inviting their own downfall.

The Tammany Slate.

According to a recent Washington dispatch, Tammany's presidential slate for 1896 has been decided upon. It is said that Governor Flower is "Boss" Crocker's choice to head the presidential ticket, and Dan Lament is the man he wants to set up for governor. This would leave Senator Hill out in the cold.

A great number of those who regard Flower as the most available man for the Democrats to nominate think Levi P. Morton will be made the standard bearer of the Republicans, and in that event Flower would be the best man the Democrats could put up against him. Such selections, would, it is argued, not only meet with the indorsement of the better elements in both parties, but would place the rank and file.

Of course all this is merely political gossip, and must be taken for what it is worth. Many a promising presidential boom has died away into nothingness by being sprung too soon, and Governor Flower's little boomlet is likely to experience that sad fate. Besides, it is questionable whether Tammany will cut much of a figure in the next Democratic national convention. The bitter fight that its delegates made on Cleveland at Chicago and their declarations that he could not carry New York, which were shown to be badly astray, have weakened the influence of Tammany in future national conventions. New York will hardly be able to dictate the nomination of a Democratic candidate to succeed President Cleveland.

The Pine Land Frauds.

It is whispered in St. Paul that the governor is thinking of taking the investigation of the pine land frauds, commenced by the legislature, into the courts. It is said, also, that the attorney general is to take before the next session of the United States court the case of Rhodes and the alleged coal combine. It was not possible to indict Rhodes before the Ramsey county grand jury, and the federal court is the only place left. This will no doubt be astonishing news to the verdant editor of the Grand Rapids Magnet who still persists that there have been no pine land frauds and none were ever contemplated, all the stories of such being the result of toxicative imaginations, and who continues to abuse The Herald in order to prove that he is right. Perhaps the Magnet will now turn its mind batteries on Governor Nelson for thinking of taking this matter into the courts, and by vilifying him again demonstrate that it is "emphatically and conclusively logical in its position."

The Fair Management.

The announcement that Col. Davis will hereafter be director general of the World's fair in fact as well as in name will be pleasing to all who desire to see the apparently interminable wrangles connected with the exposition's management brought to an end. It is true that he will still continue to be subject to the orders of the council of administration, which consists of two local directors and two national commissioners, but nevertheless his power will be almost absolute and all the troubles of conflicting authority have been concluded.

From this time forward we may expect the management of the fair to be much more efficient than it has been in the past. Ever since the gates were opened on May 1, the necessity of one administrative head, whose authority should be absolute, has been apparent to all who have watched the trend of events. Col. Davis is said to possess great executive and administrative ability, and there is no doubt that the management has been placed in good hands.

The awful catastrophe at a circus at River Falls, Wis., has naturally plunged that little town into the deepest gloom. Seven persons were killed by the bolt of lightning, which struck the center pole of the tent, and large as this loss of life appears, it is extremely fortunate that in the crowded enclosure there were not many more victims. The presence of mind of the ringmaster prevented a serious panic.

The Herald first announced the cremation of four people in the Dumlak block fire; it first announced the rather sudden death of Senator Leland Stanford; it first published the news that Lizzie Borden was acquitted; it gave the first complete account of the scene of destruction at Virginia. And so it goes ahead from day to day, beating all would-be rivals and distancing all competition.

The acquittal of Lizzie Borden from the charge of murdering her father and stepmother will be accepted by all unprejudiced people as the only proper outcome of this somewhat remarkable trial. There was really no conclusive evidence against the accused—merely a suspicion and a few suspicious circumstances.

At a meeting of the citizens of Cloquet $500 was subscribed on the spot for the Mesaba fire sufferers, and a committee was appointed to raise more. This is a splendid showing for a town of the size of Cloquet and shows the large hearts that its people possess.

Governor Nelson is entitled to the heartfelt sympathy of the entire state. He has been requested to decide the dispute between the Minnesota lady managers of the World's fair, who have been tearing each other's hair for the past week.

It is cheaper to travel than stay at home when first-class tickets from Duluth to Puget sound are selling for $25. The rate war between the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific is becoming lively.

And now a revolution has started in San Salvador. It would be a quiet and unusual week in which Central America was free from an uprising of some kind.

Several more cyclones have created great destruction in the Southwest. It is a cause of congratulation that Duluth is north of the cyclone belt.

The rain of Tuesday night and yesterday has done much to check the forest fires. Everything is now thoroughly soaked.

THE LIFE INSURANCE POLICY

Been Waiting For.

In the early days of Life Insurance it was thought necessary to encounter the policy contract with numerous conditions and restrictions, and not a few of these have been continued until the present time. These limitations have necessarily made the contract more expensive and less valuable than it would have been otherwise.

Now, however, the policy contract has been simplified and the conditions have been made more liberal. The result has been a more valuable contract, and one that is more easily obtained.

THE CLANSMEN DINE

The Visiting Delegates and Clan Stewart Gathered at the Banquet Board
Last Evening.

The Fine Menu, Music of the Bag Pipes and Everything Combined to Make All Happy.

Excellent Sentiments, Sharp Wit and Fine Humor Discussed by All the Able Speakers.

Clan Stewart, No. 50, O. S. C., entertained the Royal Scottish clan at a banquet at the St. Louis hotel last evening and a royal feast it was both in the matter of menu and the post prandial oratory. It was after 10 o'clock when the guests entered the banquet hall. About 150 were seated at the tables which were arranged in three long rows, Chief Dinwiddie and Toastmaster Towne being seated at the head of the center one and around them were grouped the grand officers of the Royal clan. The serving of the elaborate menu occupied nearly two hours. During its progress several stirring selections were rendered on the bagpipes by different individuals but it was when A. McLean, 31 years old, came in with his old instrument that the Scotsmen were stirred to the utmost and feet commenced to go and the yells were let loose.

After the cigars had been brought forth, Chief Dinwiddie briefly introduced C. A. Towne as toastmaster and resigned to him the place at the head of the board. Mr. Towne was at his best and continued until the evening. He expressed his pride at being called on to occupy the position of toastmaster upon such an occasion. It had been his privilege to at various times sit at the banquet board in Duluth with representatives of a half dozen nationalities existing in appreciation and sympathy with them but never had he felt greater honor than in being privileged to sit at this one and he felt that Mayor d'Autremont who is always present on such occasions would bear him out in this. He spoke of the Scotch character and said he could understand how the music of the bagpipes brought back the romances of bygone days and how this peculiar music has become inseparably associated with the sturdy, honest character of the Scotch. He said that it was customary for men occupying the position of toastmaster to deal out truth very liberally and he hoped not to be lacking in that respect. He then spoke briefly of the city and hoped the clansmen would be so favorably impressed with it that they will come again.

Turning to the Duluth Glee club Toastmaster Towne remarked that Duluth has something she is proud of, and a smile lit up across the faces of Messrs. West, Sherwood, Doran and Burke, at which Mr. Towne remarked that Duluth has something which is conscious that Duluth is proud of it. (Laughter.) The club was then introduced as having sung together since the morning star. A fine selection was given and an encore had to be rendered also.

Royal Chief Simon Clark was happily introduced and as he arose the room rang with cheers and applause and the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." When he was able to make himself heard Mr. Clark said that he felt flattered at the unusually warm reception given him. A year ago when in New Haven it was suggested that the clan meet next in Duluth, many thought they would be coming to a wilderness but now felt more than gratified at what they have seen and a few will make Duluth their home. The delegates feel highly honored at their reception and if they do not come back soon in a body will come individually.

R. Rankine of Detroit then sang the Highland toast song "Scotland Yet" and as an encore number "Mary of Argyll." He has a fine tenor voice and gives the Scotch songs in a most pleasant and characteristic manner.

Mayor d'Autremont responded to the "City of Duluth." The delegates, he said, had perhaps already found out that the people of Duluth are always talking of their city. They are proud of it because every man has lent a hand towards making it what it is and is ready to bring it up to that destiny which it is intended that it shall fill. Duluth's citizens intend to build a city which shall be an honor and a credit to the nation. Many of the pioneers of this city were Scotsmen and they have put the stamp of their industry, honesty and courage on the city's character. He spoke of the achievements of the Scotch in the world's history and closed by reading "The Relief of Lucknow."

Three cheers for the mayor and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" followed. James Kelly, from Montreal, recited the "Battle of Inverness." Peter Kelly of Boston, royal secretary, responded to "The Progress of the Order." He opened by remarking that the visit of the royal clansmen to Duluth was like the visit of the queen of Sheba to Solomon. They had heard of her glories and grandeur, but had no conception of what it really was. He said that every clansman would shout with him, "success and glory to Clan Stewart and the city of Duluth." To tell of the progress of the order of Scotch clans, he said, needed no untruthful statements, but merely to repeat its history, to recount facts. In fourteen years it has sprung from a membership of a hundred to over 4000 and has paid, instead of $300 or $400 in bequests per year, $71,500 last year to widows and orphans. Such occasions as this are enjoyable, but he cautioned the members that they have other duties. They must have the good of the order in mind, and he hoped that no Scotchman would ever bring disgrace upon it or himself.

After another selection by the Glee club—the "Morning Stars" as Toastmaster Towne put it—John Wilson, of Duluth, responded to "Our Native Land" in a manner most worthy of the theme. Patriotism and self-sacrifice are the mystic bands which break down every prejudice of politics, religion or any difference. The mention of the slogan has a peculiar charm for Scotchmen. The old castles of Scotland are now only memories but these memories are a precious heritage and age has not faded them. The farther away Scotchmen get from their native land the stronger they become. What has enabled the inhabitant of such a small country to play such an important part in the world's history? The features have something to do with it. Such grand hills and rocky crags must make massive characters. Scotland was never yet conquered. Liberty has always been a strong characteristic of her people. Burns taught the great lesson when he said "a man's a man for a' that." Dwelling in such a country as we do now we have reason to feel proud that the work of the poets and authors of our mother country are read, sung and treasured wherever the English tongue is spoken. N. S. Murphy accompanied by the Glee club sang "Molly Ann" and the "Baby" in a very pleasing manner and received a hearty encore.

R. R. Scott, of St. Louis, royal councillor of the order and its founder, made one of the brightest speeches of the evening and kept the company in a roar of laughter. His toast was "Our Adopted Country," but he said he could not talk on that, he had been in Scotland ever since last Monday. "Why even that Frenchman over there (pointing to Mayor d'Autremont) has been a Scotchman all this week." (Great laughter.) He gave John Christie some hard punches in an exceedingly humorous style and then remarked that he had thought the great afterdinner speaker, Chauncey Depew was in New York but he had found that he was in Duluth in the person of Toastmaster Towne. (Applause.) He declared that the speakers who had preceded him had introduced him as a man able to talk on it. Mr. Scott then, however, started in to deliver a speech and he said he delivered some fine sentiments interspersed with his inimitable bursts of wit and humor. This is the way for the Scotch, he said, for here is liberty, Scotland was the cradle of civil and religious liberty. Who but John Knox was the originator of the common school? Wherever freedom is there is the Scotchman. They are good citizens and good business men. They do not need any other passport of character than that they are Scotchmen among the warm hearted Americans. If even one abuses that passport let all Scotchmen know it. In closing he said that while some might when they march through the streets look upon them as foreigners he felt that the American people would not begrudge them the privilege of being Scotchmen for three days in the year.

After another song by Mr. Rankine, Dr. Barrett was introduced to respond to the toast "The Ladies." In opening he apologized for his breath saying it came like the Highland costume—in short paid (Laughter.) He felt that Clan Stewart had done a very delicate and considerate thing when it asked him to respond to this toast and then kept the ladies away. The only brave people on earth are the women, said the gallant doctor. Men are cowards on every moral question. The women are the only ones who dare to do right. Men are afraid of the jibes and jeers of their fellow men, women care nothing what other women or men think if they are doing right. That is why the men worship them—because they have the qualities that the men have not. Of the literature and songs of the world women is the theme. "We hear of the saints and martyrs of old who were women," he said. "There are women today who are called as there was a Christ. Last night there was a fire here in Duluth. A woman was taken from the ruins with a child clasped to her breast. Who knows what that woman did for that child? No man on the field of battle ever did a nobler or a braver deed than did that woman."

W. D. Gordon of New York gave some humorous recitations and Dr. Dinwiddie of St. Paul said a few words. P. Doran sang "Duffy's Grand Opening Night" by request and received an encore. Royal Councillor Scott then arose and proposed a toast "Our Toastmaster." He said that in twenty years he had sat with many toastmasters but never with such a one as Mr. Towne. The toast was given with great applause. Mr.

Towne expressed his thanks as well as his confusion would permit and tried to prove that he may be a Scotchman by tracing his ancestry back several centuries until he was close to the border line of Scotland.

Thos. Chalmers gave two recitations and the banquet broke up singing "Auld Lang Syne."

AMUSEMENTS.

"Rob Roy" Tonight.

The first king was a successful robber—so was "Rob Roy." Had genius passed him over we might have looked for him in vain beyond the Caledonian calendar of thieves and outlaws. Sir Walter Scott canonized the culprit and made him an immortal. Clan Stewart of this city have been rehearsing the great Scotch drama of "Rob Roy" for the past four weeks and guaranteed a notable production this evening of their national play. The cast numbering over twenty speaking parts is in the hands of several professional Scotch players from Theater Royal, Glasgow, and the most proficient of Duluth musical and dramatic talent. A chorus of fifty under the direction of Prof. Gustafson will be one of the features. The drama is in four acts with special scenes for each. The dances by children and Highland reel and jig dancers are presented by clansmen. An encouragingly large sale of tickets by the members of Clan Stewart guarantees a satisfactory attendance.

CIRCUS DAY.

Ringling Brothers' World-Famous Aggregation Almost Here.

"Are you going to the circus?" is the question that everybody is asking everybody else these days, and the answer is invariably in the affirmative. No circus aggregation that ever visited Duluth ever aroused the preliminary enthusiasm that has marked the announcement that the Ringling Brothers' world's greatest show would exhibit in this city Saturday, June 24.

In view of the fact that this wonderful zoologic, ethnologic, acrobatic, and hippodromic exhibition is the largest tented amusement in the world—that it employs more people, runs more trains, moves promptly at 10 o'clock, rain or shine. The magnificent tableau of Moscow's Kremlin tower with its chiming bells, the golden steam calliope, then long caravans of glittering carriages and superbly carved dens, the rare and curious wild beasts openly exhibited in cages of scintillating splendor, the cavalcades of knights and fair ladies, and the great herds of elephants are alone worth coming miles to see; and, after all, they are only preliminary to the most remarkable exhibition of hippodromic and acrobatic marvels that man's ingenuity has ever brought together.

Mr. Sims' Lecture.
Walter Sims of West Bay City, Mich., delivered his second A. P. A. lecture at the Lyceum last evening. Although Mr. Satoili was chosen as the subject of the evening, the lecture was little different from the one of the night before. There were even new presenters, but those there enjoyed the talk very much apparently.

Dr. Speer & Co.'s new method for curing piles has already effected wonderful results.

Abraham Lincoln, the martyred president, when about to leave his old home after he attained the highest honors that a great nation could bestow upon him, closed an address with these words:

"Neighbors, give your boys a chance." These are days of action and exciting competition, days when moral courage and brain power count, days wherein there can be only a survival of the men who are mentally and physically the fittest.

Fathers, qualify your boys for the battle they must wage in this world's great arena, whether their lot be cast in the professions or in the no less honorable field of artisanship and honest toil. Favored though they justly are in the family circle, the day must come when in the inexorable law of fate their chairs will be empty by your fireside and they will be out struggling alone in the world with only their merit to aid them.

You, mothers, know the pride you have in your sons. You know that deep down in your hearts there is a well of tenderness and love for even the erring one. You know, as all the world does, that his success is heaven to you and his failure a heart-ache keener than even his own. What, then should you do? In the words of Lincoln, "Give your boy a chance."

Give him an education that will fit him to cope with the best. Teach him to love his home, and teach him that in it he will find civilizing and educational influences. If he has been to college don't let his education stop there. If he has not enjoyed the advantages of a good education encourage him now. He may be smart naturally, but if he has nothing but his natural talents to help him there will surely come a time, just as he is mounting highest, when this lack of education will handicap him.

The time to remedy this is the present. In the "Encyclopedia Britannica," now offered by us, you will have a library fully the equal of any in the land. It is a digest of art, science, literature, history and invention, an epitome of all that is good and lasting, a moral drawn from the works of men and nations.

It is now for the first time placed within your reach.

THE FATAL CURRENT

Walter Weihe, a Lineman, Was Killed While Working on the Electric Wires Last Evening.

He Was Repairing Some of the Wires Broken and Burned During the Fire.

He Had Been Cautioned Not to go up the Pole, But Did so Nevertheless.

Another fatality was added to the Bunnell building horror last evening when Walter Weihe, an employee of the Hartman Electric company, met sudden death. There was a cross between power and light wires and Weihe, though cautioned against attempting the work except from the roof of an adjoining building, climbed a pole directly in front of the Bunnell ruins to straighten out the wires. Just as Weihe started to come down he was seen to start and pitch backward. The pole on which he was working is equipped with "climbers"—iron rods projecting just far enough to give a foothold—but Weihe also wore his "climbers" or spurs attached to the feet and legs.

As he fell backward his spur straps caught on one of the projecting iron rods and he hung there head downward for four or five minutes. At last a ladder was procured and the horror-stricken onlookers succeeded in bringing Weihe down to the sidewalk, or rather Weihe's body for it seems certain that electrocution was almost instantaneous. Some spectators, however, declare that he was living when he was brought down as evidenced by the twitching of muscles. In a few moments, however, all efforts at resuscitation were abandoned as hopeless and the body taken to the morgue.

Stories as to the exact cause of death are conflicting. The most probable is told by a fellow lineman who stood near by. Weihe had finished his work. As he started down he stepped on a guy wire and at the same time the wire swung him against a live wire. His clothing was wet and the contact made a perfect circuit. On the left arm where the wire touched is a gash half an inch wide and three times as long. The bolt entered at this point, passed to the left, down the leg and out at the bottom of left foot as shown by a blackened hole the size of a nickel.

Weihe came here three or four weeks ago. He had been a sailor and had traveled much. Stories of places he had visited as remembered and retold by comrades have somewhat confused the task of ascertaining his home. It is supposed that he lived in Chicago where his married sister and mother and father now reside. The Hartman company is making every effort to locate the relatives.

He went to the Bethel after he came here and stated that he had walked in from Brainerd; that he had secured employment from the Hartman company but had no place to sleep that night. He was provided with a bed. At prayer meeting that night he responded when volunteer expressions of sympathy were called for. He said he had resolved to lead a better life in the future and give up drinking. So far as is known he kept to the straight path ever since. He had drawn but $10 from the electric company during his employment and most of that went for clothing which he carried to the Bethel to put on.

Coroner Ekland has not decided whether an inquest is necessary. Arrangements for burial will be deferred until Weihe's people are heard from. The remains of Walter Weihe will be taken to the Bethel this evening and funeral services will be held.

DROWNED AT GRAND RAPIDS.

Philip Powers Perished While Taking a Swim in the River.

The Grand Rapids Magnet says that last Saturday evening Philip Powers, in company of several companions, went to the river near the mill to have a swim. Powers had been in the water some time when he yelled to his companions for help, as he was drowning. This seemed to frighten them, for instead of rendering the unfortunate boy the necessary assistance, they got into their clothes as rapidly as possible and rushed after Dr. Manson.

In the meantime the drowning man was left to his sad fate and rose for the third and last time. Those who witnessed the sad affair too far off to render any assistance, do not think that Powers was seized with cramps, but must have become suffocated by swallowing large quantities of water.

The deceased was between 21 and 25 years of age. He worked for some time last winter at the Hotel Pokegama, and was well respected for his sober and industrious habits. As far as is known he has two sisters living in Minneapolis and one in Iowa. Monday about 5 o'clock the body was discovered by Harry Kniffin, floating near the falls.

M. H. Clark was unfortunate enough to lose his house and contents by fire Monday morning. No insurance. A report was brought to town Monday night, that Sherry's home camp had been totally destroyed by fire. If this is true the loss will be very severe to Mr. Sherry, for the camp contained nearly all his outfit and supplies, amounting to about $10,000.

Should be Stopped.

A gentleman who enjoys driving on the boulevard registers a kick against permitting the use of the little pond near Twelfth avenue west, right by the side of the boulevard, for a swimming hole. The other evening the complainant was out driving with his wife and when this pond was reached it was full of young men, most of them fully 19 or 20 years of age and utterly devoid of clothing.

GERMANY'S ARMY BILL

Herr Liebknecht, Leader of the German Social Democratic Party, Steadfastly Opposed to the Bill.

He Says Its Passage Would Aid His Party as it Would Increase the Discontent.

Was Astonished at the Undying Hatred and Distrust by the Alsations of the Germans.

LONDON, June 22.—The Westminster Gazette publishes an interview this afternoon with Herr Liebknecht, the well known leader of the German Social Democratic party, giving his views on the recent elections and their effect on the army bill. Herr Liebknecht is a steadfast opponent of the army bill. He says that the passage of the bill will to some extent be favorable to the Social Democrats, in that it will make the conditions more bearable than those at present prevailing. It will cause discontent to spread and thus give his party a weapon which will use to the utmost of their ability. Continuing Herr Liebknecht says:

"We will continue to oppose the existing system and will make the conditions more bearable than those at present prevailing. DOWN TO DEATH

Four Hundred of the Officers and Crew of the British Battle Ship Victoria Drowned.

Admiral Sir George Tryon, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet, Among the Lost.

The Victoria Was Run Into by Another War Vessel and Went to the Bottom.

A Few Got Out of the Suction Caused by the Sinking Vessel and Were Rescued.

LONDON, June 23.—A most terrible calamity has befallen the British battle-ship Victoria, the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron, and hundreds of lives have been lost. The Victoria, which flew the flag of Vice Admiral Sir George Tryon, was run into off Tripoli by the British battleship Camperdown, also belonging to the Mediterranean squadron and under the command of Capt. Charles Johnston.

The Victoria had an enormous hole made in her side, through which the water poured in torrents. The immense hull of the Victoria at once began to settle, and before those on board her could cast loose their small boats she went to the bottom, carrying down with her nearly all on board. Some of the officers and crew managed to get out of the suction caused by the sinking vessel and were rescued. Among those lost is Vice Admiral Tryon.

The first reports of the disaster stated that about 200 men had been drowned but later dispatches show that the loss of life was far greater, not less than 400 of the officers and crew of the Victoria having gone down with their ship.

The Victoria was a twin-screw battle ship of 10,370 tons and 14,000 horse power. She mounted fifteen guns. The Camperdown is also a first-class twin-screw battle ship. She is of 10,600 tons and 11,500 horse power and carries ten guns. Admiral Sir George Tryon was commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet.

Later—Rear Admiral Albert H. Markham, of the Trafalgar, the flagship of the rear admiral in the Mediterranean, has telegraphed to the admiralty from Tripoli, Syria, under date of today as follows:

"I regret to report that while maneuvering off Tripoli this afternoon, the Victoria and Camperdown collided. The Victoria sank in fifteen minutes in eighteen fathoms of water. She lies bottom uppermost. The Camperdown's ram struck the forward of the turret on the starboard side. Twenty-one officers were drowned. Two hundred and fifty-five men were saved. The injury to the Camperdown has not yet been fully ascertained, but it is serious and will necessitate her going to dock for repairs. I propose to send the survivors to Malta."

In January of last year the Victoria ran aground off the Greek coast near Platea, and she was only floated off after an immense amount of labor and large expense. It was said that this accident was due to carelessness. A boat's crew from the Victoria was sent to mark with a buoy a shoal, the existence of which was known to the Victoria's officers. The shoal is a narrow one and extends from the Greek shore. The crew was notified to proceed along the shoal from the shore until ten fathoms of water was reached and to mark the spot with a buoy.

When within a hundred yards of the end, the boat got off the shoal and as the next sounding showed ten fathoms of water the buoy was anchored. The Victoria then came along at a good rate of speed at right angles to the shoal to take a position for torpedo practice and passing well outside the buoy struck the shoal and remained fast. The Hon. Maurice Bourke, captain of the Victoria and a son of the late Earl of Mayo, who is the youngest post captain in the British navy, was held responsible for the accident and was severely reprimanded by a court martial. Capt. Bourke was in command of the Victoria when she sank.

According to the navy list the principal officers of the Victoria were: Vice Admiral Sir George Tryon, Capt. Maurice Bourke, Commander Charles L. Otley, Chaplain Rev. Samuel S. O. Morris, Fleet Surgeon Thomas Dolister, Fleet Paymaster Valentine D. J. Rickard, Fleet Engineer Felix Foreman.

The complement of officers and crew of the Victoria comprised 600 men. The list of officers drowned includes, besides Vice Admiral Tryon, Chaplain Morris, Lieut. Munroe, Fleet Paymaster Rickard, Fleet Engineer Foreman, Engineer Harding, Assistant Engineer Sexton, Boatswain Barnard, Carpenter Bell, Midshipmen Fawes, Lanyon, Henry, Gambier and Scarlett, Cadet Stokes and Clerks Allen and Savage.

A change had recently been made in the commander attached to the Victoria, Charles Otley having been detached and succeeded by Commander R. Fellicome, who was saved, as were also Captain Maurice Bourke and fifteen officers. The first dispatches concerning the accident led to the belief that the disaster had occurred off the coast of Tripoli in Northern Africa. Later advices show that the scene of the calamity was near Tripoli, a seaport town on the eastern Mediterranean five miles northeast of Beyroot, Syria, and a comparatively short distance from the Island of Cyprus.

The eastern Mediterranean has proved a most unfortunate cruising ground for the Victoria, for, as above stated, it was in this part of the sea that the met with her serious accident in January, 1892.

As soon as the officers of the Victoria saw that there was danger of their ship foundering, orders were given to close the collision bulkheads in order to keep the water in the compartment into which the Camperdown had shoved her ram. The sailors tried to obey the order, but the ship was sinking too fast to allow of closing the bulkheads, and while the men were still trying to shut them the vessel, with her immense guns and heavy top turrets, turned over and carried them down. As soon as the news of the disaster became known in London the duke of Edinburgh, who was lately promoted to the position of admiral of the fleet, visited the admiralty and conferred with the officials there.

A meeting of the admiralty board was held and a telegram of instructions was sent to Rear Admiral Markham. The news of the calamity has caused the most intense excitement, not only among those who had friends on board the ill-fated ship, but among all classes of population. The admiralty office's besieged with relatives, friends and reporters seeking details of the disaster.

All official telegrams in regard to the loss of the ship will be sent to the queen at Windsor castle. As soon as her majesty received Rear Admiral Markham's dispatch, which was immediately forwarded to her, she gave orders for the postponement of the state ball that was to have taken place at Buckingham palace tonight.

Mr. Gladstone was greatly shocked when he was informed of the sinking of the Victoria and the great loss of life that had attended the foundering of the vessel. The prime minister informed the house of commons of the accident and paid a most glowing tribute to the worth of Vice-Admiral Tryon who, he said, was one of the ablest and most esteemed officers in the service of her majesty.

Mr. Gladstone said that there were 611 officers and men and boys and 107 marines on board the ship. It is feared that 200 have been lost. He was sure that the deepest sympathy of the house would be felt for the brave men who had found an early grave in the service of the country and that it would be extended to their relatives and friends.

Right Hon. George Hamilton, formerly first lord of the admiralty, endorsed everything that Mr. Gladstone had said and expressed the deepest regret for the calamity.

In the house of lords Earl Spencer, first lord of the admiralty, referred to the disaster in terms similar to those employed by Mr. Gladstone in the house of commons. Among those saved is the Right Hon. Lord Richard Gillford.

VICE ADMIRAL TRYON.

The Drowned Commander. One of the Best Known Naval Officers.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Sir George Tryon, the vice admiral who went down in his flagship, is one of the best known British naval officers. Commander Chadwick, now in charge of the naval intelligence office here, was well acquainted with him during his residence in London as United States naval attaché, and he speaks in terms of high praise of the admiral's character and ability as a naval officer. He was a man of vast experience, his service beginning in the days before steam was a prominent feature in naval architecture and running through all of the various phases of the development that were marked by the substitution of steam for sail power, of iron for wooden hulls; of steel for iron, of turrets for broadsides, and of armor for thin sheathing. He was a man who had earned the highest honors within the gift of the British nation.

His name first appears on the naval list away back in the days of the Crimean war where he served in the naval brigade before Sebastopol during the winter of 1853-54 in the trenches, where he was wounded. He was present at all of the operations before Sebastopol and at the capture of Kinburn. He received medals for distinction and was specially mentioned in dispatches for services as director of transport during the Abyssinian war in 1868.

He was private secretary to the first lord of the admiralty from 1871 to 1874, received various orders of neighborhood and received the approval of the government for the manner in which he discharged his duties on the coast of Tunis and in the Sfax commission of inquiry in 1881. He became acting permanent secretary in the following year. In 1884 he became commander-in-chief on the Australian station, and after a brief attempt at a parliamentary career, was made admiral superintendent of naval reserves in 1888. He commanded one of the opposing fleets in the naval maneuvers in 1886-87-91 and was made commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean forces Aug. 20, 1891.

AN EXHIBIT OF INTEREST.

A Model of the Warship Victoria is at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The most conspicuous naval exhibit in the transportation building is a model of the ill-fated warship Victoria whose wrecking was chronicled at the grounds today by the United Press. It occupies a commanding position in the main aisle close to the elevator shaft, and for the special convenience of visitors a double stairway with brass railings has been erected in front of the model. Everything is shown in perfect design and material, even to the great torpedo net from stem to stern. The flags on the Victoria house and the Canadian and New South Wales buildings have been at half mast in respect to the memory of the late Australian Commissioner Fisher and later for Mareschal du Oliveira, of Brazil, but the flags will remain at the mourning height for many days on account of the catastrophe to the British navy. Sir Henry Trueman Wood, secretary of the commission, and the other attaches at Victoria house had not received any word from London or Washington relative to the calamity.

SHUT DOWN A RELIEF.

The Iron Men Approve the Action Taken by Manufacturers.

CLEVELAND, O., June 23.—The Iron Trade Review this week says: "Curtailement on every Lake Superior range, a sharp reduction both in blast furnace capacity and in pig iron stocks, an activity in rolling mills in anticipation of the uncertain demand, and the fact that all finished iron and steel operations of one of the longest shut-downs in years are the salient points in the iron situation today."

"The week has brought the largest record in the history of the present stringency of failures affecting the iron trade and the policy of curtailment, heretofore generally pursued has in some cases developed into the refusal to sell on more than limited orders, except for cash on very short time paper. The matter of credits is the uppermost consideration just now, and added to the lack of profit in any department of the market the uncertainty about the return from sales after they are made, cause iron manufacturers to welcome the shut-down of July as a relief from the strain of the past thirty days."

RIOTING BY SOCIALISTS.

Incensed at the Defeat of Their Candidate in Lubec.

BERLIN, June 23.—The Socialists in Lubec, incensed at the result of the second ballot for members of the reichstag taken in the city yesterday, which resulted in the defeat of Schwartz, the Social Democratic candidate, by Herr Goertz, Radical Unionist, made a demonstration last night that soon degenerated into a riot.

The worst rioting was done on Breite Strasse, where the Socialists, aided by a large number of loafers and wharf rats, wrecked a number of shop fronts with stones and clubs. The police charged the mob which fled without making much resistance. A large number of the rioters were arrested. The city is quiet this morning and no further trouble is apprehended.

THE PRUNING KNIFE

The Heads of Half of the Exposition Employees Are to Be Lopped Off Immediately.

Daily Operating Expenses of the Fair to Be Reduced for July to Ten Thousand Dollars.

The Program for the Celebration of the Glorious Fourth Entrusted to a Municipal Committee.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, June 23.—The American section in manufactures building is now complete in all its corners and pavilions and booths. The exhibitors do not intend to be outdone in the dedication and ceremony business by their neighbors from Europe. A meeting of exhibitors was held in the building this morning to arrange for the opening of the section tomorrow with speeches and music. The council of administration, with the assistance of the director general and his chief executive officer, Mr. Bingham, is engaged in the unpleasant but necessary work of using the official pruning knife and sharpening the guillotine for the purpose of lopping off the heads of half the exposition employees. The 50 per cent reduction will go into effect July 1 and the disappointed ones will include Columbian guards, landscape gardeners, engineers, draftsmen, clerks, transportation employees, men of the terminal office and laborers generally. The guard is to be reduced from 3,000 to 1,500.

No contracts on construction account are to be let after July 1 except for special or temporary purposes. Although the paid admissions are now running from 75,000 to 127,000, the latter number being the record for yesterday, yet the amount of money due for contractors is not back as April is enormous. Contractors are simply given to understand that they cannot be paid in full and that they will get their money quicker by waiting patiently than if they resorted to any legal proceedings. The daily operating expenses of the fair, it is said, will be reduced for July to $10,000.

The program and plans for the celebration of the glorious Fourth, to be known as "people's day" at the fair, have been entrusted to a municipal committee which will be aided by the exposition officials. On account of the inability of Col. McClellan, of Philadelphia, to deliver the oration, the committee is looking for another orator of national reputation. Governor Algiel will be asked to invite the other states of the Union to participate in the celebration, and the Illinois national guard will probably march in the big parade through the city to the park. The United States troops at Fort Sheridan and at the park will also participate.

The successful casting of the Columbian Liberty bell at Troy, N.Y., yesterday insures its presence in the independence day exercises which will be held on the plaza west of administration building. The Liberty bell from Independence hall, Philadelphia, will occupy a conspicuous place on a special platform.

The Last Township.

Township 68-22 was opened today in the United States land office. Only four applications were allowed—one timber and stone, one homestead and two declaratory statements. For each piece of land filed upon there were at least half a dozen other applicants who were shut out. The small number of filings is due to the fact that most of the township is swamp land. Today ends the list of townships opened, but there will be another lot later in the summer.

FELT FOR FIFTEEN MILES.

An Oil Well Shooter and His Horses Blown to Atoms.

BRADFORD, Pa., June 23.—A terrible glycerine explosion occurred at an early hour this morning near Guffey station. Andy Muldoon, an oil well shooter, was on his way to Guffey to shoot a well. He had 200 quarts glycerine in his wagon and while coming down a steep hill into Guffey station a wheel struck a large stone and the wagon was overturned. THE STATE ELEVATOR.

The Railroad and Warehouse Commission Purchased the Harrington and Miller Site on St. Louis Bay.

ST. PAUL, June 23.—(Special to The Herald.) The railroad and warehouse commission this afternoon purchased of Messrs. Harrington and Miller a site for the new state elevator, paying therefor $11,000.

The site fronts on St. Louis bay and the rear touches the tracks of the Duluth Transfer company. It is 2500 feet long and 230 feet wide and in the opinion of the commission is one of the best sites at the head of the lake.

Mr. Harrington agrees to join with the state in dredging a 140-foot slip from the government canal to the elevator. The commission expects within a few days to receive the plans for a 500,000 bushel elevator and will then advertise for bids and decide whether or not they will build an annex wharve.

Miller, Jr., has returned from West Superior, where he filed a bill against the Lappen company, of that place, to wind up the concern upon the grounds that it is insolvent. It is asked that a receiver be appointed and the goods sold by him, the proceeds to be divided equally among the creditors.

The stock, it is thought, will inventory from $25,000 to $30,000. The West Superior company only owes some $12,000 in actual debts, but it is on some $80,000 of accommodation paper issued by Lappen, some of which will have to be paid. The motion to close up the business will be heard in the circuit court of Douglas county on Monday next.

SHORT SEVERAL HUNDRED.

M. M. Meilen Who Has Been at West Duluth Has Skipped.

A few days ago it was reported that M. M. Meilen had gone to Minneapolis. It now transpires that Mr. Meilen is not sojourning in the Flour city but that he has gone farther. In fact that he has gone so far that the firm by whom he has been employed for some time would be glad to learn of his present address. It is not, however, from the loss of his valuable services that they mourn his sudden departure so much as the fact that his accounts balance on the wrong side of the ledger to the amount of several hundred dollars.

He had been boarding at the Murray house and was representing the Pond & Hasty Steam Heating company, of Minneapolis. This firm have the past winter supplied the city hall at West Duluth and several school buildings in Duluth with their apparatus thereby permitting their agent to handle considerable money at this point. An agent of the company arrived today from Minneapolis to investigate matters but he was reticent in regard to the matter and nothing could be learned of the facts in the case from him.

WHEAT WAS LOWEST TODAY.

The Market Was Very Dull and Prices Declined.

The wheat market here today was dull and steady up to noon. The opening was rather weak and lower than last night's close.

The first trading in September, which occurred late, was 5 1/2 c. lower. Trading was rather limited and slow in each shift. There was fair business in the late afternoon and they closed steady at the opening prices up to the noon hour. It was extremely dull in the afternoon, hardly any trading being done and only in small lots at long intervals, and the market had declining tendencies. The close was dull and weak as the lower than last night's close for cash and June, 5 1/2 c. for July and 5 1/2 c. for September, as follows:

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.
June 23.—A storm of considerable energy is central this morning over Montana, the low pressure having fallen very rapidly in that section. It is accompanied by heavy precipitation, and it is probable that it will pass to the north of this section and not affect more than the northern part of the state.

The temperature will continue to fall very slightly in all sections, but so gradually that it is not noticeable. At two stations, Helena and Calgary, it registers 45, which is the lowest reported. Over the rest of the country it ranges from 50 to 60.

With the exception of a thunder storm at (about) yesterday there has not been enough precipitation to mention.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 72, the lowest last night was 54, the lowest last evening did not amount to enough to measure.

Duluth, June 23.—Forecast for today: Fair; slight change in temperature today; if any, cooler; warmer Saturday, probably accompanied by shower storms, winds shifting to southeast and southwest.

Local Forecast Office.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; Wisconsin: Fair; followed by increasing cloudiness and showers; Saturday: cooler; east to north winds. For Minnesota: Increasing cloudiness; showers and rain; Saturday: cooler; Saturday: southerly winds, probably shifting to west and north Saturday.

Mr. Cooke's Remedy.

Jay Cooke said, during a short speech at Thomson yesterday, when asked how he would settle the present disturbances in the finances of the country: "Why, if I were president I would fix it in fifteen minutes."

At this point we found the train was ready to move out, and Mr. Cooke did not tell the crowd how he would fix it, but the morning paper states that "afterwards he said he would fix it by restoring silver coinage and putting a tariff on imports of silver."

Mr. Cooke would thus have the United States become the only one of the great nations of the world to adopt the free and unlimited coinage of silver. How does he imagine that this country could alone carry such a load? It is plain to see that it would be financial insanity.

This country has now been denied a large amount of gold because of the fact it has already progressed toward unlimited silver coinage. Putting an import duty on silver might indeed prevent the cheap silver of Europe and India being dumped upon us, but it would not prevent the continued export of our gold.

Would Mr. Cooke also put an export duty on gold? And how could we pay our obligations to foreign nations that will only accept gold, if our currency were on a silver basis almost exclusively, as it is today?

Mortgage Indebtedness.

A Washington dispatch gives some interesting statistics regarding the mortgage indebtedness of Minnesota, which have just been published by the census bureau. It appears that 84.75 per cent of the farm families own the farms they cultivate; that 53.61 per cent of them own free from incumbrances. The lien on the farms of the state amount to only 31.64 per cent of their value, the interest charge on each family averaging $75. It is noticeable that of the $107,745,980 aggregate mortgage debt in the state, 38.11 per cent of it is on acre tracts and 61.89 per cent on town and city lots. The mortgaged acres are 35.73 per cent of the whole number of acres taxed, and the debt incumbering acre tracts is only 15.62 per cent of the estimated true value of all taxed acres. There was a large increase of mortgages on lots in 1887, the closing year of the realty boom.

In a recent digest of reported mortgage indebtedness in Ohio, Michigan, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Montana, Edwin Atkinson recently stated that in those states about one-half the farms are free from mortgages of any kind and that the aggregate indebtedness is less than one-half the value of the mortgaged land. The census figures for Minnesota show a similar state of affairs existed in this state in 1880, when the census was taken, while it is very certain that during the past few years a large amount of this indebtedness has been discharged by the farmers who have been enjoying seasons of prosperity. These statistics prove the falsity of the statements made by the Populists as to farm mortgages.

Scandal in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis has a big municipal scandal on its hands. The fire department is the center of the scandal, and it is the subject of a remarkably strong report by the Hennepin county grand jury, which arraigns the department as "rotten and corrupt."

The jury's report accuses Chief Range of conniving at theft by members of the department; the assistant chief of being a disgrace to the department and the city; and the alderman who is chairman of the committee on fire department on open corruption. According to the evidence before the grand jury it has been a regular practice for the firemen to steal goods at fires and appropriate them to their own use; the chief sanctioned the stealing and the assistant chief personally directed it.

Alderman Woodward, it is asserted by the jury, sold the department hose carts at extravagant prices and pocketed several thousand dollars more than he was fairly entitled to; while the veterinary surgeon of the department ran a hospital for sick horses, using the city's medicines, and thus knocked down some $3000 per annum beyond his salary.

Four of the firemen are indicted for larceny, and it is stated that the chief and his assistant would also have been indicted had it not been necessary to guarantee protection to witnesses in order to get them to testify. The impeachment of the heads of the department and of the alderman is recommended.

The report is signed by William Donaldson, one of the most prominent and conservative merchants of Minneapolis, who was foreman of the grand jury, and this is ample evidence that the statements made in the report are sustained by abundant and convincing evidence. Evidently the Minneapolis council will find it necessary to clean out the entire fire department. Those who have now tardily confessed their knowledge of these facts are little better than those who committed them, and they should go with the others.

Tomorrow's Edition.

The Saturday edition of The Herald will be as bright and breezy as usual this week. It is the favorite paper with the reading public and therefore the favorite with shrewd advertisers who want to reach the greatest number of people. Tomorrow's issue will continue special articles by Gath and Bill Nye, which two stellar attractions that cannot be duplicated by any other paper at the head of Lake Superior.

There will be local articles of special interest and a review of the latest happenings in the sporting world, the gossip of the stage, Mrs. Mendenhall's letter on the household economies' exhibit at Chicago, and all the local and telegraphic news of the day published when it is news.

City Government.

Seth Low is authority for the statement that one-fourth of the people of the United States live in cities, and yet city government is the most conspicuous failure in American politics. Why is this? Mr. Low makes the point that the shifting population of our large cities is an obstacle to improved municipal government. The new voters are sometimes as numerous as the majority of the successful party. A large percentage are foreigners and strangers to the system of government they attempt to administer.

"Yet," he continues, "I would not take away the right of universal suffrage. Feelings are sometimes a super-governor than the reasoning powers. It is an advantage to the body politic to have the element that feels as well as that which thinks."

Partisanship, however, is the chief cause which prevents the attainment of a higher standard of municipal government in America, and on this point Mr. Low says: "The work of the city is to a very great extent a work of business, of administration, not of government. The division of power for the sake of safety works very well in matters of government, but in a city the scheme breaks down. In executive work one man is better than a dozen. A poor administration will not do as much harm in the long run as a board of administration. Our cities must be administered in the midst of our general political system. A mistake is made when we speak to the electorate from a low platform. Our population now goes to the polls in city elections less than in national elections, and yet the result of the former has more immediate effect on the welfare of the citizen. The voter does not cast his ballot from the standpoint of the good of the city, but from his attitude on national questions. The electorate must change their attitude before we can expect to improve our officials. The choosing of city officials on party lines is like a merchant selecting clerks because of the color of their hair."

When party politics are abjured in city elections, and not until then, and the people consider the selection of their municipal officers in the same way that they individually consider the selection of clerks to run their private business—when this condition of things is attained, we may expect to see a great improvement in municipal government.

Early next month experiments are to be made in the Erie canal to determine the feasibility of running canal boats by electricity. The New York Tribune says: It is probable that the trolley system will be employed and it is expected that electricity will prove the cheapest agent to be used in canal transportation. A canal, in fact, would seem to be an ideal place for the use of the trolley, which by common consent is a dangerous device for crowded city streets. It is much to be hoped that the experiments will be conclusive as to the desirability of using electricity on the canals instead of horses, mules, or steam power.

The governor of South Carolina has already bought $300,000 worth of whisky and beer with which to stock the state dispensary that is to furnish liquors to the people of the state. If the people of the several counties desire county dispensaries they can have them by a majority vote. On and after July 1 all liquors sold in the state will be sold under the supervision of state officers. Their quality will probably be the best, and this will be one good feature of the system.

The managers of the trans-Atlantic steamers are said to be disappointed over the volume of travel from Europe towards the World's fair. They evidently imagined that the decline in the number of Americans going abroad would be more than offset by the rush of Europeans to Chicago. They forgot that the people of Europe do not travel as much as do the Americans.

The position of librarian in the department of agriculture is vacant. Applicants must pass an examination in German, French, Italian and Spanish, library economy, bibliography and literature of agriculture. And what do you think is the magnificent salary offered to a man of such accomplishments? Only $1800 a year. How munificent!

The Scandia make its appearance today, its regular publication day, although Editor Lange lost all his plant in the Bunnell block fire. This shows that enterprise is not confined to the English papers. Editor Lange's list of subscribers was lost and he has mailed this edition to all whose address he could remember.

The report of the proceedings in the Borden trial a few days ago, given so far was disappointment over Governor Robinson's argument for the defense. This was because he dispensed with rhetorical flourishes. But he convinced the jury of his client's innocence and that is no cause for disappointment.

The St. Paul & Duluth has just issued a beautiful birds-eye view of the city of Duluth, which measures 4 by 2½ feet. For completeness, accuracy and delicacy of finish this map has seldom been equalled by any railroad. Duluth will gain much good advertisement from this map.

The cigarette fiends will be happy over a decision of the United States district court in Washington which has declared the anti-cigarette law of that state invalid, for the reason that its enforcement would interfere with the sale of the article in the original package.

The decision of Chief Justice Fuller on Sunday opening up the world's fair is said to have excited "Rev." Joe Cook speechless. This is something to be thankful for, even if his speechlessness is only temporary.

When reading about the cyclones and other electrical storms that are doing damage in other sections of the West, the people may properly congratulate themselves that they live in such a fine climate.

Timely rains have caused the farmers to smile. They were needed to ensure good crops, and another good downpour two or three weeks hence will place them beyond all danger from drought.

The sultan of Johore, now on his way to Chicago, wears diamonds on every finger, but if he wishes to retain possession of them he will put them out of sight before he reaches Chicago.

The Chicago Mail wants to know if it could not be arranged to have Foraker, properly muzzled, see the meeting between Mrs. U. S. Grant and Mrs. Jefferson Davis?

The Herald has no time to notice every little cur that barks at its heels. Besides the dog days are here, and rabies is in the air.

Minneapolis' present fire department will probably be fired.

Good thing for Duluth. Superior Call: "Jim" Hill's newly developed antagonism to the Canadian Pacific is one of the best things that could

Fire Police Needed.

Minneapolis Journal: The heavy rain has now quenched the destructive forest fires. Surely the legislatures of Minnesota and Wisconsin should enact laws against fooling with fire in the woods which can be enforced. What is the use of passing a law against the careless use of fire if provision is not made to carry it out to the letter? The late fire destroyed several millions worth of property. A few thousand dollars spent in fire police would have prevented the spread of any of these fires.

An Important Survey.

Minneapolis Journal: The United States government will now make a topographical survey of the whole iron region of Minnesota. The state survey has already shown, superficial as it has necessarily been, the great mineral possibilities of the northeastern counties. The Powell survey will show, doubtless, that the iron ranges extend further west than has been conjectured. The survey will be very important in its results to Minnesota.

A Thorough Inquiry Required.

Such investigations are necessary, not alone to settle the responsibility in the case particularly concerned, but to warn and admonish others of their duties and likewise responsibilities.

possibly happen to Superior and Duluth, for the completion of the Duluth & Winnipeg line to Winnipeg must now be hastened by Van Horn's great system.

Fire Police Needed.

Minneapolis Journal: The heavy rain has now quenched the destructive forest fires. Surely the legislatures of Minnesota and Wisconsin should enact laws against fooling with fire in the woods which can be enforced. What is the use of passing a law against the careless use of fire if provision is not made to carry it out to the letter? The late fire destroyed several millions worth of property. A few thousand dollars spent in fire police would have prevented the spread of any of these fires.

An Important Survey.

Minneapolis Journal: The United States government will now make a topographical survey of the whole iron region of Minnesota. The state survey has already shown, superficial as it has necessarily been, the great mineral possibilities of the northeastern counties. The Powell survey will show, doubtless, that the iron ranges extend further west than has been conjectured. The survey will be very important in its results to Minnesota.

ANOTHER BODY FOUND

The Remains of a Young Boy, Supposed to Be Robert Ford, Recovered This Morning.

This Corpse Was Horribly Burned and Cannot Possibly Be Identified in Any Way.

It Is Not Expected That Any More Bodies Will Be Found—Miss Smith Turns Up.

About 10 o'clock this morning the searchers at the Bunnell ruins found the body of young Ford, the six-year-old son of Mrs. Mary A. Ford. It was found on the second floor in the southeast corner of the building. Parties who lived in the block said young Ford was in bed when the fire broke out and it was rather expected that the body would be found on one of the mattresses. It was not, however, and it is supposed that mother and child were endeavoring to escape when overcome by the heat and smoke.

The boy was clad in his nightshirt only and was not protected in the least against the ravages of the fire. His body is the worst burned of any recovered. The flesh is all burned from the lower extremities, trunk and face are blackened. Identification from the features would be impossible. The fact that Mrs. Ford's boy is missing and that the body recovered is that of a child about his age are the only points serviceable for identification, but under the circumstances they are deemed sufficient. Both bodies will probably be interred this afternoon.

The work of clearing up the ruins still goes on, but those best informed do not now believe that any more bodies will be recovered.

Miss Smith Not Missing.

Miss Tina Smith who kept a millinery store in the Bunnell block and was supposed to have been missing since the fire, was found in the ruins of the building. She is dead, but her body was recovered. She was out of the city at the time and returned Wednesday night.

THE RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Relief headquarters have been moved—Two Liberal Donations.

The relief committee has removed its headquarters to The Herald building on the Michigan street side. Another load of goods was sent to Virginia this morning and more will be sent to Meriden.

Yesterday the committee received a telegram in response to one asking A. M. Miller what he would contribute saying that the committee could draw on him for $500. The H. B. Brewster company has also come to the front with a very liberal donation of $500 and the hands of the treasurer. The action of the company has been highly spoken of.

The relief committee has issued the following:

All parties to whom the general relief committee is indebted for bills already contracted and to be paid, are hereby notified that unless invoices for the same shall be delivered to the committee within forty-eight hours after the goods are purchased or delivered, they will not attempt to be responsible for the payment thereof.

GENERAL RELIEF COMMITTEE.

THE CRUISE OF THE NAUTILUS.

Alderman Howard Entertained a Party of Lakeside Friends Yesterday.

Alderman and Mrs. Howard were "at home" aboard the Nautilus to a number of their Lakeside friends yesterday, and a party of about fifty friends enjoyed the luxury of an outing that will be remembered as a "red letter" day by all so fortunate as to be aboard. The party left the boat-house at promptly 9 a. m. and reached Encampment island at half-past 11, where a delightful lunch was served on deck to appetites sharpened by the thirty-five miles run on Lake Superior.

While the guests were enjoying the culinary efforts of the steward, Alderman Howard suddenly appeared in wading boots and white cocked hat, with red in hand, and proceeded to give an exhibition of how he won the title of champion angler of Duluth. In no time he landed three shrimping fellows that turned the scales at twelve pounds.

The party then all went ashore and for three hours Encampment island never had a merrier set of inhabitants—the agents hunter and the professional "bug-hunter" were in paradise. The most picturesque object on the island was A. L. Kingman, who thought he knew a little or two about brook trout, and to prove it he donned the white cocked hat and for three mortal hours stood out in the water waist high, a target for jokes and taunts, without a nibble. He maintains he caught one, but there is grave doubt about it. The cruise ended by giving "three cheers for Ben Howard's Nautilus." The only thing that cast a gloom over the events of the day was the imminent risk run by T. W. Hoopes of being hung to the yardarm for cheering for "Ben Howard's Nautilus." He, however, repeated and was relieved by order of Ed Howard, who acted as judge advocate general. All voted the day a brilliant success.

THE ORDER IS REVERSED.

Decision by the State Supreme Court in a Duluth Case.

The supreme court has reversed the order of the lower court in the case of Alexander McKillop, respondent, vs. Duluth Street Railway company, appellant. In his opinion the chief justice states that the court below erred in excluding the opinions of the witnesses that the jury the same effects that witnessing them legitimately had on the mind of the spectator. In such cases the spectator may state the effect of the appearance and speech had on his mind. That no other cause of plaintiff's demeanor was suggested by the evidence made no difference with the propriety of allowing the witnesses to give their opinions as to his intoxication. It was for the jury to determine what caused such demeanor, an injury or intoxication, and it was necessary, in order to do so that they have all the evidence before them.

A municipal corporation has, through its council, control and charge of the streets, and may regulate the laying of street railway tracks; and if the council directs the railway company to lay the tracks upon the specified level or grade, and so laying them makes the street unsafe for ordinary travel, the municipal corporation would doubtless be liable for injuries resulting therefrom. That the street was some time in the future to be brought to a certain grade indicated by the city engineer was no authority for the company to at once lay the tracks to it, if so doing would make the street unsafe, and thus rendering it unsafe would be negligence with respect to any injury in consequence. The syllabus in the case is as follows:

One who has witnessed a person's acts, appearance and speech may express an opinion whether he was intoxicated. If a street railway company, without any direction from the municipal council, lays its track in accordance with a grade established for a paving of the street, contemplated, but not yet done, and so laying the track renders the street unsafe, it is an act of negligence on the part of the company. Order reversed. GILFILLAN, C. J.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Motion for Arrest of Judgment in the Carlo Case Under Adjudgment.

Before Judge Ensign the jury in the case of Susan McGowan against Paul Sharkey, as sheriff, returned a verdict for the defendant. In William A. Scott against same, under instructions from the court the jury rendered a verdict for plaintiff for $347.80. The case of William Poirier against Charles Beattie, returned to the jury at noon and the trial of Erik Maun against the Duluth & Winipeg Railroad company and Robert Williamson began.

The attorneys for Peter Carlo yesterday afternoon argued before Judge Lewis a motion in arrest of judgment. The judge rendered his decision until this afternoon, but Carlo's attorneys are confident of a favorable decision which will result in another trial—the third—for their client.

A verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $2,136.44 was returned in Fond du Lac Brownstone company against Thomas K. Sheridan, L. Brady and the trial of Erik Maun against the Duluth & Winipeg Railroad company and Robert Williamson began.

The matter of extending Eighth avenue east, appeal of Harriet W. Haynes, is on trial before Judge Lewis. At 10 o'clock this afternoon Judge Lewis will sentence the case to the state prison. A noticeable feature of the criminal calendar is that the state has secured a conviction or plea of guilty in every case where indictments were returned by the grand jury.

THE ORDER IS REVERSED.

Decision by the State Supreme Court in a Duluth Case.

The supreme court has reversed the order of the lower court in the case of Alexander McKillop, respondent, vs. Duluth Street Railway company, appellant. In his opinion the chief justice states that the court below erred in excluding the opinions of the witnesses that the jury the same effects that witnessing them legitimately had on the mind of the spectator. In such cases the spectator may state the effect of the appearance and speech had on his mind. That no other cause of plaintiff's demeanor was suggested by the evidence made no difference with the propriety of allowing the witnesses to give their opinions as to his intoxication. It was for the jury to determine what caused such demeanor, an injury or intoxication, and it was necessary, in order to do so that they have all the evidence before them.

A municipal corporation has, through its council, control and charge of the streets, and may regulate the laying of street railway tracks; and if the council directs the railway company to lay the tracks upon the specified level or grade, and so laying them makes the street unsafe for ordinary travel, the municipal corporation would doubtless be liable for injuries resulting therefrom. That the street was some time in the future to be brought to a certain grade indicated by the city engineer was no authority for the company to at once lay the tracks to it, if so doing would make the street unsafe, and thus rendering it unsafe would be negligence with respect to any injury in consequence. The syllabus in the case is as follows:

One who has witnessed a person's acts, appearance and speech may express an opinion whether he was intoxicated. If a street railway company, without any direction from the municipal council, lays its track in accordance with a grade established for a paving of the street, contemplated, but not yet done, and so laying the track renders the street unsafe, it is an act of negligence on the part of the company. Order reversed. GILFILLAN, C. J.

The Remains of a Young Boy, Supposed to Be Robert Ford, Recovered This Morning.

This Corpse Was Horribly Burned and Cannot Possibly Be Identified in Any Way.

It Is Not Expected That Any More Bodies Will Be Found—Miss Smith Turns Up.

About 10 o'clock this morning the searchers at the Bunnell ruins found the body of young Ford, the six-year-old son of Mrs. Mary A. Ford. It was found on the second floor in the southeast corner of the building. Parties who lived in the block said young Ford was in bed when the fire broke out and it was rather expected that the body would be found on one of the mattresses. It was not, however, and it is supposed that mother and child were endeavoring to escape when overcome by the heat and smoke.

The boy was clad in his nightshirt only and was not protected in the least against the ravages of the fire. His body is the worst burned of any recovered. The flesh is all burned from the lower extremities, trunk and face are blackened. Identification from the features would be impossible. The fact that Mrs. Ford's boy is missing and that the body recovered is that of a child about his age are the only points serviceable for identification, but under the circumstances they are deemed sufficient. Both bodies will probably be interred this afternoon.

The work of clearing up the ruins still goes on, but those best informed do not now believe that any more bodies will be recovered.

Miss Smith Not Missing.

Miss Tina Smith who kept a millinery store in the Bunnell block and was supposed to have been missing since the fire, was found in the ruins of the building. She is dead, but her body was recovered. She was out of the city at the time and returned Wednesday night.

Mr. Leathers suggested that the banks

tion, to be national and the government continue to be supervisory; that bank notes be issued then as now through the comptroller's office; that the basis be the net assets of a bank, the assets being the sum of the deposits, that double liability of stockholders be continued, and that all the assets of a bank should be sufficient to redeem the notes; that the government, by regulating circulation of all the banks so organized either state by state or throughout the Union to provide the sum remaining; that the government should not be granted to each bank to the extent to say of all its capital and surplus.

Considerable interest was manifested by the audience, and the speaker had largely increased in the address by H. Platt, of Denver, on "The Necessity for the Use of Silver as Money in the United States." The speaker, a business man and said that the business interests of the country were getting sick and tired of doing business on a falling market, so had been the case since silver was demonetized. The speaker said the bill was simply a make-shift. He believed that the happiness and prosperity of the United States could only be retained by the use of silver, and the privileges which it enjoyed for seventy-six years. Silver, he declared, was the money of the people all over the world.

NOBODY WAS TO BLAME

The Coroner Holds an Inquest Upon the Body of Walter Weihe, the Dead Lineman.

The Jury Rendered a Verdict That He Came to Death Through His Own Carelessness.

The Testimony Showed That He Was Instructed to Wear Rubber Clothing
But Did Not.

An inquest was held at M. J. Durkan & Co.'s undertaking rooms this morning on the remains of Walter Weihe, who was killed by an electric current in front of the Bunnell ruins. The following served as jurors: Dan Sellers, John Heimer, Frank Devey, H. Van Brunt,
C. A. Leland and J. E. Cooley.
William Burgess, an electrical engineer, was the first witness. He came out of the Howard block and passed under the viaduct, looked up and saw Weihe climbing a pole. On the pole there are three cross-arms—two at the top and one about eight feet down. Weihe had got above the lower cross-arm and was stand-
steps with his left leg swung around the pole and was reaching out to get hold of the wire at the end of the cross-arm. In doing so he threw his left arm against the arm and body, down the leg and out the right foot and down the pole. It was the perfect ground current that killed him. He dropped and the stirrup strap on his right foot caught on one of the steps of the pole. Then he hung head down.

Burgess instantly ran to the Hartman station to have the current stopped. On his way he met J. Cummings, foreman for the electric light company, who saw the accident and was running toward the pole. The current was shut off and Weihe taken down. This took probably five minutes. It was not absolutely necessary to shut off the current, but it was safer. In the opinion of the witness it was a dangerous pole to climb, first because it was wet; second, it was charged or carbonized by the fire, making it a perfect conductor. It was very dangerous in the way Weihe went up without rubber gloves, coat or boots and such articles are usually provided by electric companies and the men ordered strictly to wear them.

Weihe had gone up to take in the stack of two wires that were resting on the trolley wire. He did not get the shock from either of these wires, but from another circuit. The wire which touched him was a weather-proof insulated wire, and the insulation was not burned off. But no weather-proof wire is absolutely safe when wet. Weihe would have been safe with a rubber coat.
From the way he handled himself on the pole witness should judge he was an experienced line man and knew his peril, but took the chances. It was extremely dangerous and foolhardy to climb the pole under the existing circumstances.

Dr. J. M. Robinson testified to seeing the deceased about five minutes after he was taken from the pole. He thought there was a slight pulsation of the heart, but there was no pulse at the wrist. All usual means of resuscitation were unavailing and the fainted heart pulsation probably was due to the men rubbing the body. Death resulted from an electric current.

Joseph Cummings, foreman of the Hartman company, testified that Weihe worked under him. He ordered Weihe to take a ladder and go onto the roof of the Oakhill Clothing store and take up the slack in two wires lying on the trolley wire. Cummings knew the pole was dangerous and gave Weihe orders not to climb it. In a few minutes he saw Weihe on the pole and before anything could be done to stop him death came. Weihe did not wear rubber clothing, but there was always plenty at his disposal and the orders were strict to use such protection.

T. D. Welch, superintendent for the Hartman company testified to the messages taken to protect linemen and the orders to wear rubber clothing. Weihe had worn rubber gloves and coat at his work all afternoon. In his room were found a rubber coat and a pair of gloves in the pocket, so he was well supplied.
Besides there were several pairs of gloves and coats around the company's plant only a short distance from the Bunnell block. There were positive orders against such a foolhardy act as that essayed by deceased.

In a few minutes the jury returned a verdict of death by an electric current as the result of the deceased's own carelessness. Funeral services were held at the Bethel last evening and the interment will occur this afternoon.
